At Westgate School Here

1,150 Join In Workshop On Educational Program

New methods and principles in teaching were presented when more than 1,000 from school systems throughout Columbiana County took part in a workshop at Westgate School here.

Teachers, administrators, guidance counselors and school nurses were present for the day-long program, which included discussions by 56 consultants and displays of 54 exhibitors.

Carl F. Pelini, assistant superintendent of East Liverpool schools, was chairman of the workshop. He reported an official registration of 1,150.

THIS DISCUSSION took place at one of the various displays offered during Friday's workshop at Westgate School here.

SESSIONS were set up through the cooperation of the consultants, who represented the Ohio Department of Education, textbook and school product manufacturers, psychologists, athletic directors and other specialists.

The first 30 minutes of the hour - long classes were used by the consultants for their presentations. A general discussion and question - and - answer period followed.

Pelini pointed out yesterday was the first time educational representatives of the entire county had assembled for such a conference. In addition to East Liverpool, East Palestine, Fairfield - Waterford, Southern Local, United Local, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon Salem and the county superintendent's office sent personnel.

All schools were closed for the day.

Talks ranged from "New Ideas In Elementary Education" by Carl Dabney and "Ungraded Programs" by Ruth Hudson, both of the Ohio Department of Education.

AREA COACHES heard Ambrose Brazelton discuss elementary physical education and Howard Meyer of the Ohio High School Athletic Association the accrediting program.

Opening remarks were by Supt. Paul H. Blair. The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer offered the invocation.

Pelini, pointing to "the number of consultants and exhibitors and the wide variety of topics," termed the conference a definite success.

"All those involved helped make it the type of program of which we can be proud in Columbiana County."

200 In Wales Feared Dead

Rescuers Block Moving Coal Mine Refuse Heap

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) — Rescue workers today succeeded in halting a moving mountain of coal mine refuse which had engulfed a school and at least 14 homes in this tiny Welsh village, leaving 200 feared dead.

Engineers and miners worked nonstop through the night digging deep channels through the black sludge to divert water from building up inside the heap and causing possible further slides.

Half the 800-foot slag heap crashed down a green hillside Friday, crushing a junior school and a row of miners' cottages.

Rescue officials said that 130 bodies — nearly all children — have been dug out of the debris.

Officials said that no survivors had been found since Friday.

One minister said no special services would be held in the village's churches Sunday. "Hearts are breaking," he said. "The sorrow is too great for the usual sermons. We can only pray."

The Rev. Kenneth Hayes, pastor of the English Baptist Chapel, which has the largest membership in Aberfan, said he plans to conduct services. His 9-year-old son is among the missing.

District education director John Beale said 36 children who were rescued had been hospitalized and another 88 escaped when the disaster struck.

The bodies of David Benton, deputy head teacher at the school, and five children were found late Friday night.

"David was clutching the five little children in his arms as if to protect them," said the miner who found them. "He and the five children died clutching each other." The miner then lapsed into shock.

Rescue workers, some up to their knees in sludge, carefully picked through the debris of the buried schoolrooms. The slag was emptied onto the streets where giant yellow earth-moving machines loaded it onto dump trucks.

Bodies of the children, covered by red blankets, were carried out on stretchers and laid out for identification in a nearby chapel. Police allowed parents through one or two at a time.

Prime minister Harold Wilson and Lord Snowdon, husband of Princess Margaret, were among the first officials to arrive.

Wilson said after touring the disaster area: "I don't think any of us can find words to describe the tragedy. I am concerned to ensure that if steps can be taken even now to save just one life, that will be done."

Through the night giant arc lights lit up the scene of the disaster — one of the worst of its kind in Britain.

Rescue workers, most of them miners, were dragged from the scene as they swayed from fatigue.

Little hope was held for finding any more alive. The next thing was to take the roll call — a ritual in mine disasters in this Welsh countryside — to get an exact count of the toll.

The slag heap — waste from a century of digging at the nearby Merthyr Vale mine — slipped after being loosened by days of heavy rains. Few saw the ava-

In California Racial Violence

Teachers Demand Police Protect Them, Students

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Oakland teachers are demanding police protection for teachers and pupils and prosecution of anyone who encourages a school boycott.

The 2,200-member Oakland Teachers Association adopted the resolution Friday as a jittery calm replaced the sporadic racial violence which began Tuesday.

The teachers said that unless the Board of Education gives them the assurances they request they may carry their complaints to the National Education Association.

At predominantly Negro Castlemont High School Wednesday, a group of 250 Negro truants beat five white teachers and three white students and littered classrooms.

Absenteeism has soared to double the normal rate in the city's secondary and high schools.

Castlemont was quiet Friday after Dist. Atty. Frank Coakley of Alameda County declared there would be no leniency for vandals arrested in the racial disorders.

Fire bombing which characterized the disorders was replaced by a few rock-throwing and looting incidents in which teen-agers fled from a grocery store and a variety store with armloads of merchandise.

The teachers' resolution made these demands: Prosecution of anyone who encourages students to boycott classes in violation of state law; immediate expulsion of pupils who attack teachers or other pupils on school property; investigation of such incidents and appropriate utilization of law enforcement agencies to guarantee protection.

FBI Holding Belmont Bank Holdup Man

BRIDGEPORT, Ohio (AP) — The FBI has taken custody of a man accused of holding up a bank in nearby Lansing and taking a woman teller hostage before being headed off by police within minutes Friday.

The man arrested said he is Don Javo, 28, that he has a wife and four children in Sarasota, Fla., and that he had been staying in Cleveland recently.

He was taken to the Belmont County jail at St. Clairsville before being turned over to the FBI, which transferred him to Steubenville to await further developments.

The $2,750 stolen from the bank was all recovered and the teller, Mrs. Betty Miller, 39, was released unharmed after Bridgeport Police Chief John Agostinelli foiled the robbery.

Mrs. Miller said she was on duty at the Belmont County National Bank branch at Lansing four miles west of here, when

LBJ Greeted By Million In Sydney

Marred By Sharp Demonstration Of U.S. Role In Viet

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)— President Johnson rode past a million cheering Australians in Sydney today, donned cowboy togs for a Texas-style barbecue outside Canberra and came to Brisbane looking weary and strained tonight, the eve of his flight to the Manila Summit Conference.

The wild welcome in Sydney, the nation's largest city, was marred by the sharpest demonstration Australia has seen against the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, the President told a crowd in Brisbane:

"This is the most wonderful visit that I have ever been on. It is a sentimental journey."

Brisbane is the last tour point in Australia for the President and his wife Lady Bird, except for a refueling stop at Townsville Sunday on his 3,700-mile flight to Manila.

In Brisbane some people had waited seven hours in frosty weather for President Johnson to arrive from Canberra.

Speaking at the airport, Johnson paid tribute to the people of Brisbane, saying that a million American GIs had passed through the city in World War II.

Calling his wife to wave to the crowd, President Johnson said: "She didn't get to come with me in '42 and we have been quarreling about it ever since."

Johnson served in Australia and New Zealand as a Navy lieutenant commander in World War II.

Local officials today named a park near Brisbane's airport, "Lyndon Johnson Park." The park contains one of the first Australian - American war memorials, honoring the men of the two countries who died in World War II.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Brisbane.

Johnson wore Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue but changed to a business suit for the Canberra farewell, held in bitingly cold weather.

The President looked tired as he inspected an honor guard while a 21-gun salute boomed out.

Johnson drove directly to Fairbairn Airport outside Canberra after attending the barbecue at Lanyon Station 17 miles away. The cookout was given by an old friend, Edward Clark, the U.S. ambassador to Australia.

At the 10,000-acre ranch, Johnson met an Australian soldier recently returned from service in Viet Nam. The soldier presented the President with an Australian digger's slouch hat.

There were no demonstrators in sight as Johnson departed and tons of confetti and streamers were tossed in salute. There were many hundreds of home-lettered signs of welcome.

Early in the day, Johnson stopped and got out of his car several times to greet well-

Fresh Reports Say LBJ To Visit Viet War Front

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting in South Viet Nam lapsed again into small patrol skirmishes today amid fresh reports that President Johnson would visit the war front next week.

U.S. officials would not confirm these reports but they did not deny them. They stemmed largely from extra security measures under way.

In battle action, U.S. pilots said they knocked out an unusually high number of cargo barges — 154 — along the North Vietnamese coastline Friday. The large-scale water traffic suggested that the Communists were turning increasingly to the sea to move their supplies instead of along relentlessly bombed railroads and highways.

American planes flew 120 bombing missions Friday over the Communist north and the forays reportedly cost one plane, the 407th loss of the war.

A U.S. spokesman announced that an Air Force F105 Thunderchief went down and that its pilot was missing.

U.S. intelligence reports indicated the Viet Cong would step up terrorism and military activity during the Manila summit conference next Monday and Tuesday. Informants would not give the basis of these reports, which usually come from prisoners, captured documents and behind-lines agents.

The most talked-of date for a possible visit by President Johnson after the Manila summit conference was next Thursday while Johnson is en route from Manila to Thailand. Some of the renewed speculation arose after an announcement that Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky would return from Manila early Thursday afternoon and the possibility developed that he would accompany Johnson.

Ky will leave Saigon at 8 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. today EDT)

Price Curbs Not Planned, Fowler Says

Treasury Secretary Declines To Rule Out Tax Increase

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today the administration does not intend to impose price controls as a means of combating inflation.

"Because our economy is so robust and resilient, there is not on any horizon we can now foresee the slightest prospect that controls will be required," Fowler told the fall meeting of the Business Council.

But the Treasury secretary declined in his prepared speech to rule out increases in income and corporate tax rates if inflationary pressures continue.

"It may well be that, in the months ahead, further restraints will be required in federal fiscal policy," Fowler said, adding: "I cannot — and will not — speculate on what further fiscal steps we might take."

Some of the 100 leading businessmen at the meeting said they would favor hikes in income and corporate tax rates if it is impossible to curb inflation through cuts in government spending.

Fowler admitted "some very real problems" exist in the economy — rising prices, "excessive exuberance of the capital goods sector and excessive weakness of the housing sector, and inflationary pressures."

But he said the administration has "every reason to expect that together government and the private sector can handle any current, or currently conceivable, problem within the framework of a free market economy."

Fowler again called on industry and labor to practice price and wage restraints, saying "the greatest single threat to price stability remains a regression to the self-defeating practices of earlier decades when the various sectors of our economy tried to seek gains at each other's expense."

He noted that in recent months the administration's wage-price guideposts, which he admitted were not perfect, "have been favored with numerous obituaries."

Senate Spurs Efforts For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today, "We have a quorum to do business," and the Senate convened to try to end the 1966 session of the 89th Congress.

Mansfield called his colleagues in this morning to try to pass an amendment - laden foreign investors tax bill and a $5 billion final supplemental appropriation measure. It is the former that could tie the Senate into knots.

So many and varied amendments have been tacked onto its main provisions, designed to encourage foreign investments in the United States, that opponents are calling it the "Christmas tree" bill.

Most of the controversy has centered on a rider to set up a permanent program of government financing of presidential campaigns through voluntary taxpayer contributions.

Further complicating Mansfield's drive for sine die adjournment is a disappearing quorum. With elections 17 days away, many senators — and House members — have gone home to campaign.

There was no call for a quorum—a majority of the 100 senators, 51 — immediately. But Mansfield said the Senate would have one by noon if it lacked one as it convened.

Mansfield said many senators

Aimed At Peace In Viet And Tighten Unity During War

MANILA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Asian allies began shaping today a seven-nation Manila conference agreement aimed at promoting peace for Viet Nam while tightening allied unity in carrying on the war.

Rusk met with Philippines Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos in the first of a series of talks expected to prepare the way for quick accord on key war-and-peace declarations in the summit sessions Monday and Tuesday.

Reports persisted among Asian diplomats of a hawks-and-doves split, with governments like South Korea and South Viet Nam fearful that President Johnson's emphasis on peace-seeking may mean some weakening of his war aims or lowering of the price for settlement in South Viet Nam.

U.S. authorities dismissed such apprehensions as unfounded. They said Johnson would not order a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam timed with the Manila meeting.

Some critics of the war have said this would increase the conference's aura of peace.

The Johnson administration's view at this time is said to be

Gov. Smith Unveils Plan For Improved Education

MORGANTOWN (AP) — A plan for two years of tuition-free education at state supported universities and colleges plus an ambitious building program for vocational, adult and graduate education was outlined here Friday by Gov. Hulett Smith.

The proposals immediately drew both interest and financial concern from legislative leaders, who were surprised by the governor's far-reaching proposals.

Billed as a major education policy speech, the governor said he will ask the next legislature to vote for the two - year tuition-free plan and to start work as well on his other ambitious proposals.

"I believe we can afford it and we have a moral obligation to do it," Smith said in a speech to a symposium on "The Public University in Its Second century," under way at West Virginia University.

The governor proposed for upgrading West Virginia's educational offerings:

— Two years of free college tuition for every qualified West Virginia high school graduate.

— Construction of at least five multi - county centers for technical, vocational and adult education within the next year.

— Provide more state support for branch colleges, which now depend almost entirely on community support, plus building new branch colleges as needed.

— Develop an Institute for Advanced Education in the Ka-

Sidney Uhl Claimed In Stark Wreck

Grinding Head-On Collision Occurs South Of Alliance

An 18 - year - old Wellsville youth and a Minerva man were killed this morning in a grinding head-on collision about three miles south of Alliance.

Dead are Hubert Sidney Uhl of 2115 Chester Ave., Wellsville, and Thomas N. Casale, 23, of Minerva.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Massillon said the two were drivers of cars which rammed together on Route 183, about three miles south of Alliance at 7:10.

Officers said Uhl apparently was headed home from the American Steel Foundry Co. at Alliance, where he reportedly had completed his first night's work.

Uhl was the son of Mrs. Ray Wedger of 2115 Chester Ave.

Wellsville police were advised of the fatal collision through the State Highway Patrol.

Ironically, four men employes of the firm from East Liverpool and Chester were killed Oct. 8 while en route to work.

The patrol said Uhl was headed south and Casale was driving north, apparently en route to his job at the Transue-Williams Steel Forging Co. of Alliance. He is the son of the Acting Municipal Judge Joseph Casale at Alliance.

Officers said Uhl was left of center on a yellow line approaching a hillcrest when the crash occurred.

Uhl did not have seat belts in his 1957 model auto, officers reported. Casale had belts in his late model compact auto, but was not using one.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen firemen were injured, none seriously, when part of a ceiling fell in today during a grease-fed blaze which flashed through a cafeteria in the Bronx about six blocks from Yankee Stadium.

One firefighter suffered smoke inhalation and was admitted to a hospital. The other 15 were treated at the scene.

About 125 men and 40 pieces of equipment responded after flames leaping from a grease duct in the East 167th Street cafeteria between River and Girard avenues, set the ceiling afire and chased patrons into the street.

Twelve New York City firemen were killed Monday night as a floor collapsed and they fell into a fire-swept basement.

Americans 'Distrust' LBJ, Goldwater Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona says Americans have "a feeling of distrust" for President Johnson.

"You may have had a dislike for Truman, but at least you know where he stood," Goldwater said Friday night.

"You knew where Ike stood and you knew where Kennedy stood. But this one — we don't know what he is up to."

Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee in 1964, was in Miami to support GOP congressional candidate Mike Thompson.

nawha Valley which would include sharing facilities and faculties of state colleges and universities.

Smith made no hint as to what the program might cost.

Legislative leaders, contacted Friday night by The Associated Press, called it an "ambitious" and "fine program," but questioned how the state would raise the money to finance such an undertaking.

Smith declared the two-year tuition-free program would be "an incentive for new industries to bring their personnel to West Virginia" and would allow "hundreds, even thousands, of our high school graduates" to attend college who cannot now afford it.

"I believe we can afford it, and we have a moral obligation to do it," the governor said.

Speaking of advancing the branch college program, Smith said the "commuter colleges" will help cut the high demand for housing that has hit the communities where colleges now exist.

Smith said all around the state school officials and laymen are interested and "cry for more vocational facilities."

Monaca Man Extradited In Stickup Case

LISBON — A Pennsylvania man is being held in Columbiana County Jail as a suspect in an armed robbery Jan. 2 at the 12th St. Market in Wellsville.

William E. Icenhour, 31, of 204 Grandview Ave., Monaca, waived extradition Friday in Beaver County Court at Beaver.

Capt. Pete Trainer and Patrolman Ed James of the Wellsville police department transferred him to Lisbon. A preliminary hearing is slated for the first of the week in Judge James J. L. MacDonald's Court here.

Icenhour is a brother-in-law of Timothy Galloway, 28, of Waynesburg, Pa., who was convicted Oct. 17 for the same robbery in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court. Judge Raymond Buzzard sentenced him to 10-25 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Icenhour's name was mentioned in the trial.

The Prosecutor asked Galloway if it were not a fact he and Icenhour staged the robbery. Galloway denied it. When he appeared for sentencing, his counsel attempted to obtain for the prisoner credit for time spent in the county jail, noting his "cooperation since conviction."

Two men robbed Mrs. Thelma Peterson, a clerk, while she was alone in the store. She testified it was Galloway who bound her with a small rope while another man stood by with a revolver stuck in his belt.

The robbers got New Year's weekend receipts estimated from $500 to $1,400.

spokesman, in a review of six days of intermittent fighting in Quang Nam Province 340 miles northeast of Saigon, reported 584 Viet Cong killed. He said about 500 of the enemy toll was inflicted by U. S. air strikes supporting a Vietnamese ground force in the operation, which started last Monday.

Vietnamese headquarters reported four scattered, small attacks today by Viet Cong guerrillas against government outposts and said four of the enemy were killed.

In air action, a U.S. spokesman said American planes flew three bombing missions Friday against the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Air Force pilots attacked a concentration of 50 barges five miles south of Dong Hoi in the southern end of North Viet Nam. The fliers claimed 17 barges destroyed and 12 damaged.

Over South Viet Nam Friday U.S. pilots flew 251 sorties and reported damaging or destroying 297 Viet Cong structures, huts, sampans, bunkers and trenches. South Vietnamese pilots flew 134 combat sorties.

In other developments:

— Viet Nam's Unified Buddhist Church resumed its convention in Saigon after a stormy session. One unconfirmed report said six shots had been fired inside the Buddhists' meeting room Friday and that placard-waving demonstrators had walked in the halls.

Moderate Buddhist leaders were trying to reunite the movement, which split following the failure of antigovernment street demonstrations in Saigon and the northern cities of Hue and Da Nang last May and June to topple Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Militant Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang boycotted the convention as did Thich Thien Hoa, the sect's acting chairman.

— A North Vietnamese broadcast claimed the Viet Cong destroyed or damaged 592 U.S. aircraft in 23 attacks on 16 airfields in South Viet Nam from April to September, this year, and that 3,384 allied troops, including 2,669 Americans, were killed or wounded in the attacks.

Johnson

Although Johnson's friends in the vast throng far outnumbered his foes, the Viet Nam dissenters succeeded in disrupting his motorcade as some threw themselves down in the street and pelted the procession with eggs and other missiles.

The President kept smiling throughout — but he had to curb his zest for jumping into the crowds for handshakes. Secret Service bodyguards also persuaded him to detour around a couple of potential trouble spots — one the campus of the University of New South Wales.

As a result of the hostile displays, Johnson's car was driven at rapid clip past many thousands.

The official crowd estimate was 1,250,000 — perhaps the largest outpouring Johnson has ever seen and, according to authorities, the biggest crowd in Australian history.

Thousands of American flags were waved at the motorcade wishers. That was before the trouble started.

The first evidence of official concern for Johnson's safety came when he bypassed the university campus.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers tried to convince newsmen Johnson simply was behind schedule and trying to make up time. However, the President has never been known to duck a friendly crowd.

Then came a sudden change of cars. The President got out of his armored bubbletop limousine and into an ordinary black sedan. The White House said the limousine's air conditioning ducts had become clogged with confetti and paper — making the interior almost unbearably hot. It was a warm, bright day in Sydney.

Shortly after the change of cars, Johnsons' motorcade ran into real trouble, on Liverpool Street. For about three blocks the curbs on both sides were jammed with antiwar demonstrators tossing black streamers and black balloons. They waved hundreds of hostile placards — "Murderer", "U.S. Kills Kids," "Go Home Yanks" — and jeered loudly.

As the President's car approached, about half a dozen young men and women ran into the street and threw themselves to the pavement. Police hauled them away.

Dozens of other demonstrators swarmed past police and into the street, shouting obscenities, pounding their fists on the autos and throwing missiles of one kind and another.

An egg struck the rear window of Mrs. Johnson's car, splattering across the glass. She was riding in a separate glass-domed vehicle.

The ugly outburst forced Secret Service agents to move the motorcade out of the area at high speed. Cars zigged and zagged, around demonstrators.

Johnson stayed in his car until he reached the Art Gallery of New South Wales to attend a civic reception.

While the President spoke inside, hundreds of Viet Nam dissenters, most of them young people, gathered outside and jeered his words, which were carried to them over a public address system. Their cries were audible inside.

Fist fights broke out between police and demonstrators as some protesters tried to swarm toward the gallery entrance. At least half a dozen persons were arrested and carried away before the violence was quelled.

Thomas A. Edison's first words fed into the phonograph he invented were those beginning, "Mary had a little lamb."

Mt. Union Board Bares Plans For Computer's Use

ALLIANCE, Ohio — Announcement of a computer program and the balancing of the budget for the 12th consecutive year highlighted this morning's homecoming meeting of the Mt. Union College board of trustees.

Making the report was President Carl C. Bracy, who said, "I am convinced that the small Christian liberal arts college has a valuable stake in American higher education as it becomes an academic community, a community of faith and a community of love and compassion."

The computer program for undergraduate instruction and research is being established with the purchase of an IBM 1620 central processing unit and equipment from Clarkson College of Technology and other equipment from Case Institute of Technology.

The equipment cost of $43,989 will be partially underwritten by a $25,000 National Science Foundation grant, obtained through the assistance of U.S. Rep. Frank T. Bow.

Discussing the budget, Dr. Bracy reported a record expense of $2,986,293 and income of $3,003,652 for 1965-66.

He also reported giving for all causes, including current operations and capital funds, was $409,899, of which $106,974 was contributed by the Methodist Church and $46,064 was received from the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

that the bombing of North Viet Nam could be a lever for moving the North Vietnamese toward negotiations or at least toward de-escalating the fighting.

The administration was reported resolved not to order a bombing pause as a one-sided peace gesture that would likely produce little progress toward peace.

Some diplomats here are viewing the Manila conference as primarily a stage-setting operation in which the allies can define their war aims and declare their peace hopes, as well as set up procedures for consultation — regardless of the reactions of North Viet Nam and Red China.

Johnson and other government chiefs are due here Sunday.

Rusk said on reaching here Friday night that the United States has been trying to find out for a long time what the Communists would do if the bombing of North Viet Nam was halted. It still does not have an answer, he said.

Rusk met with Ramos at the Philippines Foreign Office. He arranged luncheon today for South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do and other officials of the United States and South Viet Nam. Among these were U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and U.S. Assistant Secretary of State William Bundy.

Afterwards Rusk was to meet with Korean Foreign Minister Lee Tong Won and the foreign minister of Thailand, Thanat Khoman. Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos planned a dinner tonight for all the delegations.

U.S. officials said these talks and the dinner were working sessions intended to prepare for quick agreement in the summit sessions.

although only about 800 of 26,000 students in the target schools attempted to attend an event connected with the boycott.

The 300 secondary and high school students were turned away from the University of California Berkeley campus when they arrived to attend a "freedom school" teaching civil rights subjects. University officials said the students were denied use of the classrooms.

The Ad Hoc Committee for Quality Education, headed by Negro attorney John George, is sponsoring the boycott.

Coakley and Dr. Stuart S. Phillis, Oakland superintendent of schools have blamed the racial trouble on the boycott. George labeled the accusations "blatant intimidation."

George lists his committee's demands as changes of boundary lines to eliminate de facto segregation, establishment of "educational parks" — clusters of elementary, junior and high schools to draw pupils from low income sectors to better areas, and guarantees that parents be present when students are disciplined.

Absenteeism remained double the normal rate Friday as 7,793 students stayed away from classes.

the man walked up to her window and said he wanted to open a checking account.

But he pulled a 22-caliber gun from his coat pocket and, she related, pushed it against her, ordering her to put money into a paper sack. Then she was forced out the door at gunpoint and into a late model station wagon.

Other employes telephoned police who set up roadblocks. But Agostinelli recognized Mrs. Miller as the car passed him. He gave chase in his private auto, headed off the station wagon in a side street and bumped it into unmaneuverable position. When the man jumped out and started to run, the chief ordered him to halt or be shot.

The fugitive halted.

Congress

flew back to Washington to help make a quorum.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leading the fight against the tax bill, told reporters he understood government planes were used to bring back some of the senators.

"This is going to be an expensive quorum," he declared.

Assistant Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana, floor manager for the tax bill, said both measures will be passed "if we have to come back next week, or in November, or at Christmas."

"A lot of people have been calling this tax bill the Christmas tree bill, so perhaps it would be appropriate to pass it at Christmas," Long said.

The House, its chores for the year virtually completed, planned a token session today.

The session already is the longest unbroken meeting Congress has held in an election year since World War II.

Soviet Launches 12th Craft On Moon Trip

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched its 12th lunar spacecraft today to explore the moon and its environment.

The launching came after rumors had circulated in the Moscow diplomatic community that the Soviet Union was soon going to try to send a craft to the moon and bring it back to earth — something never done before.

There was no indication, however, in the first brief official announcement of today's launching that this was intended.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems, not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastrophic to any system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water-laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increase in flow therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quantities of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled — they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats, and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in over-loaded and flooded systems, Sea-Cal continues its work right in to the wells, cesspools, and drainfields—freeing the ground of pore-clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Sea-Cal contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria, and 60,000,000 aerobic bacteria, in each gram and, there being 28 grams to the ounce (with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day), this means that a "seeding" with a few ounces of Sea-Cal will regenerate even the most dormant system.

Avalanche

lanche approach because of fog which reduced visibility to 10 yards.

It crushed Pantglas Junior School at 9:30 a.m. as the children went to their classrooms after a prayer at a general assembly, and surged on to demolish a row of miners' cottages.

There were an estimated 254 children and teachers in the school when the avalanche struck, buckling the walls.

Before reaching the school, the slide swept over a farmhouse, killing two children and their grandmother.

Anguished mothers had to be forcibly held back as rescue workers probed the debris.

Lord Snowdon stopped to chat with some of the miners. He asked whether they had relatives in the school, and then walked away saying: "This is terrible. This is disastrous."

Queen Elizabeth II sent a message to Welsh officials saying she was "shocked and distressed to learn of the terrible disaster."

Pope Paul VI sent telegrams of condolences to Queen Elizabeth, the British government and Roman Catholic churchmen in the Aberfan district.

Prince Charles, 17-year-old heir to the throne, sent a telegram expressing "my deepest heartfelt sympathy." As eldest son of the queen, he holds the title of Prince of Wales.

Dilys Pope, 10, who escaped before the school was engulfed, said: "We heard a noise and then the room seemed to be flying around. The desks were falling over and the children were shouting and screaming. We couldn't see anything. My leg was caught in a desk and I couldn't move it and my arm was hurting. Children were lying all over the place."

Stephen Andrew, 40, school janitor: "I heard a noise from the mountain. It sounded like the rush of giant waves on the seashore. I rushed out and the mountain was moving down towards the school.

"Teachers were breaking windows and screaming for help. I rushed inside to get 20 children out. The black mud just kept moving. Things were breaking and the children were screaming.

"It was hopeless trying to reach the others. But I must go on digging. My two sons, Kelvin (10) and Malcom (8) are in there."

"Coal tips," as the Welsh term the sludge heaps, have recently been a subject of controversy. A campaign to get rid of them has been mounted but little has been achieved.

The Aberfan coal tip had loomed over the village of 5,000 persons, growing day by day for 97 years. Its estimated two million tons of rock spoil, earth and slag collapsed in seconds.

The National Coal Board attributed the slide to heavy rainfall this week. Water soaked down through the man-made mountain and as the pressure built up it burst out at the bottom, the board said.

Police Scour Cincinnati In Killer Search

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An expanded police force fanned out over the city today in an attempt to track down a rapist-strangler who has blanketed the city with fear. Investigators said they had only meager clues.

A fifth victim of the killer was found Thursday night, but city officials warned the public not to panic and discouraged any "vigilante action."

There was some speculation Friday that the man who killed Rose Winstel, 81, Thursday was not the same man being blamed for the four previous killings.

But Detective Chief Jacob Schott discounted this saying "We will have to assume that it is the same killer we have been looking for."

Youth Guidance Film Screened At Meeting Of Lions

A documentary film, "Youth Guidance In Pittsburgh," was screened by Ralph Compa, program chairman, during the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Compa drew parallels between a Pittsburgh community program, Youth Guidance Inc., and JUMP, a similar project in the East Liverpool area.

The importance of providing recreational facilities and camping areas for young people to combat the spread of juvenile delinquency was stressed.

H. Jud English, William Smith and Clarence Jones were guests at yesterday's meeting.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler presided.

The New York Giants won 91 games in 1933 to take the National League pennant. Two years later they also won 91 games but finished third.

Electric Service Cut Off As Stolen Car Strikes Pole

An auto stolen from an East Liverpool resident struck a utility pole while rounding Taylor's Bend on Route 30, east of Chester, shortly before 4 a.m. today, disrupting electric service for more than five hours in an extensive area of Hancock County.

The owner of the 1962 hardtop sedan was identified as Thomas W. Eason of 124 E. 4th St., who notified the Hancock County sheriff's office that the vehicle had been stolen from the parking lot at the Jade Lounge on Route 30.

The auto had been abandoned when deputies arrived on the scene of the accident.

Some 200 families and business establishments in Johnsonville, Lawrenceville, Pughtown and rural areas were without electric service until about 9 a.m., when a crew from the Monongahela Power Co. in Weirton completed repairs, according to Walter Jordan, manager of the Chester office.

The victim was dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital. Pfingsten received a fractured leg and lacerated scalp. The state contends the defendant drove left of center.

Police Continue Probe In Death Of Man, 25

MADISON, W. Va. (AP) — Police were presuming the death of Ronald Sharp, 25, of Pedro, Lawrence County, Ohio, as a hunting accident but continuing an investigation at last report.

Sharp had been out squirrel hunting before he was found shot last Saturday in Boone County woods, wounded so badly he died in a hospital here Friday. State police said three unidentified hunters discovered the wounded man, reported they saw someone running away, then after the other members of the Ohioans party showed up.

Sheriff Investigates Burglary Of Market

LISBON — The sheriff's office is investigating a burglary Thursday night at Carter's Market on Route 7, near East Fairfield.

Mrs. Pearl Carter, owner, notified Sheriff Russell VanFossan Friday that $50 worth of candy, cheese, baloney and wieners was taken.

She said she locked the store Thursday night at 9:30. Deputies said there was no sign of forced entry.

About two-thirds of manual workers and 65 per cent of craftsmen employed at the time of the 1960 census were high school dropouts.

Crashes Hurt Man, Woman Near Midland

An Industry man and a Midland teacher were injured in two mishaps on Route 168 between Midland and Ohioville Friday.

Raymond George of Fairlane Dr., Industry, was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with a skull injury suffered when his car struck a parked truck along the road near the Hilltop Garage late yesterday morning.

Assistant Ohioville Police Chief Michael Haydin said George was headed north about 10:30 and applied the brakes on his auto. It swerved off the road and hit the pickup truck owned by Pete Vojnovich of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1.

There was heavy damage to the auto, Haydin said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Cyril Holmes of Meadowbrook Estates faces charges in connection with a collision about 8 a.m. in which Mrs. Jean Musser of Enon Valley, teacher at 4th St. School in Midland, suffered injury to the right ankle. She was treated at City Hospital.

Mrs. Musser had halted behind another vehicle whose driver was picking up school children, and Holmes' 1967 auto struck the rear of Mrs. Musser's auto. There was extensive damage to Holmes' auto.

The mishap occurred about 200 yards south of the Hilltop Garage. Haydin said there was thick fog at the time.

Today at noon is the deadline for filing applications. The name of the men with the top score will be certified to Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey for appointment.

Cleveland Area Is Saucer-Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP) — Greater Clevelanders were saucer-eyed Friday night, but authorities assured them it was no apparition from outer space that they saw overhead.

The Cleveland Hopkins Airport operations office was swamped with calls, many from people who insisted they had been a flying saucer.

"It's traveling slow, no noise, red-green lights on top and a white-yellowish revolving bottom," was the way one woman described it.

Official explanation was that it was a small plane belonging to Campbell Air Service of Pittsburgh with the assignment of flying over crowds at scholastic football games in the area. The advertising plane was promoting a line of new cars. It carried a revolving globe on a platform below the plane's fuselage.

Knights Of Columbus Meeting Set Sunday

2 Remain At Large After Bank Robbery

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An auto believed to have been the getaway vehicle was found in a drug store parking lot less than a mile from the scene of a $46,800 bank robbery Friday, but the holdup men remained at large today.

The car was found soon after two armed men in Halloween masks held seven employes of the Huber Heights branch of the First National Bank of Dayton at bay and took the money.

Our Country Right Or Wrong

Politicians are baffled about the undeclared war in Viet Nam.

They cannot make an issue of it.

It is only a fortnight from the 1966 congressional election and candidates don't know which side of the question to stand on appealing for votes.

All their sources of information reveal the same thing—that voters do not respond favorably to office-seekers' attempts to capitalize on the Viet Nam dilemma.

Those who attempt to thump bigger war drums have had no more luck than those who back away from war drums altogether.

It is obvious no one is happy about Viet Nam, but unsuccessful efforts to turn unhappiness to account make it plain that Viet Nam is not a partisan issue.

The reason is not obscure.

The instinct of the American people—the instinct of all people — is to draw together in a time of crisis.

Viet Nam is a crisis.

The issue about Viet Nam is not whether the United States should do this and so in waging war.

It is whether the United States should have let itself be sucked into a vortex of Asian power politics.

In a larger sense, the issue is whether the United States has been misled into an untenable policy position by adopting John Foster Dulles's doctrine that its historic role is to slay Communist dragons on sight wherever they appear and whatever their reason for existence.

This is the question that Sen. Fulbright has been exploring, the policy that has stirred doubts in foreign offices of all world powers, the idea that has alienated many members of a rising generation whose young men do not relish the thought of providing manpower for a worldwide garrison state.

It is a question apart from the agony of Viet Nam. The United States is committed there, however mistakenly. For better or worse, it must finish what it has started.

Our country right or wrong . . .

It is that simple.

That's why Viet Nam is not a political issue in 1966, though it continues to burden the American people with the heaviest burden of doubt they have borne since they saved Cuba and the Philippines from Old World monarchists.

Point Overlooked

Ohio Supreme Court Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr. spoke in Canton Thursday and brought to light an aspect of recent U.S. Supreme Court crime rulings that has been quite overlooked.

Judge Schneider said public alarm and criticism of the rulings affecting law enforcement obscured the fact that Ohio throughout its history has been foremost in the nation in protecting an individual's right to counsel and to remain silent.

Voluntary confessions have been accepted but rubber-hose tactics were not condoned to elicit admission of guilt, the judge said.

In the judge's words "Ohio has never required a suspect to talk, only to listen. Now, the U.S. Supreme Court has said that a suspect does not even have to listen. This is the fundamental difference between the traditional and the future roles."

Ohioans can be proud of the state's judicial record.

There also is a tangible benefit.

Past policies will make adjustment to U.S. Supreme Court decisions an easier process.

Easy Pickings!

Two hundred twenty-four gambling devices in Hancock County. And — as The Associated Press report from Charleston pointed out — in a state where gambling is prohibited by law except at horse tracks.

The graspy, greedy hands must be making quite a haul as they dig into the pay-off pockets of tavern owners willing to buckle under for the sake of a dishonest buck!

Double Figures

It's traffic fatality time again with another weekend on hand.

The state of Ohio has been running in double figures. Columbiana and Beaver counties are in double figures for the year and Hancock County continues to have its share of fatal and near-fatal accidents.

All of which once more adds up to this—If you want to be around Monday, drive with the greatest of care and observe traffic regulation to the letter.

Someone Knows

Cincinnati has the sympathy of the nation in its ordeal of terror by a strangler-rapist who has killed five women in less than a year.

Every city that finds itself victimized by a series of crimes apparently committed by the same persons becomes an object of pity.

When this happens, Americans everywhere feel like apologizing for the failure of a civilization that can be victimized by acts below the behavior levels of the lowest beasts. A portion of our shame originates in near-certainty that someone knows who the guilty person is and is shielding him. Someone always knows.

Or, if the person is not actually known, someone always has the means of finding out, like the medical interne who detected the identity of the suspect in the Chicago nurse massacre last summer.

Someone, somewhere, somehow in Cincinnati is going to give the police the information that will put a terrorist in a cage. May it happen before he can claim another victim.

Free Press, Fair Trial

By Barry Schweid

WASHINGTON

Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the course of its study of free press and fair trial.

The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices.

And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the courts themselves have plenty of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity.

Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

WHAT WAS the response when the news media were asked not to report certain information? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 46 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 19 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

PERHAPS most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 46 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I think it is just as well we don't learn all there is to know about every murder committed in what we laughingly refer to as our "civilized society." We couldn't laugh about it any more.

Nothing happened in the baseball season just ended to change my belief managers do not know the limitations of their jobs and wear out their welcome by trying to manage things they should have left untouched.

I know little about railroads, but if the authorities stall off the Penn-Central merger until no one is objecting to it the merger never will be consummated.

Oh to have a supply of home-barbering equipment when barbers announce another jump in the price of a haircut. Fortunately this is of no concern to me or beatniks. They let theirs grow longer and I just let mine go longer. Either way, we beat the barbers.

People who don't thrill with enthusiasm at the thought of Albert Humphrey are most nervous out of President Johnson's curious decision to leave the country just before the 1966 election. It's the same way people felt when FDR left Harry Truman in charge of the store.

When the London branch of our family forwarded a telephone number, no one thought it was funny — not even someone who remembers when a long-distance call to the next town was an event that called for silent prayer and flushed faces.

Looking at those hula dancers whose writhing tummies and grinding hips greeted our national leader in Hawaii I wondered if this might not be a far better idea than the solemnites usually foisted on travel-weary dignitaries.

It interests me that only three out of the first 113 cases heard by New York City's controversial civilian review board found the police to be in the wrong and all the rest upheld the majesty of the law, which sounds to me like a plus effect for policemen claiming review boards would wreck their morale.

"We Must All Lend A Hand"

Giant Union Merger Foreseen

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—There's a new kind of labor movement a-coming.

Small unions are blending into bigger ones—and bigger unions will be merging. So there will be fewer unions, more strongly centralized. Their national contracts will expire "uniformly" — on the same day.

Victor Riesel

Thus they'll be able to move as coordinated forces against big corporations which now are so swiftly diversified that movie companies now own food firms, auto corporations own TV receiver plants, coal people own underwear factories and movie firms, and a meat packing firm is deep in the production of locomotives and atomic ingredients.

First test of the new type of labor force came behind the scenes of the duel between 11 national unions led by the creator of the "new force," George Meany, and the General Electric Co.

This was the beginning of centralization — and the slow glacier-like process of replacing the concept that the AFL-CIO is a massive union of autonomous unions.

IN THE WORDS of Walter Reuther, this first sign of the almost unnoticeable replacement of autonomy by centralized leadership inside the big house of labor means that "unions must seek to coordinate their collective bargaining efforts to deal with major corporations that have blurred traditional lines by mergers, stock swaps and changing technologies."

Even as the battling between the big Meany committee and GE continuously hit the headlines, new battle lines were being traced for drives on other great corporations. With no fanfare, the labor movement's Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) — 6 million strong and with millions in its treasury — scheduled a conference for the Hotel Sherman in Chicago this week to develop strategy against the copper industry.

In the union combine, which will face such corporations as Anaconda, American Smelting and Refining, Kennecott Copper and Phelps Dodge, will be such powerful unions as the teamsters, the steel workers, the auto union, the (airline, etc.) machinists, the electrical brotherhood, the International Union of Electrical Workers and the Mine, Mill an Smelter Workers.

SOME 50 OF THEIR LEADERS and technicians will take three days to plan for action next year. At that time — throughout 1967—the headlines will match those stirred by the GE controversy.

These technicians met last July 13-15 in Denver. At the end of their next conference they'll set a new date, skillfully creating subcommittees to tackle each company in each field — but always through a centralized high command reaching back to Meany, Conway and Reuther.

This is but one of some 75 such campaigns, including offensives against the tool and die, drug, chemical and other industries which produce over 10,000 products. But not all are aimed at the big corporations. There are smaller central committees for smaller businesses, Mr. Conway said the other day.

"We set up our coordinated commands for firms with 10 to 12 thousand employes. We deal in pensions, fringes and the like. But the theory is the same.

"Thus we are preparing for eventual dealings with the giant copper industry, and have just held conferences with our unions which deal with Armour and Co. once just a meat packing firm and now in locomotives — as well as little businesses."

OF COURSE, there will be tougher strikes. Will this be bad, I asked today's top mediator, the soft-speaking gentle Dave Cole, now one of President Johnson's shadow cabinet advisers.

"It's all to the good," said Cole shortly after participating as one member of President Johnson's three-man board of inquiry into the rash of GE strikes.

"It will eliminate the whipsawing of employers. It will eliminate the rivalries among unions to get the biggest settlement and therefore to be the last to settle.

"I have had difficult experiences recently. In two instances there was a complete lack of coordination on the union side. In fact the rivalry, with each trying to outdo the other, brought chaos and an almost interminable strike.

"But with coordinated bargaining, when you do get a settlement, it will be a complete settlement. Wipe out the interunion wrangling and fragmented bargaining and you will have more rational bargaining and longer industrial peace in the end."

Dave Cole is a scientist in his field. If he sees labor peace in our time, the new type of labor movement is something to await anxiously.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

You may call this a "plea" letter, a plea to the people of Midland who are interested in the Midland Hot Stove League, a plea to all the boys who are now men and who played at one time for the league, to the parents concerned about their sons and the opportunity for them to learn organized sport, and to the people who have donated time and money to help boys prepare themselves for sports.

Why are we letting this wonderful organization go to pot?

Many years ago this league was formed by some of the town's finest citizens, such as the late Fr. George Baumer, the late A. L. Sohnhalter, Alex Della Valle, Dr. Frank Benedict and others.

These men firmly believed investment in the youth of Midland for teaching sportsmenship and organized play would pay off big dividends. We can be proud of the many boys who over the years have done well in sports, almost all getting their start in the Hot Stove program.

I am in my 17th year as one of the league coaches. I have always felt that as a police officer for the borough, this was one way I could work with the youth of the town in holding down delinquency — by keeping boys occupied in sports, utilizing their energy for something constructive rather than destructive.

Speaking for most of the coaches of the league, I believe the trouble lies with the organization. Many of the men holding office have yet to attend a meeting. Many don't even know who the president is.

Many of those elected or appointed got in office because of their standing in the community, but they are too busy to put in any time to serve the league.

The coaches put in three hours a day, five to six days a week, yet some of these officers cannot give us two hours a month for a meeting.

Some of the officers claim the coaches gripe too much. Sure we do, but for a reason.

It is the duty of one of the officers to prepare a schedule and get the approval of the school board for use of the athletic field. I have had to cancel games because this officer failed to get the approval of the board for the field.

Boys who join the Hot Stove football teams ordinarily would be admitted free to high school home games. Not this year—this officer forgot to get clearance with the proper authorities.

Some of the equipment used by the boys is shameful. When the league president found out how poor our uniforms were, he obtained 14 uniforms for each team. He is trying to do a good job, but finds it hard to do alone.

We need the support of the town in this organization. We want men or women who have the interest and time to do a job for the boys. The coaches are asking the president to call an open meeting when the season ends, and to have an election of officers on the basis of the interest they have in the league.

If the people of Midland feel a Hot Stove League is worth having, come to the meeting and help keep a good thing going.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q—What's the best way to remove stubborn soil from refrigerators and other such large appliances?

A—Avoid the use of harsh cleaners to scrub off messy smears and sticky fingermarks. Best to use a cleaning wax which not only erases the marks but leaves a wax coating that will resist future smudging.

Q—How can I keep a beret shapely after washing it?

A—Put it over a large flat plate or over a pot cover, depending on the size of the beret—until thoroughly dry.

Q—Do you have any tips on the removal of spots from satin-covered furniture?

A—Usually a light sponging with benzine will do the trick.

Q—What causes a cake to rise only in the center, and not around its edges?

A—Usually a too-hot oven.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Again Points To 'Blessings'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following is the text of President Johnson's Thanksgiving proclamation:

They came in tiny wooden ships. On an unknown and alien shore, they planted and built, settled and survived. Then they gave solemn thanks to God for his goodness and bounty. America, well over 300 years ago, had its first Thanksgiving Day.

For many years your presidents have had the opportunity to proclaim Thanksgiving Day, to address themselves to the American people, to remind us of the blessings we enjoy and the thanks that we owe.

If we consider the fervor with which those colonists in Virginia and Massachusetts gave thanks, when they had so little, we are taught how much deeper should our thanks be—when we have so much.

Never, in all the hundreds of Thanksgiving Days, has our nation possessed a greater abundance, not only of material things but of the precious intangibles that make life worth living.

Never have we been better fed, better housed, better clothed. Never have so many Americans been earning their own way, and been able to provide their families with the marvelous products of a momentous age.

Nor has America ever been healthier, nor had more of her children in school and in college. Nor have we ever had more time for recreation and refreshment of the spirit, nor more ways and places in which to study and to enrich our lives through the arts.

Never have our greatest blessings—our freedoms—been more widely enjoyed by our people. Nor have we ever been closer to the day when every American will have an equal opportunity and an equal freedom.

No, we do not yet have peace in the world. Our men are engaged again, as they have been on so many other Thanksgivings, on a foreign field fighting for freedom. But we can be thankful for their strength that has always kept our liberty secure. We can be thankful for our science and technology that helps to guard our America.

Thanks are better spoken by deed rather than word. Therefore, it behooves a grateful America to share its blessings with our brothers abroad, with those who have so little of the abundance that is ours.

Simple justice and a concern for our fellow man require that we be ready to offer what we can of our food, our resources, our talents, our energies, our skills, and our knowledge to help others build a better life for themselves.

We should thank God that we are able.

Let us therefore, in this splendid American tradition, thank him who created us and all that we have. Let us do so with a firm resolve to be worthy of his abundant blessings. Let us assemble in our homes and in our places of worship, each in his own way.

Let us thank God for the America we are so fortunate to know.

Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in consonance with Section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States Code designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 24, 1966, as a day of national thanksgiving.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this seventh day of October in the year of our Lord Nineteen hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-first.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
What About Your Soul?

Jesus made a statement in Mt. 16:26 that each of us would do well to notice. He said, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" This statement indicates just how valuable our soul is. In comparison with all the wealth of the world, Jesus said that our soul is more valuable.

The reason for this statement can be seen when we consider the fact that all of the money of this world will perish but our soul is immortal. Jesus said that we ought to be laying up for ourselves treasures in Heaven and not treasures on the earth. Those on the earth will see corruption but the things that we do for God will last. Mt. 6:19-21. When a person has come to the end of life on the earth, he will leave all earthly possessions behind. His soul will live on. In Luke 12 Jesus taught about a man who showed much concern for the things of this life but who did not show any concern for his most valuable possession. He was concerned with building greater barns to hold all of his goods. He did not realize that he was going to die shortly and that his concern should have been for his soul. He thought that he had all he needed for many years. Notice what God said to him. Lk. 12:20. "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?"

The lesson that we must learn from these facts is that our soul is too important for us to ignore. We have no assurance of having another day on this earth. Thus, the only thing that really matters is that we save our soul. We have wasted our time on the earth unless we work out our own salvation. Phil. 2:12.

This really explains why this article is sponsored by the Church of Christ. We believe that God has given to us a way of salvation. That way is revealed in the teaching of the Bible. Thus, we are interested in urging all people to be sure that they are taking care of their soul. Jesus said that the truth would free us from our sins. Jno. 8:32. Unless we give diligence in finding the truth about our soul and then obeying that truth, we will be in danger of losing our greatest possession.

When people on the day of Pentecost wanted to know what to do to save their souls, they were given the truth. Peter said, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Those who received the word spoken this day, were baptized. They did this to save their souls. Have you taken care of this matter? Remember the value of your soul.

Car Seen Total Loss After Wellsville Fire

A 1955 model Oldsmobile sedan owned by Hilda Smith of East Liverpool R.D. 1 was termed a total loss after the interior was damaged heavily in a blaze which broke out Friday at 6:37 p.m. at 25th St. and Clark Ave., Wellsville, firemen reported.

Clyde Smith, also of East Liverpool R.D. 1, was driving the car when the blaze was discovered, firemen said. The cause was undetermined. Sixteen men and one truck responded to the alarm. A second fire truck started a run to the scene, but returned to the station because the fire was termed under control.

Man, 23, Drowns

MORGAN City, La. (AP) — James K. Gary, 23, Toledo, Ohio, working as a pipefitter's helper, fell from a small boat into a canal Friday and drowned.

Trainer-driver Frank Ervin, 62, won the 1959 Hambletonian trot with Diller Hanover and this year he won the 3-year-old feature with Kerry Way.

2 Ministers Are Killed In Plane Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two ministers, one a former missionary to Africa, were killed Friday when their plane crashed on a takeoff from the Kent State University Airport near Stow.

The Ohio Highway Patrol found Dewey C. Hale, 48, of Columbus, the former missionary who piloted the plane, and his passenger, Gerald E. Masters, 29, of Stow, in the wreckage of the plane.

"He took my husband up for a ride in his plane," said Mrs. Masters. "They were going to circle the field once and come back."

Masters was the father of four children—Cathy Sue, 9, Steven, 7, Deborah, 5, and Judith Ann, 18 months.

He was also the pastor of the Stow Missionary Chapel, and Hale owned the property on which the parsonage and the church were located. He was visiting Stow to complete the sale of the property to the chapel congregation.

State patrolmen and federal investigators were unable to determine immediately what caused the crash of the single-engine plane. No one saw or heard the crash.

The wreckage was about 400 feet west of the south end of the airport's north - south runway. Both bodies were still in the craft. The plane had nose dived into the earth, apparently while banking after takeoff.

The patrol noted that Hale was a qualified instructor, commercial pilot and airplane mechanic.

Masters, a native of Marietta, became assistant pastor of the chapel in January and full-time pastor in July. He was also employed as a welder at the Babcock & Wilcox Co. in Barberton.

Wool Men In County Endorse Agreement

LISBON — Columbiana County wool producers voted 21 to 7 recently in favor of the proposed new agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and the secretary of agriculture.

The agreement authorizes the secretary to withhold a fraction of producers' wool payments on 1966-69 marketings. Money withheld would be used by the Council for advertising and promotion programs for wool and lambs similar to programs carried out since 1956.

Eighty per cent of the 6,321 Ohioans who voted favored the agreement. They own 384,100 Sheep.

Driver Still 'Serious'

SALEM — Emerson Nihart of Salem remained in "serious" condition today at Youngstown Southside Hospital with injuries suffered when his car rammed a bridge abutment along Route 62 near Damascus early Friday.

Approximately 1.5 million persons died during a famine in Bengal, India, as recently as 1943, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Ex-'Red Dean' Claimed At 92

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the former "Red Dean" of Canterbury, died today. He was 92.

The rettired Church of England clergyman had been in grave condition since he fell in his home last week.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Johnson died "peacefully" and that his wife was at his bedside in Kent and Canterbury Hospital.

A man who prided himself as a friend of the Soviet Union, Dr. Johnson became one of the most controversial figures produced by the Church of England in this century.

He earned his nickname because of his simultaneous preaching of Christianity and communism during his time as dean of Canterbury from 1931 to 1963.

With a beribboned hat perched on his bald head and puffs of white hair sticking out behind his ears, Dr. Johnson looked the very picture of a benevolent clergyman.

For years he was the center of fierce controversy because he praised the Communist way of life. He declared under oath in 1954 that he was not a member of the Communist party.

But during the Spanish civil war he said: "I saw red and you can call me Red."

Twice his activities drew public rebukes from the primate of all England, the Archbishop of Canterbury, but Dr. Johnson was unaffected.

Under English law, the dean of Canterbury is not answerable to the head of the Church of England, but only to the government. Only an act of Parliament could remove him.

Training Plan Set In Beaver

A Beaver County program is among six job training projects for which the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg has received federal funds.

The $15,056 grant provides for a course at the Beaver County Home and Hospital to train 60 as nurses' aides.

The state received a total of $260,610 over all to set up projects for 256 persons.

The programs are to be operated by the Bureau of Employment Security and the Department of Public Instruction.

Senior Veterans Join In Project

LISBON — Columbiana County's Veterans of World War I have undertaken as a service project the collection of old eyeglasses, sunglasses, scrap gold and silver and real and costume jewelry.

Chairman Harry H. Ferrall of Leetonia R.D. 2 said the request for the senior unit's help was made by Comdr. E. Andy Parsly of American Legion Post 290 at Columbiana.

The Soldiers Relief Commission of Cuyahoga County is sponsoring the project. Cash contributions will not be accepted.

Ferrall said glasses with unbroken plastic frames will be sorted, graded and sent to medical missions; sunglasses go to tropical countries and leper colonies, and the bits of silver, gold and broken jewelry are sent to a refinery. Money realized from the exchange will buy new prescription glasses for distribution to the needy in the United States.

Ferrall said Lisbon area residents may give material to Thomas Tucker at Legion Post 275.

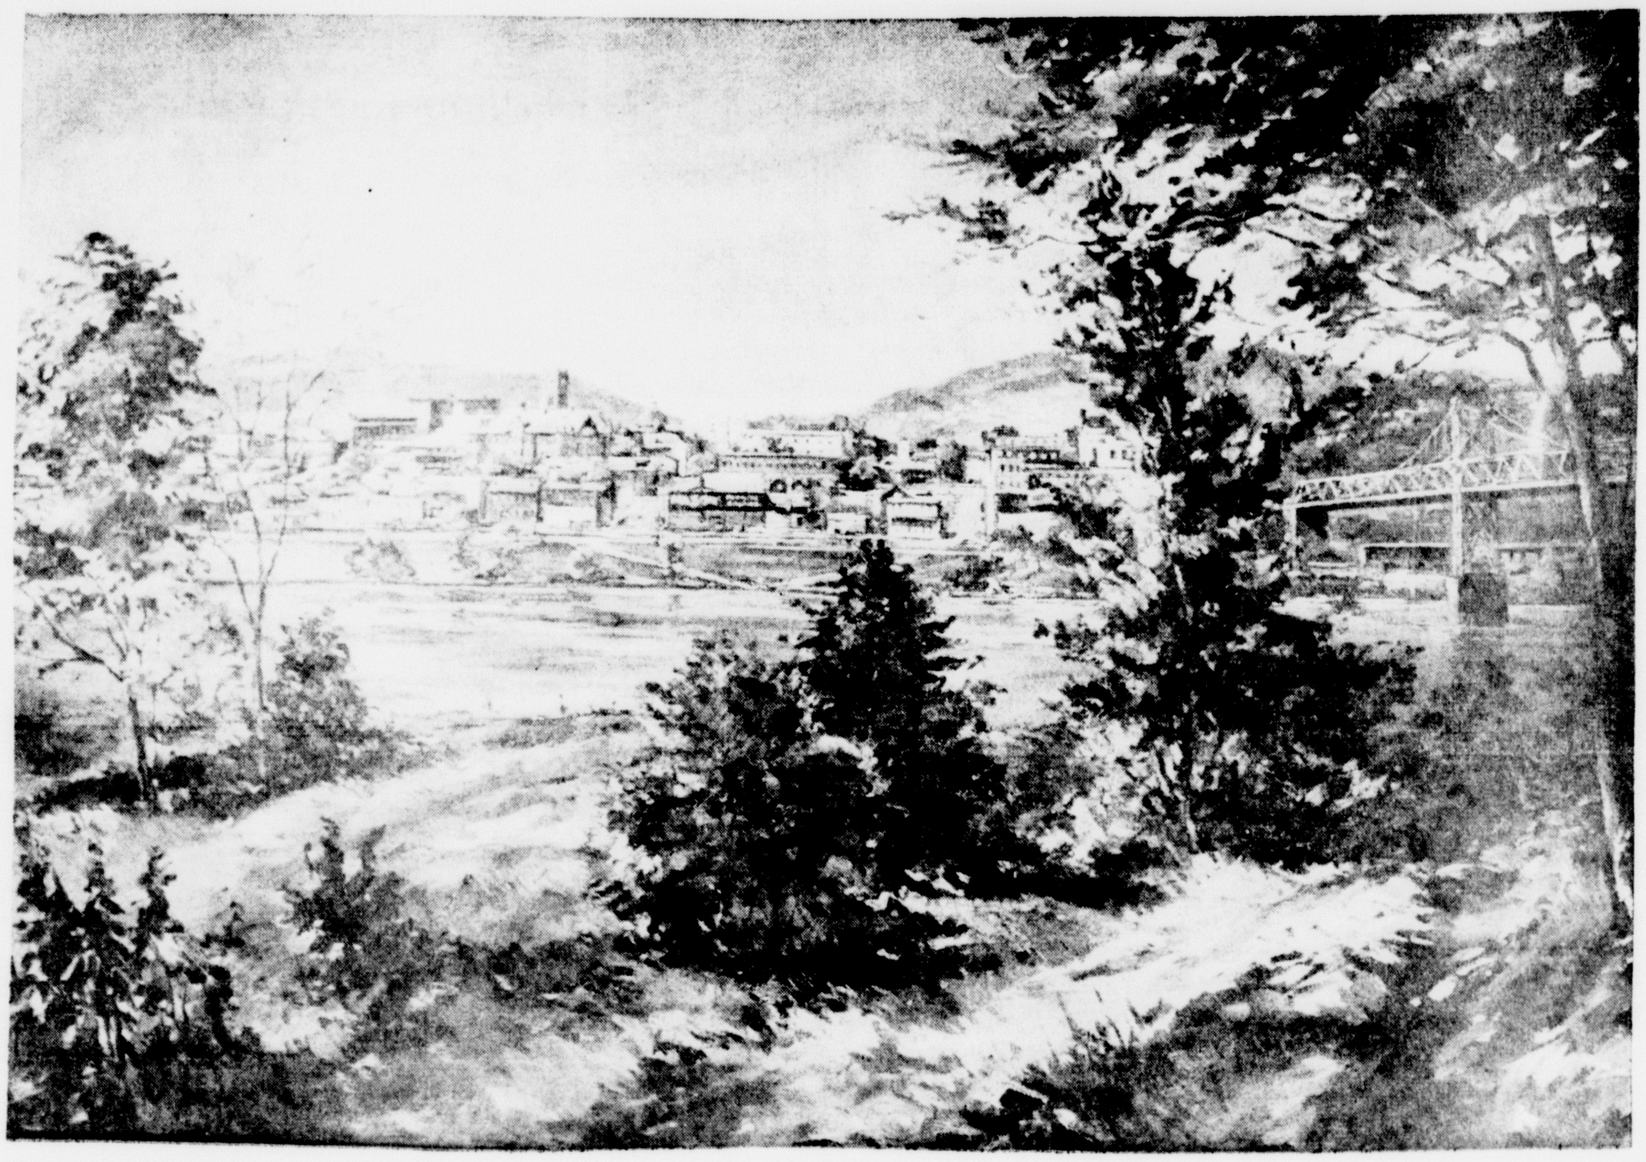
EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW

Feature Pages

East Liverpool, Ohio, Saturday, Oct. 22, 1966—Page 8

New View Of City



The familiar skyline of East Liverpool, dominated by the 72-year-old Central School clock tower, has been captured in a new painting by Hans Hacker, well-known city artist.

This is a view from the Chester side of the Ohio River along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks between the Chester Bridge and the Yacht Club area.

Hacker of 330 Vine St., technical director of the Commercial Decal Co., painted the scene in the late summer during many visits to the site.

A native of Germany who has resided here since 1937, Hacker has done many paintings, charcoal and pencil sketches, water colors and chalk drawings of the tri-state district.

This 43 by 30 inch work has been purchased by a city resident for display in a downtown business.

Hacker did not have a show of his paintings this year because of the press of his work with the decal firm, but plans one next year. He is currently at work on a number, including another view of East Liverpool — this one from under the Chester Bridge.

Tangy Apple Butter Turned Out During A Long Day Of Stirring

By VONNIE McCLURE
Review Staff Writer

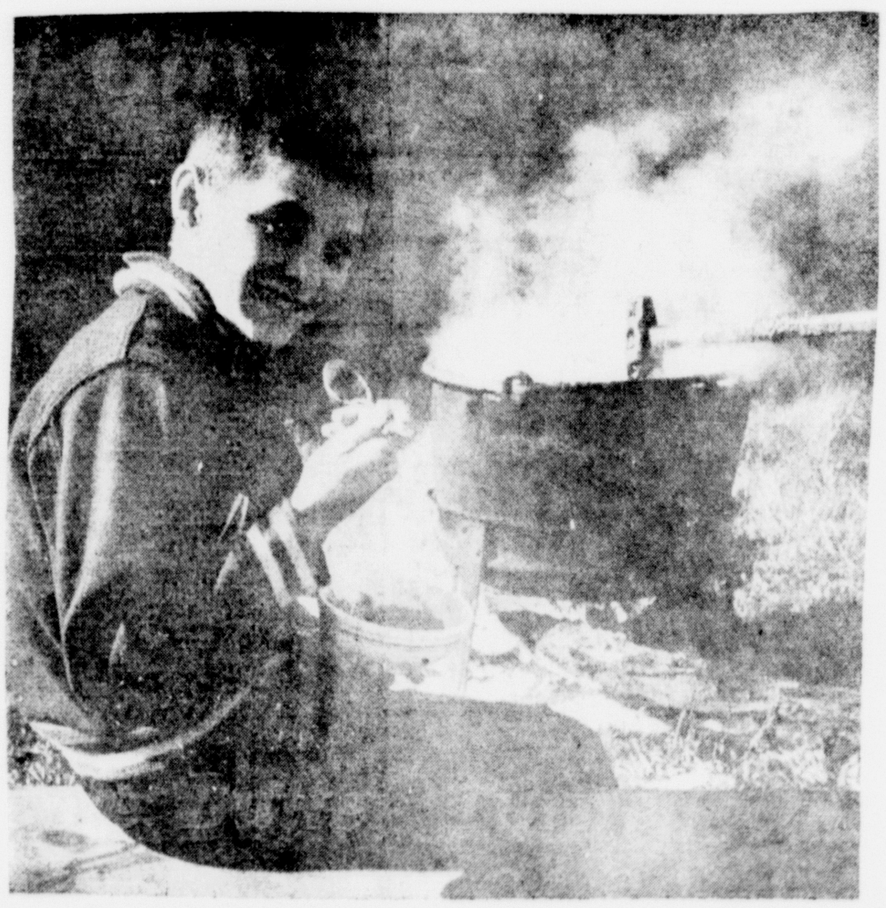
"By guess or by golly" appears to be the recipe used by the Women's Association of the Mill Creek Valley United Presbyterian Church in their 14th annual apple-butter making spree.

Equipped with 6 - foot stirrers, jeans, jackets and headscarves, the ladies gathered early Thursday for a day of stirring.

The scene of action was in front of the Hookstown Grange Hall. Following days of rain and dampness, the ladies prayed for some sunshine. Mrs. Carl Soisson Jr. encouraged one and all by saying she had faith Old Sol would brighten the day.

The operation had began Tuesday when, in spite of a drizzle, the apple gathering began in orchards near Route 30. Over 20 bushels of Jonathans, Roman Beauty and Northern Spy apples were salvaged by earnest pickers that day.

On Wednesday the group met to quarter the apples, cook them, put them through a ricer and ready five huge copper kettles for Thursday's ritual.



Mark Searight, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Searight of Hookstown, samples some apple butter hot from the cook kettle.

THE KETTLES were washed in a vinegar and salt preparation to remove oxidation. The apples were then poured into them to await the outdoor cooking.

To make Mill Creek apple butter, add 30 pounds of white sugar and four pounds of brown sugar to a 15 - gallon kettle of prepared apples, then about one - half cup of cinnamon "to taste." The results are so good that the 320-quart yield moves very fast at only 75 cents a quart, or 40 cents for a pint. If you don't bring a jar, you pay 10 cents for theirs.

One hundred quarts were on order by Thursday. Frank McGee of Imperial, on the fairgrounds doing some electrical work, purchased the first three quarts of the season. Each year the group sells out of apple butter in one or two weeks.

Co-chairmen of the apple-butter committee are Mrs. Floyd Shane of Hookstown and Mrs. Carl Soisson Jr. of Georgetown.

Association officers are Mrs. Charles Shane, president; Miss Olive Floyd, vice president; Mrs. William H. Moore, secretary; and Mrs. Greg McElhaney, treasurer.

AFTER ALL expenses are met, the profit is over $200 which is put into the general fund of the Association for projects under way.

Thirty Association members helped on the entire project. Raymond Searight and Carl Soisson built the fires early Thursday morning. Since the day was very windy, sheets of metal protected the blaze which kept the contents of the five copper kettles bubbling and brewing.

Wooden benches were located behind each kettle so stirrers could rest while being "spelled" by others.

On Thursday the group laughingly recalled one apple butter making session during the past 14 when someone "helpfully" threw an old battery onto the blaze. It immediately exploded, scaring those seated on an old wooden bench. The bench went over backwards, and so did the ladies on it.

The oldest stirrer at Thursday's session was "Aunt Blanche" Glenn, and the youngest, Mrs. Jean Eckerd.

A coverdish dinner was served at noon. The entire cooking session lasts from 9 a.m. until about 6 p.m.

The stir paddles have long handles, and are made with rounded edges with several holes to let the apple butter through.

THE FIVE kettles have quite a history. The largest, the Bill Soisson kettle, holds 30 gallons and was bought at an auction.

The Glenn kettle is the oldest and holds 12 gallons. Its stirrer was used all 14 apple butter seasons to date by the Association.

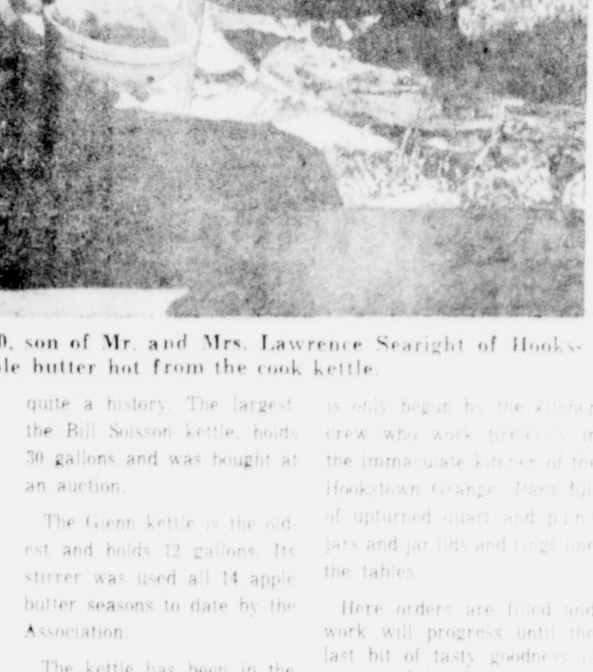
The kettle has been in the Glenn family for generations.

The Mackall kettle holds 15 gallons, as does the Searight kettle and the Carl Soisson kettle.

After the outdoor cooking is completed, the long process of jarring the precious contents is only begun by the kitchen crew who work tirelessly in the immaculate kitchen of the Hookstown Grange. Pans full of upturned quart and pint jars and jar lids and rings line the tables.

Here orders are filled and work will progress until the last bit of tasty goodness is conserved in gleaming jars.

The whole job can only be fully appreciated as a child returning from school on a crisp fall day longingly eyes the deep red contents of the apple-butter kettles and envisions rivers of apple butter spread on mountains of home-made bread.



The Verse Box

Don't Put It In Writing

Oft, in gloom, I sit and brood,
Of those who go about tattooed,
Of those who let their skins be etched,
With names and scenes oft times far-fetched.

What if "Bernice" rests on the chest,
And Ilene's really loved the best?
Or Naomi's needled on side or head,
Yet Gertrude down the aisle is led?

With Stella on his epidermis
Can he win that heart of Irma's?
If forearm states, "I love you, Pearl"
Will Anne believe she's the only girl?

What happens on the wedding night,
If name and face are not quite right?
Will she understand? And are you sure
It can all be blamed on a mad tatooer?

O tattoo artist let me be,
Etch no indelible lines on me—
No name or deme, detail defined,
I want to be able to change my mind!

You And The Law

In Ohio, there are specific professional and business occupations directly regulated by state law, in addition to those regulated by federal laws (such as stock brokers and securities specialists).

These laws are designed to protect the public by assuring that the person so licensed is competent in his field.

These occupations are regulated by special boards and generally require that the applicant pass a special examination. For instance, an attorney must pass the bar examination and receives his right to practice law from the Ohio Supreme Court. A realtor is licensed by the Ohio Board of Realtors after passing its special examination.

PRACTICING a licensed occupation without a license may result in a heavy fine or possibly a jail sentence.

An auctioneer is licensed but his license is issued through the Common Pleas Court. The license is valid for one year and he also must post bond with the local county treasurer.

In Ohio, the licensed occupations also include accountants, architects, barbers, cosmetologists, dentists, embalmers, funeral directors, nurses, optometrists, pharmacists, physicians and limited practitioners (such as osteopaths, podiatrists, physical therapists, etc.) pawnbrokers, professional engineers, steam engineers, boiler operators and veterinarians.

THERE ARE also other regulations regarding such licensing. For instance, commission merchants must keep specific accounting records and make them available for inspection by persons who consign goods to them. Violations may result in fines of from $10 to $200 here.

A pawnbroker is regulated in the amount of interest he may charge, the form of records he must keep and the procedure to be used in redemption of pawned articles. He also must make reports to local police authorities concerning articles he has received.

Ken fell into a pit and broke his leg while looking for the restroom in a service station. Can he collect damages from the owner of the station for negligence in allowing such a hazard to exist?

Probably not if his only purpose for being there was to use the restroom. When a person enters a place of business for the sole purpose of using such "public" facilities as a restroom, a pay phone or a water fountain, he assumes the role of a "licensee."

This means that under most circumstances, he enters at his own risk and the owner does not have the same obligations that he has toward persons he invites onto the premises. If Ken had been there for purposes that would be mutually beneficial to himself and the owner, namely, to buy something, or at least to price it, then the situation would have been different.

UNDER THE law, when a man sets up a business, he is considered to have "invited" people to price or to buy his goods. So, when they are there for this purpose, they are his invited guests, so to speak, and he must assume responsibility for the condition of his property, insofar as it might injure anyone. He owes them the duty of making the premises safe or giving adequate warning of hazards which are known to the owner but not the "invitee".

But Ken was not there at the owner's invitation. He was only there for his own convenience, with no intention of buying anything, so the obligations of the owner were limited.

Tips Offered On Beef Buys

Ground beef, hamburger, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak — this variety of names can confuse the smartest shopper.

Frustrated homemakers facing such a choice may wish that today's supermarkets didn't have quite so much variety. Fortunately, government regulations on the production and labeling of ground beef products can help a homemaker know which meat to buy for savings and better eating.

According to Ohio law, any product labeled "hamburger" or "hamburg" may contain as much as 30 per cent beef fat or suet. But products labeled ground beef, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak, ground round, or ground sirloin cannot contain more than 20 per cent beef fat or suet.

OHIO LAW also specifies that such products as monosodium glutamate, soybean proteins and cereals can be used only as seasonings in these products. This law prohibits use of large amounts of these products as "extenders".

Federal law says that while additional fat can be added to hamburger, nothing but the fat on the carcass can be included in ground beef. If the meat crosses state lines, federal law requires inspection of the processing of the animal, carcass and the boning operation.

With the exception of ground round or sirloin, ground meats are usually made from less tender and/or less popular cuts of beef. This doesn't mean that it is any less nutritious and wholesome. All beef meat has the same amount of protein, vitamins, and minerals.

But it does mean that some ground meats will be more suitable for use than another.

ONE OF THE TOP Prizes in big game hunting, a silvertip grizzly bear, was claimed by Harry Pigott of Ohioville on a trip to Wyoming this month.

And to top it all, this was the first hunting trip in the West for the Pennsylvanian.

Pigott is mighty proud of his trophy and well he might be, because it is the first time to my knowledge that anyone from the area ever shot one.

Pigott was hunting out of Cody, Wyo., with two friends, Carl Hoyt of Ohioville and Robert Morrell of Nevada St., Wellsville.

Rounding out the trip, all three bagged large bull elks, and Hoyt and Pigott each shot a mule deer.

The large grizzly, which weighed approximately 800 pounds, is in the record class. The skin, when stretched out, measured eight feet from tip to tip across the shoulders and front legs.

Pigott says he shot the bear on the first day of hunting. He was riding on a horse in a blinding snowstorm. All at once the snow stopped, and when Pigott looked up, there stood the grizzly.

Harry says he shot the animal twice. The first bullet struck the grizzly in the shoulder and the second broke his back. It was about 125 yards away. He was using a .308 magnum.

All the bull elks were good size, but this grizzly was the pride of the entire camp. It was so big, the hunters say they had a difficult time moving it about in order to skin it. The hide alone was all one man could carry.

Pigott plans to have a rug made from the hide.

Congratulations from this corner on a fine trophy.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS in Ohio have taken a plunge downward, which is always good news.

As of Sept. 25, non-fatal and fatal hunting accidents are down 100 and 200 per cent respectively compared to the same period last year. Squirrel season accident are drastically below those of 1965.

From the first day of squirrel season through Sept. 25, only nine minor injuries and one fatal accident have been reported, which contrasts sharply with the 26 non-fatal and four fatals recorded the same period last year.

Daniel C. Armbruster, Ohio's wildlife chief, has issued an appeal to all qualified instructors and local organizations to continue their work in providing firearm safety instruction for young people.

Game protectors are available for counsel and assistance in setting up firearm safety courses and will provide the names of qualified instructors to individuals and organizations wishing to parficipate in such a program.

OHIO'S DEER PERMITS have been sent to hunting license agencies. The opening date for deer with bow and arrow was last Saturday. The gun season on deer opens Nov. 28 in the eastern zone and Nov. 30 in the northwestern zone.

A publication containing information on the location of deer

checking stations and deer hunting regulations may be obtained from license agencies selling deer permits. Familiarize yourself with the regulations before taking to the woods.

Pennsylvania's bear population is not a "menace" to civilization but a natural resource that should be preserved through sensible conservation practices, the Pennsylvania Game Commission says.

Occasionally a black bear will make an appearance on farms or in rural areas, and sometimes in residentiaal areas or even in downtown sections of cities. On rare occasions, residents and even law enforcement officials become panicky and start shooting at the bruins.

Game Commission officials point out that some persons are not too well acquainted with the habits and disposition of the black bear, since it is seldom seen outside its customary mountain home.

The black bear, unlike the grizzly, polar or kodiak, is not a dangerous animal unless it is cornered or unless it or its young are attacked. A black bear has a natural fear of humans, and if undisturbed, will do its best to escape civilization.

Only if a black bear is pursued, frightened or cornered by humans is it dangerous.

Persons disturbed by the presence of a black bear are advised to contact district game protectors, who have had extensive experience and training in dealing with bruins.

Special equipment is necessary for capturing a black bear, equipment that is available only to game protectors because of the special knowledge needed to use it properly.

Unnecessary shooting of black bears is as senseless as arbitrary destruction of any other natural resource.

Beaver Local's Big Brass Band

The "Big Sound."

That has been Beaver Local High School Band's bold and brassy gridiron and parade music with its new instrumentation.

Almost all the woodwind (clarinet, flute, oboe) players have been switched to trumpets, glockenspiels or other instruments in order to provide a fuller, richer tone from the whole band.

Robert Sprague, director, said the flutes and clarinets are seldom heard from a band on a football field and the smaller instruments don't have the flashy appearance of the horns in sunlight or under the electric lamps.

In July, all the woodwind players met at the high school and decided to which instrument they would switch for football season.

Five used trumpets were purchased along with two sets of bells and a baritone horn. The rest of the instruments were borrowed, in many cases from younger brothers or sisters.

Four practice sessions were held on fundamentals of tonguing, fingering and tone production, and from there on, the students "were pretty much on their own," Sprague said.

The result has been a fuller, snappier sound and a more impressive appearance from the 80-member band. Sprague said Beaver Local is not the first to attempt the brass treatment — Barberton has done the switch treatment for several years — but it is the first in this district.

About a month before the concert season opens, the woodwind players will revert to lessons on their original instruments, he said.

Stamps In The News

The island of Tristan da Cunha, known as the "loneliest island in the world," lies in the Atlantic Ocean about midway between South Africa and South America. A beautiful new stamp issue has been released by the island, a British colony, reports the Crown Agents in Washington.

The stamps commemorate the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Tristan garrison. Depicted on each stamp is a soldier in the foreground and a sailing frigate unloading troops a century

During the residence of Napolean on St. Helena in 1816 a detachment of 18 seamen established "Somerset Camp" on Tristan where the present township called "Edinburgh Settlement" is situated. The garrison was removed in 1817 but one corporal, his wife and two children remained. They were later joined by other settlers from the United States, Britain and Holland.

Tristan da Cunha figured in the news in 1961 when its inhabitants were evacuated to the United Kingdom during the eruption of the island's volcano. The people returned two years later and life continues there as before — as the issuance of stamps indicates.

THE CURRENT issue of "The Lincoln Log," published by the Lincoln Society of Philately, featured the first of a series entitled "Lincolns on the Map." The story reports that 134 places are named "Lincoln." Of these, 43 were named for Abraham Lincoln. The publication contains many items of interest to collectors specializing in stamps pertaining to Lincoln.

THE NETHERLANDS has issued two new stamps for "Europa" in conjunction with other nations belonging to CEPT (Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications Administrations).

The designs on the 20 c and 40 c stamps show a ship with a bulging sail and the letters CEPT. The design for the stamps was by Gregor and Joseph Bender (brothers) of West Germany.

IN ORDER to meet the need for a high value stamp in its definitive series, Malawi has issued a 2 pound (British) stamp depicting a butterfly. The new stamp will be used mainly for cablegram charges, where the stamps are affixed to the back of the cablegram, and for airmail parcel services.

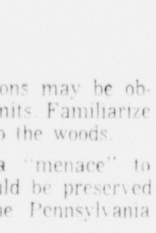
Home Hints



By Ann Overturf
Columbiana County Home Economist

The key to choosing sausage from the many kinds available is right on the label of these meats. State and federal law makes distinctions between several kinds of sausage and requires that these distinctions appear on the label.

Meat labeled pork sausage must use only pork meat and cannot contain more than 50 per cent fat and 3 per cent added ice or water. Ice or water is needed to make handling easier.

Sausage which isn't specifically labeled "pork sausage" —such as breakfast sausage, fresh sausage or sausage — may be made with pork, but may also contain fresh beef, tripe or some kinds of variety meat. It is also limited to 50 per cent fat and 3 per cent ice or water.

A "country-style" label indicates that the sausage is more coarsely ground. Ohio regulations also prohibit use of artificial coloring in sausage or its casing except for natural wood smoke, an approved artificial smoke flavoring or an approved smoke flavoring. Monosodium glutamate or hydrolized plant protein may be used as "seasonings," according to Ohio law, but not as "extenders."

Most sausages are sold with some seasonings added. Actual seasonings used vary considerably from sausage maker to sausage maker. Sausage of the same name which crosses state lines will be similar in taste regardless of the brand because the federal inspection they must pass includes seasonings regulations.

Besides insuring that the product is wholesome and truthfully labeled, the purpose of this law is to assure consumers that sausages with similar names will be the same basic type of sausage, even if they are bought from two different companies.

MONEY CLIPS.... by Mort Reed

Apostle of thrift

John R. Sinnock modeled the likeness of Benjamin Franklin from a composite of sketches and the bust sculptured by Jean-Antoine Houdon. The marble bust was created from life during Franklin's tenure as ambassador to France and just prior to Houdon's visit to the United States in 1785.

Just how Franklin would react to having his portrait on a coin would be speculation, but the records show that he opposed the use of heads of any kind on currency. He proposed the space be devoted to thrift proverbs — something that would give the spender cause to consider the wisdom of parting with the coin.

Franklin also bitterly denounced the eagle as an emblem of the United States, claiming it was a cowardly bird with a bad moral character, and he suggested the turkey to be used instead. The turkey, according to Franklin, was worthy of the honor and the only distinctly American bird.

The Franklin-Liberty Bell half-dollar unites two names that have become synonymous over the years. With respect to Ben's opinion of the eagle, Sinnock tried to omit it from the coin entirely. But the coinage laws of 1873 require an eagle on the obverse of all coins above the denomination of a dime, so the bird was placed to the left of the Liberty Bell but greatly subordinated to it.

Here it may be noted that the Franklin half-dollar is the only U.S. coin to carry the name of a private firm or individual. The firm of Pass and Stow recast the bell after it had been damaged in shipment and the Philadelphia Assembly ordered their names cast on the repaired bell. The designer carried this detail into the final product and, by law, it may not be removed.

Sinnock's initials JS are located under the shoulder.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS from The Bible

Surely blessing I will bless thee.—(Heb. 6:14)

Let us bless all that we have —our home, our work, our material possessions of every kind. Let us bless these things, realizing they represent our acceptance and use of God's substance. As we bless these outer expressions, our appreciative attitude quickens us to see even more of the good. If we are given a fit, if someone shares some good with us, let us remember to give our blessing for the gift and to the giver.

Hearing Planned For 'Point Case'

Charles Thomas Landy, 25, of Valley Ave. has been served with a summons ordering him to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday at 10 a.m. and show cause why his driver's license should not be suspended under Ohio's "point system" law.

Landy's case was scheduled by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after the case was certified to the local court by Fred Rice, registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus, under the 12-point "demerit" system.

Rice certified that Landy has accumulated 12 "points" in three cases in the local court—reckless driving, Oct. 15, 1964; leaving the scene of an accident, Oct. 22, 1965; and reckless driving, Sept. 12, 1966. The two reckless operation charges accounted for three points each, while the other count added six points to Landy's record.

State law stipulates a six-month suspension of the driver's license in the first citation under the so-called "demerit" system.

On African-Asian Resolution

U.N. Assembly Holding Unusual Saturday Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly meets today in an unusual Saturday session to consider an African and Asian-sponsored resolution against Britain's talks with rebellious Rhodesia.

The African-Asian bloc, showing its power, brought about the Saturday session by pushing the resolution through the Assembly's Trusteeship Committee Friday night on little more than three hours' notice.

As the committee debated, Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan announced that the assembly would meet today.

Final approval of the resolution appeared certain. The Trusteeship Committee approved it, 78-2. The committee and the General Assembly have the same member nations. Only Portugal and South Africa cast negative votes; nine countries abstained and eight others did not participate.

The resolution, put forward by most of the U.N.'s 64 African and Asian members, would have the assembly note "with grave concern that the talks about talks'" between Britain and Rhodesia jeopardized "the inalienable rights of the African people of Zimbabwe," the African name for Rhodesia.

John W. S. Malecela of Tanzania interrupted the Trusteeship Committee's debate on Rhodesia to submit the proposal after expressing alarm over reports that Britain was about to reach agreement with Rhodesia's white regime. He said immediate Assembly action was needed.

The resolution:

1. "Condemns any agreement reached between the administering power (Britain) and the illegal racist minority regime, which will not recognize the inalienable right of the people of Zimbabwe to self-determination and independence."

2. "Reaffirms the obligation of the administering power to transfer power to the people of Zimbabwe on the basis of universal adult suffrage (one man equals one vote)."

Prime Minister Ian Smith's government declared Rhodesia independent of Britain last Nov. 11 as a result of British pressure to move the colony toward African majority rule. A voluntary oil embargo voted by the U.N. Security Council at Britain's request has failed to bring Smith's government down.

Britain, the United States, Belgium, Canada, France, Italy, the Netherlands and New Zealand did not take part in Friday's vote.

The African and Communist countries, almost all the Asian and some Western European and Latin-American countries voted for the proposal.

Campaigns For Gov. Brown

Kennedy Warns Against More California Rioting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy campaigned through the populous Los Angeles area for Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown today, warning against more of the racial violence which has hit two California cities in recent weeks.

"We must prevent the repetition of violence — just as the underlying condition which gave it birth, the poverty and degradation of Negro life in the city, must also be a thing of the past," Kennedy said Friday night.

Shouting, enthusiastic admirers crowded around the New York Democrat when he arrived at Lockheed Air Terminal in nearby Burbank.

But there were dissenters. Kennedy heard jeers from pickets carrying signs boosting Brown's opponent, Republican Ronald Reagan. Other pickets had signs criticizing Kennedy for his harsh words against Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty at a recent Senate hearing.

Some of the placards read "Carpethagger," "Beware. This is Yorty Country," "Yorty-si, Kennedy-no" and "Aren't Two States Enough?"

In his speech at a dinner for Rep. James Corman, D-Calif., Kennedy confronted a major issue in California's gubernatorial race — a possible white backlash to violence in Negro districts.

Less than a month ago, the National Guard was called out to control an outbreak in San Francisco. This week there was violence in a Negro district of Oakland.

"As more and more of our people crowd into cities, too often unemployed and unheard, living in slums and poorly schooled, there will be increasing frustration, increasing temptation to explode in violence," Kennedy said.

"That violence is an intolerable threat to the future of every American — black and white — to the peace and the body's safety and the community's order — to all that makes life worthwhile."

Kennedy boosted Brown, who is seeking a third term, and Corman by comparing California with New York.

In New York, he said, most students must pay tuition at colleges and the state has had to raise taxes repeatedly. But in California, "parents are free from worry about tuition cost," and the state has progressed "without new sales or income taxes since 1959," Kennedy said.

Brown greeted Kennedy at the airport and planned most of his weekend schedule to coincide with the senator's.

2 Crashes Occur At Same Spot On District Highway

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon investigated two traffic mishaps early Friday afternoon which occurred at the same time at the same spot on Route 30 a tenth of a mile north of State Route 170 in the Substation district.

One crash led indirectly to the other, as a trucker pulled off the highway to avoid traffic which was halted at the scene of the first collision.

The first mishap involved a 1965 model convertible driven by Joseph Neff, 53, of Canfield and a 1966 model truck operated by Nathan Meister, 61, of Youngstown.

Both vehicles were southbound. Neff halted in a line of traffic and his car was hit from the rear by Meister's truck, the patrol said. Meister was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Jack Herman Jobe, 26, of 1378 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, swerved his truck off the highway to the right to avoid striking another truck which was halted at the accident scene, the patrol said. He was unhurt. Jobe was cited on a charge of driving at a speed too great for existing conditions.

Hearings Due Nov. 16 For 28 City Tax Cases

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has set hearings Wednesday, Nov. 16, for 28 persons named in affidavits filed Thursday by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson, accusing them of violating the city income tax ordinance by failure to file returns.

He set the date in advance of the preparation of notices by the court staff directing the defendants to appear for hearings. The court will make the names public after each has been served with a summons.

The 28 cases are the latest in a series filed in periodic "installments" of 20 to 30 in the last few months by the tax commissioner.

Mining continues to be a bright spot in Tunisia's economy, accounting for more than 40 per cent of export earnings. Phosphate-rock production last year exceeded 3 million tons, 11 per cent over 1964. Iron ore was up 20 per cent, to 1.1 million metric tons.

At Dinner Next Thursday

Catholic Service Bureau To Observe Anniversary

Bishop James W. Malone, apostolic administrator of the Youngstown Diocese, will be the speaker when the Catholic Service Bureau of Columbiana County observes its 25th anniversary with a dinner at Lisbon next Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

Recognition will be afforded those foster parents who have assisted the bureau in caring for children.

THE COUNTY bureau was established as a branch of the Catholic Charities Corp. of the Diocese of Cleveland in November 1941.

The office first was located in Lisbon and later moved to Salem, where it now is located at 544 E. State St.

When the Youngstown Diocese was established in July 1943, control and management of the bureau passed to it. For some time the agency continued under the supervision of the Youngstown office. The need for more autonomy was recognized and it was established in September 1962, with representatives from all the parishes in the county.

The bureau performs many services. Among them are to counsel parents and children, provide foster homes, place children in adoptive homes, give service to dependent children and assistance to the aged and counsel unwed parents.

Currently, there are 53 children under supervision of the bureau. They are guided by the bureau in matters of parent-child relationships, school difficulties and delinquency cases. They see that the children are cared for both physically and spiritually.

Funds for the operation of the bureau come primarily from the diocese's annual drive and from the Salem and East Liverpool community funds.

Miss Mary Catherine Donahue is the executive secretary of the bureau, with Mrs. Genevieve Engelmeier caring for the office and secretarial duties.

JAMES J. McGOWAN of East Liverpool is president, with Miss Ann McLaughlin of Salem, Mrs. Freeman Strabley of Salineville and Mrs. Joseph Fittanti of East Palestine, chairmen, and James J. Kennedy of Leetonia, co-chairman.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Gerald Costello and Robert Hocking of East Liverpool, Mrs. Clarence Peters of Wellsville, Reynaldo Oriole and Guy Mauro of Salem, Mrs. Mary Gill of Lisbon, Thomas Reese of Leetonia, Mrs. Carl Gruber of Hanoverton, Robert Madden of East Palestine, Paul Dowdell of Summitville and Frank Sirianni.

Injunction Eyed By School Board At Martins Ferry

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) — The Martins Ferry school board planned to go to court today to delay imposition of sanctions by the Ohio Education Association.

Thomas J. Jones, attorney for the board in this eastern Ohio city of 12,000, said he would file in Belmont County Common Pleas Court at St. Clairsville for an injunction.

The move came in the wake of the OEA announcement, through the executive of the statewide teachers' and school administrators' organization, alleging "grossly unprofessional" conditions in the city school district.

The teachers charge the board has refused to meet with representatives of their association to discuss salary improvements and grievances.

Sanctions in effect would consist of recommendations for Martins Ferry teachers to quit and other teachers to refuse jobs here.

$50,600 Sought In Accident Suit

LISBON — A $50,600 suit for traffic accident injuries was filed Friday in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court here.

The defendant is John L. Witherow of Salineville R.D. 1, the bus driver.

Wilson claims permanent injuries of the neck and back. He says he was driving west on Route 39 and Witherow pulled from County Road 418 onto Route 39 "while visibility was limited owing to fog and thereby caused a collision between the bus and plaintiff's car."

Potters Rout Martins Ferry, 54-0, In Homecoming

★ ★ ★ Herring Scores 3, Smith 2: Push Victory Streak To 5 Straight ★ ★ ★

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The only contest at Patterson Field Friday night was for homecoming queen as the East Liverpool Potters turned their scheduled game with Martins Ferry into a 54-0 rout before a paid crowd of 3,372.

The Potters ranked 20th in the state, scored early and often in the first half as they rolled to their fifth straight victory and sixth win in seven starts.

THE END came early for the hapless Purple Riders, which dropped their seventh straight this season and 13th in a row over a two-year period.

While Martins Ferry still holds an edge in the overall series, last night's victory was the 11th for East Liverpool in the last 12 starts between the two schools.

It was only a few years ago that Ferry had one of the strongest teams in the Ohio Valley and ranked high in the state, but last night the Riders fielded a young team dotted with sophomore and juniors, with an offense that didn't go anywhere.

In fact, the visitors showed a net of only nine yards for the contest. They gained 60, but were thrown back for 51 by Potter defenders. Martins Ferry did play a more respectable second half.

COACH Bob McNea's high-powered offense produced the season's second highest score. Only a 56-6 victory over Oak Glen surpassed last night's point total.

Halfback Darryl (Tweetie) Herring cashed in for three touchdowns to lead the scoring parade on runs of 40, 13 and 4 yards. His running mate at halfback, Denny Smith, registered twice.

The game was less than four minutes old when the Potters, in seven plays, marched to the one, from where Smith hurdled the line for the first of eight touchdowns.

About four minutes later Herring came on the scene to score his first of three consecutive touchdowns, going over from four yards out. Smith had gained 60 yards in two carries to set up the score.

HERRING thrilled the crowd with his second TD when he was apparently stopped near the line of scrimmage, but spun free and raced 40 yards for the third touchdown of the first period, pushing the score to 22-0.

Herring was off for his third and final touchdown with a 13-yard sprint early in the second quarter, the first of three quick TD's by the Potters in that period.

East Liverpool managed to score three touchdowns in slightly less than two minutes. After Herring registered, sophomore Jim Musuraca on a punt return took a handoff from Herring and raced 49 yards for six more points.

HERRING'S touchdown came with 9:30 left and Musuraca's with 8:27 to go in the half. Then Bruce Christian intercepted a Rider pass on the 12 and stepped into the end zone to score with 7:33 remaining.

With a 42-0 halftime lead, the scoring stopped through the third period as Martins Ferry drove from its own 39 to the Potter 16, controlling the ball a good share of the third quarter.

The Potters began a touchdown drive late in the quarter as two passes from Mike McVay to Jim Musuraca netted 43 yards, carrying to the four, from where Smith drove over for his second touchdown with 8:42 left in the game.

A LINEMAN got in for a share of the glory when guard Emanual Volino intercepted a pass near midfield and showed surprising speed to leg the ball 53 yards for the final tally with 1:53 remaining.

Although the Potter regulars played most of the second half, the majority of East Liverpool's scoring and yardage came in the first.

East Liverpool showed a net of 320 yards rushing, with 258 in the first half. Eighty-five more yards was gained through the air.

MARTINS FERRY gained nine yards on the ground and 21 in the air for a total of 30.

The Purple Riders showed one threat the entire game, the only time they were inside the Potter 40. That came in the third quarter when Martins Ferry kept the ball 12 plays and drove to the Potter 16, only to wind up on the 19 after four downs.

It was following this series of downs that the Potters punted for the only time of the game.

Outside of the one drive, Ferry did not show any ground attack and quarterback Jim Smith was only on target on three of eight passes.

Herring and Smith shared the rushing honors for the Potters. Herring, the fleet halfback, stepped off 118 yards in 12 carries, while Smith picked up 90 on seven attempts.

Salem Scores 24th Straight Win Over Wellsville, 38-18

Morehead Scores Two On Passes

SALEM — It has been almost a quarter of a century now since Wellsville last defeated Salem. The Quakers, no matter what type of season they're having seem to be a jinx to the Tigers and last night was no different as Salem scored a 38-18 win, their 24th in a row over the visitors.

Salem had lost five straight games before last night in picking up its second win of the season. The loss was Wellsville's fourth in seven starts. The Tigers haven't defeated Salem since 1942.

WELLSVILLE'S failure to muster a ground attack led to the Tigers latest defeat but Salem showed a surprisingly strong defense to limit the Orange and Black to only 32 yards on the ground.

Salem opened the score when Rick Metts plunged one yard in the first period and Ken Kenst put Salem in front 10-0 with a seven yard field goal in the second period.

WELLSVILLE bounced back when halfback Todd Weekley threw his first of two touchdown passes to Bob Morehead with the first covering 72 yards.

Salem matched this score before the half when Phil Shasteen took a 16 yard TD pass from Scott Cody as the Quakers held a 17-6 halftime bulge.

Wellsville got back into the contest when Weekley and Morehead combined again on a 56 yard scoring play bringing the score to 17-12 in the third period.

NOT LONG after the Tiger TD Metts went in from the one again.

In the fourth period, Salem crossed into touchdown land on Jim Fattler's three yard run.

This was followed by Jack Young's 72 yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Salem's final touchdown came on an eight yard pass from Cody to Shasteen.

The Quakers rolled to 20 first downs and 263 yards on the ground while adding another 103 yards passing.

Top-Ranked AAA Teams Win In W. Va.

The top-ranked Class AAA high school football teams recorded victories Friday night while there were at least four mild upsets in the AA and A ranks.

At least six teams in all three divisions remained undefeated and untied. In the order of their ratings here's how they did.

St. Albans drubbed South Charleston 39-0, Buckhannon-Upshur whipped Fairmont East 24-2, Huntington ambled by Logan 20-7, and Big Creek of War had the closest call among the leaders beating Gary, the top-ranked AA team, 19-13.

The other two unbeaten-untied squads are Class A members Wirt County of Elizabeth, which crushed Calhoun County of Grantsville 48-7, a Class AA team; and Green Bank, which drubbed Cowen 45-6.

Wirt County was second in last week's standings and Green Bank 5th.

In games involving other AAA leaders, 5th-ranked Clarksburg Victory ended Summersville's five-game winning streak 34-13 and 7th place Charleston fashioned its sixth in a row, 40-14 over Parkersburg.

No. 8 Bluefield gave Jefferson Senior of Roanoke, Va., a 47-0 shellacking.

East Bank is scheduled at Charleston to battle No. 6 Stonewall Jackson tonight and No. 9 Belle DuPont was not scheduled this weekend.

The AA standings might be in for a shake-up after the top two teams dropped games to AAA teams. Besides No. 2 Gary's loss to Big Creek, top-ranked Ripley was handed its first defeat by Sissonville 27-6. Sissonville had lost five of its six games prior to meeting Ripley.

Third-ranked Ceredo-Kenova was not scheduled and No. 4 Berkeley Springs handcuffed Hedgesville 20-0. No. 5 Matewan Magnolia is scheduled against Belfry, Ky., at home tonight.

The Class A leader Crum, is scheduled at Frazier's Bottom Hannan tonight.

Pushing Crum for that top spot is Wirt County, which boasts the state's No. 2 scorer. Going into Friday night's game, Richard Cain had 109 points and he added 26 more against Calhoun.

The mild upsets included unranked Fayetteville's 14-6 victory over No. 8 Lookout Nuttall in AA, and un-ranked Meadow Bridge's 13-13 loggerhead with No. 3 Lewisburg.

Unbeaten Stanton Blanks Rival, 20-0

Hale Scores Two On Long Dashes

Junior halfback Jack Hale broke away on touchdown runs of 78 and 75 yards to spark undefeated Stanton Local to its sixth straight victory, 20-0, Friday night at Springfield Local.

The victory boosted Stanton's stock and may advance the Red Raiders higher than their sixth position in last week's Class A poll.

THE LATEST victory for Coach Glenn Trout's eleven opened with an exchange of fumbles with Stanton gaining control finally on its own 25.

On the second play from scrimmage, Stanton broke Hale loose for a 75 yard touchdown run. The run for the conversion failed but Stanton was on its way to victory No. 6.

IN THE second period, Stanton grounded out a 60 yard drive with Elmer Tice going the final two yards. Grimm then hit Tom Dunlap with a two-point conversion pass.

In the third period on the first play from scrimmage Hale lugged the football 78 yards for his second touchdown of the night. This climaxed a big night for Hale who gained 217 yards in 13 carries.

On two other occasions Stanton was on the Springfield two yard line when the first half ended and the three yard line when the game ended.

SPRINGFIELD didn't have a serious threat throughout the contest as Coach Glenn Sutherin's team failed to get inside the 30 yard line as Stanton's stout defense turned in another shutout.

Stanton had a 13-11 lead in first downs and the alert defensive backs intercepted four passes.

Celts On Way Again; Bulls Lead In West

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics appear to be off and running as usual in the National Basketball Association. But how do you explain the Chicago Bulls?

The Celtics clobbered the Baltimore Bullets 111-91 Friday night for a first place tie in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia, while Chicago, the league's new franchise, remained on top in the West by defeating defending division champion Los Angeles 108-101 for its fourth victory in five games.

Keith Erickson with 20 points and Guy Rodgers with 17 led the Bulls, who broke a 53-53 tie. The Lakers, playing without backcourt ace Jerry West, got 29 points from Elgin Baylor. Los Angeles is 1-3 and tied for last in the West with Detroit, which lost to San Francisco 136-91.

Boston had no trouble keeping pace with Philadelphia, which beat St. Louis 119-110, as John Havlicek came off the bench after the first period to score 28 points. Celtics player-coach Bill Russell cleared the bench in the fourth period. Don Ohl led Baltimore with 21 points.

Philadelphia came from behind on its home court to beat St. Louis. The Hawks led 38-25 in the first half before the 76ers rallied. The Hawks stayed in contention until Bill Cunningham broke loose in the second half to widen a 79-77 Philadelphia lead to 87-81. Cunningham got 23 points, 18 of them in the second half. Wilt Chamberlain also scored 23 for the 76ers although top scoring honors went to Hal Greer with 30. Richie Guerin paced the Hawks with 28.

San Francisco's Rick Barry scored 37 points and Nate Thurmond added 26 plus domination of the backboards in pacing the Warriors to their easy victory over Detroit. Rookie Dave Bing scored 25 and Tom Van Arsdale got 24 for the Pistons.

TOKYO (AP) — Southpaw Claude Osteen was scheduled to pitch against Hasaichi Kaneda of the Yomiuri Giants today as the Los Angeles Dodgers opened an 18-game tour of Japan.

Louisville Rolls To 35th Straight

LOUISVILLE — Lisbon went to Louisville with a mediocre 1-6 record and came home 1-7 after being smothered by Louisville 72-0 Friday night as the Leopards rolled to their 35th straight win.

Dick Kuhn launched the massacre by blocking a Blue Devil punt and running 10 yards for a goal. Stan Vozar ran for extra points. This was followed by Mike Chlebeck's three yard run and a similar performance by Vozar. First quarter scoring ended on an intercepted pass by center Terry Smith who ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

Lisbon managed to hold the strong Stark County team to only one score in the second period — that coming by Hugh on a one yard plunge. Tom Gulling ran for the two points.

As the second half commenced fullback Chlebeck ran 70 yards for pay dirt, then end Terry Edwards blocked a punt and ran it 15 yards for another score. Chlebeck ran the conversion. It was Vozar again, on a one yard plunge with Gulling doing the post-to honors. Final third quarter scoring came on an 11-yard keeper by quarterback Dick Parker. The extra point run failed.

In the final period Lisbon didn't let Louisville complete their conversions after a pair of touchdowns. The two scores were on a 49 yard run by Mark Sigler and a 40 yard run by Terry Sanblanet.

Louisville gained 357 yards to 91 by Lisbon. Blue Devil fans admit they were outclassed but point to the fact that they handed the Leopards four td's on fumbles, blocked punts and interceptions.

Ortiz Faces Ultiminio In Title Defense

MEXICO CITY (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York makes his second title defense of the year tonight when he meets Ultiminio (Sugar) Ramos in Mexico City's El Toreo bull ring.

The fight, Ramos' first shot at a title since he lost his world featherweight crown to Mexican Vicente Saldivar in 1964, is to start 8:15 p.m. EDT. A sellout crowd of about 25,000 is expected for the second title bout here since August.

Ramos, a Cuban who now lives in Mexico City, is known as a strong, aggressive fighter. He has 35 knockouts in his 47-2 record. He's only been stopped once — by Saldivar.

Ortiz, 30, has never been knocked out in his 11-year career as a professional. He has a 45-5-1 record which includes 16 knockouts.

The champion was expected to barely make the 135-pound limit when the fighters stepped on the scales.

Ramos, who had some trouble making the featherweight limit at times, is not expected to have any trouble with the lightweight limit.

LBJ's Okay Of Pro Grid Merger Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation granting antitrust immunity to the proposed merger of the American and National football leagues has completed its tortuous journey through Congress.

President Johnson's signature is considered certain, since the provision was attached as a rider to the Administration's anti-inflation tax bill.

With only six members present, the Senate approved by voice vote Friday the amendment exempting the merger from antitrust laws. The measure had cleared the House a day earlier.

A key provision would permit the two leagues to hold a common draft, thus eliminating the bidding that brought huge bonuses and salaries to untried college players.

The bill also extends to high school football games on Friday nights the same protection colleges now have against televised professional football games on Saturdays.

Braves Hire Kennedy To Fill Coach Ranks

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have filled out their 1967 coaching ranks with the acquisition of Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs in 1963 and 1964.

The Braves announced Kennedy's hiring Friday but did not say what his duties will be. He managed Albuquerque of the Texas League last season.

Columbiana Tops Sebring

SEBRING — Bill Ward tallied twice as Columbiana spoiled Sebring's homecoming with a 20-6 victory here Friday night.

Ward scored from the one twice while John Cope raced 30 yards in the closing seconds of the game.

Columbiana scored in the first period but Sam Bailey tallied for Sebring from two yards out leaving the halftime score at 7-6.

Vanlier Tallies 3 As Leopards Post 7th

ROCHESTER—The undefeated Midland Leopards were hard pressed to gain their seventh consecutive victory here Friday night before scoring a 26-17 decision over a fired up Rochester eleven as Dave Vanlier hit paydirt three times.

The final score really doesn't indicate the closeness of the game since Midland scored its final touchdown on the last play of the contest giving the Leopards a nine point margin instead of a three point difference.

Coach Joe Hamilton's Leopards continue as one of two teams remaining in the WPIAL Class A race. Montour also remained unbeaten by tripping South Allegheny 27-6 last night.

Rochester drew first blood moving to a 3-0 lead on a field goal by Roland Berry from 11 yards out in the first period.

MIDLAND took the lead in the second period and scored 20 points in that quarter. Rich Mahurt banged over from the four yard line as the conversion was missed for a 6-3 lead.

The Rams bounced right back on Steve Vinceguerra's 32 yard touchdown sprint and Berry converted to a 10-6 Rochester lead.

Five plays after the Rams had hit paydirt, Jan Samuels launched a 39 yard pass to Dave Vanlier to put the ball on the Rochester. The next play, Vanlier scooted 14 yards for the touchdown and Granito's conversion made it 13-10 Midland.

WITH 20 seconds to go in the half Midland upped the score to 20-10 on Vanlier's second touchdown of the period when he raced 10 yards to paydirt.

The Leopards weren't out of the woods yet and after a scoreless third period, Rochester scored on a seven yard pass from Chuck Pinchotti to Dennis Clayton with 8:19 left in the contest. Berry's conversion brought the Rams within three points, 20-17.

ROCHESTER later drove to the Midland 21 but alert defensive work by Jimmy Smith and John Williams, who knocked down enemy passes, ended the threat.

Midland took over on its 21 and sticking to the ground moved 79 yards with the final seven yards a pass from Samuels to Vanlier who scored his third TD of the night.

The statistics were close right down the line. Midland had a 15-14 edge in first downs ran up 189 yards rushing and 94 passing. Rochester had 202 rushing and 59 in the air.

Rochester now shows a 4-3 record.

Midland's next contest will be at New Brighton Friday.

Southern Shocks JU With 8-8 Deadlock

Pittsburgh Pirate broadcaster Bob Prince frequently comments, "Almost doesn't count except in horseshoes and quoits."

But Southern Local fans learned that "almost" also counts in football as the Indians scored what probably was their greatest moral victory when they tied highly - rated Jefferson Union 8-8 at home Friday night.

JU, an undefeated powerhouse last season, brought a 5-1 record to Southern last night, with a loss to Wintersville the only blemish.

Coach Beau Bell's Southern Local team now hasn't been beaten for three weeks with two victories and a tie, bringing its record to 3-3-1. Bell cast the highest praise on his players for their outstanding performance against heavy odds Friday.

In a crazy, one-way (statistically - speaking) battle, Jefferson Union opened the scoring on a pass play from quarterback Laurie Kelly to end Paul Grafton which covered 25 yards. Two more points were added as Kelly hit Van Taylor in the end zone. The score came late in the first period.

It was a 25-yard TD pass for Southern in the second quarter as signal - caller John McCord connected with Richard Rose for a score. McCord ran for the points to produce the 8-8 tie.

The defensive game was marked by the talented punting of Rose, a sophomore, who averaged some 47 yards. The second half produced no serious threats from either team. Rose continually kept JU backed deep in its own territory, while the entire Southern defense did its part.

Jefferson Union chalked up most of its yardage in its own territory. JU had a net yardage of 236, 145 on the ground and 91 in the air. Southern totaled only 56 yards.

Jefferson's statistical victory is illustrated further by passing records. JU hit 11 of 27 tries to Southern's four for seven. Southern Local had five first downs and the Yellow Jackets 14. Penalties cost Jefferson Union 95 yards and Southern 25.

Rams Must Take Bears, Cards Need Browns Aid

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League Sunday.

The Rams, 4-2, are at Chicago, 2-3, and figure it a must game to stay close. Western leader Green Bay, 5-1, is a lopsided favorite over winless Atlanta at Milwaukee.

To stay close, the Rams must stop Gale Sayers. And to do that — as the Packers did last week in a 17-0 victory, "It's a matter of not making any mistakes."

The advice to the Rams came from all-pro defensive end Willie Davis of Green Bay, one of the key figures in containing the Bears' flash.

"Last year, Sayers made the defense make mistakes," Davis said. "This year, we knew what he could do and knew we had to keep him contained. He forces you to play a game of no mistakes."

St. Louis, leading the East at 5-0-1, is at Baltimore, 3-2; Philadelphia, 3-3, at New York, 1-4-1; and Detroit 2-4, is at San Francisco 2-2-1.

If Cleveland is to keep alive its hopes for a repeat as the Eastern Conference champions, the Browns must stop Olympic champion Bob Hayes. St. Louis did it last week, limiting him to three catches for 24 yards and breaking a string of seven straight games in which he had scored a touchdown.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said St. Louis defensive back Abe Woodson, who did the next-to-impossible. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

The Browns will need the same sort of rush to stop Don Meredith, second in the league in passing, while Dallas' good defense will be tested in the running of Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly.

The St. Louis pass defense is in for another workout at Washington, with Sonny Jurgensen and Bobby Mitchell posing the problems. Mitchell leads the league with 28 receptions. The Cards had to rally for 17 points in the fourth quarter to beat Washington a month ago.

The Packers lead the league in total defense and passing defense and look for little trouble from the Falcons, still without a victory in their first season. Donnie Anderson and Jim Grabowski may expect to get some work as subs for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

The Minnesota-Baltimore game shapes up as a battle between Johnny Unitas and Fran Tarkenton. Unitas was 18 of 27 for 218 yards and four touchdowns, while Tarkenton was 21 for 37 and 327 yards and three touchdowns last week in the Vikings' first victory. He may find the Colt defense a little tougher.

Philadelphia and New York will be playing for the second time this year, the Eagles taking the first one 35-17. The Giants scored their first victory last week and the Eagles won after two straight losses.

San Francisco has won two straight while the Lions are having their troubles. The winner goes ahead in all-time series now tied at 16-16-1.

Southern Freshmen Tie Leetonia, 6-6

The Southern Local freshman football team, with a tie under their belts this week, is pointing toward a game with Carrollton Thursday afternoon at 5 at the Southern Local field.

Ralph (Butch) Dangelo scored on a 6-yard run in the last 20 seconds of the game with Leetonia Thursday to give the Indians a 6-6 tie. Leetonia had a touchdown in the second quarter.

Leetonia Shocks Poland By 20-0

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Bears upset the Poland Bulldogs here Friday night 20-0 in a Tri - County League contest.

No scoring took place in the first frame but with 10:50 showing on the scoreboard in the second period quarterback Ed Casey sneaked over from the one. Placekicker Fred Bruderly booted the extra point.

In the third quarter halfback Tom Coseno ran 36 yards downfield for the Bears' second tally. The extra point attempt failed on an unsuccessful run.

The final score came in the fourth period as Casey threw 17 yards to his brothr Paul. Bruderly again scored the extra point.

Leetonia logged a total of 366 yards in the surprise victory and tied Poland for first downs 12-12. They completed four passes out of eight tries and had one intercepted. Poland lost three passes and their aerial record was five for 13.

LEETONIA	0	7	6	7	—20

Leetonia — Casey 1 yard run. (Bruderly kick)

Leetonia — Caseno 36 yard run. (Run failed)

Leetonia — P. Casey 17 yd. pass from E. Casey. (Bruderly kick)

Palestine Drops First Loop Game

EAST PALESTINE — The Bulldogs suffered their first Tri-county defeat Friday night as they fell in front of the Minerva Lions 12-6.

The ball alternated during the first half and scoring didn't begin until early in the third quarter when East Palestine took a kickoff and went 50 yards to the Minerva 20. After reaching the one, halfback Jim Parker plunged over for the Bulldog's only score. An extra point run failed.

Minerva came right back in the third and following a pass interception scored on a weird chain of events. Mike Simms plunged over from the three and dropped the ball in the end zone. The fumble was recovered and the score insured by teammate Tom Wiedlebacher, an end, who fell on it. The extra point attempt failed here too.

The Lions final scoring came midway in the fourth quarter as Simms took a pass from quarterback Andy Battista and went 41 yards to pay dirt. Final score 12-6.

Minerva had 17 first downs to East Palestine's 14. The losing squad threw 27 times but connected only seven occasions. They were obviously hampered by the absence of quarterback Walt Harriet and fullback Ray Bush.

Minerva's first half drives were continually cut short by penalties (they had 75 yards counted off against them) and East Palestine lost the Parent's Night game largely on fumbles and too-short passes.

MINERVA	0	0	6	6	—12
E. PALESTINE	0	0	6	0	— 6

East Palestine — Parker one yard run. (run failed)

Minerva — Simms one yard run. (run failed)

Steve Spurrier New LSU Worry

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at five.

Just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawain DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia. LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1.

In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California. But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

A Look At Two More Amendments

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON (AP) — More pay and more time in session for legislators and easier voting of tax increases and bond issues for schools are provided in the last two of five constitutional amendments that will be on the Nov. 8 West Virginia election ballot.

The Legislative Amendment, No. 4 on the ballot, would:

Raise the salaries of state senators and delegates from $1,500 to $2,500 a year.

Permit the legislature to pass a law providing payments to members, in addition to salaries, for their expenses "in connection with any session and party caucuses and the performances of authorized interim assignments." The amendment places no ceiling on expense payments.

Provide for regular legislative sessions lasting not more than 60 days every year, without restriction on the agenda.

PROPOSAL No. 5, carrying the ballot title Amendment to the Better Schools Amendment would:

Lower from 60 per cent to a simple majority the margin required for approval in county elections on excess property tax levies and bond issues for school financing.

Approving the legislative amendment for hopeful presentation to the voters, the legislature went on the theory that a proposal calling for more pay would fare better at the polls if it also called for more work. History lends some support to the theory.

The constitution now provides for 60-day sessions in the odd numbered years and 30-day sessions in the even years. These are maximum, rather than required, durations. In practice the sessions always run the entire 60 or 30 days.

The 60-day sessions operate without constitutional restriction of their business.

However, the 30-day meetings in the even years are limited to action on the budget, business laid down by the governor, and other legislation approved for introduction by two-thirds votes of both houses.

In providing for a 60-day session every year, the pending amendment would do away with agenda restrictions. It would relieve the governor of the politically prickly duty of decreeing every other year, what business and legislature should take up.

At present legislators get no reimbursement for their substantial lodging and meal expenses while attending sessions in Charleston.

The constitution's only present authorization for expense payments provides 10 cents a mile for one round trip between home and Charleston per legislative session and, every other year, for one additional round trip to attend pre-session party caucuses.

THE REVISED version in the pending amendment does not mention mileage payments. These could be continued, however, under the proposed authorization for expenses payments "as may be provided by general law."

Legislators have caught criticism over their failure to place a constitutional ceiling on expenses they could vote themselves if the amendment is ratified.

This is the only one of the five amendments on which the West Virginia Farm Bureau did not take a stand, for or against. The bureau said many of its voting delegates "favor an increase in pay for state legislators. They do not favor, however, providing for expenses without limitation."

Fearful the amendment was headed for defeat, the legislature's between - sessions Joint Committee on Government and Finance undertook last month to bolster its chances.

Although the action is not binding, the committee recommended expense ceilings for adoption by the incoming legislature if the amendment is ratified.

The main ceilings urged by the committee were "actual expenses for food and lodging not to exceed $15 per day" and 10 cents a mile for a maximum of three round trips between home and Charleston during each annual session.

Among states adjoining West Virginia, legislative salaries in the two largest — Pennsylvania and Ohio — do not provide a meaningful comparison, because of different situations, for purposes of weighing the merits of the pending amendment.

Pennsylvania pays legislators $12,000 a year, including $4,800 for expenses. But serving in the legislature there is nearly a full-time career. Sessions are annual without limit or duration. This year's session already has lasted nine months and is still in progress.

Ohio legislators get $8,000 a year. Sessions are held every two years and generally last at least six months.

IN VIRGINIA, sessions are bi-ennial, lasting 60 days. Legislators there got a raise this year. New rates are $35 a day in session, plus $600 a year for expenses. This means lawmakers get $2,100 in years when the legislature meets, $600 in the off-years.

Kentucky, another state with biennial 60-day sessions pays $25 a day salary and $25 a day expenses, which comes to $3,000 for a regular session.

The Maryland legislature meets annually for 70 days. Members are paid $1,800 a year plus $25 a day for expenses in session, a total of $3,550 a year.

Endorsements of the Legislative Amendment have come from the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO; the executive committee of the West Virginia Education Association, and United Mine Workers District 17.

The 17,000-member WVEA is leading the fight to put across the schools amendment. Parents attending recent PTA meetings have come away with handfuls of literature urging ratification.

At present, constitutional ceilings on property tax rates may be exceeded by a maximum of 100 per cent for up to five years at a time to provide added revenue for schools if at least 60 per cent of those voting in a special county election approve. The 60 per cent requirement also applies to school bond issue elections.

The amendment would lower the required approval margin for excess school levies and school bond issues to a simple majority—50 per cent plus one.

The WVEA calls the 60 per cent requirement undemocratic and says "it allows a minority to control the improvement of education in West Virginia, and it makes the majority a voiceless majority."

From July 1, 1959, through June 30 this year, there were 133 special levy or bond issue elections — all for school financing — in West Virginia counties.

Seventy-six of the proposals passed and 57 were defeated. But the WVEA notes that 21 of the defeated proposals received approval by a majority of those voting, although falling short of 60 per cent.

The Farm Bureau, opposing the amendment, observes that many of those voting to raise property taxes are not property owners. The bureau says: "It is reasonable that a 10 per cent margin of safety should be provided for property owners."

Organizations endorsing the amendment include the State Chamber of Commerce the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, and UMW District 17.

Humphrey Campaigns in West

Get Out Vote Or Face Defeat, Democrats Told

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey campaigns from the mountains of Colorado to his home state of Minnesota today with a warning that Democrats had better get out the vote or face defeats in the November election.

"There has never been a Democratic victory with a small vote," Humphrey told a Democratic rally in Denver Friday night.

The vice president, who has a measure of personal prestige at stake in how the Minnesota elections go, said the polls in his home state show the Democrats are apt to suffer a defeat if only the "likely voters" go to the polls Nov. 8.

"But if the eligible voters turn out we will have a Democratic sweep in Minnesota," said Humphrey.

The same thing holds true in Colorado and many other states, he said.

To underscore his warning, Humphrey said the 80th Congress, the one former President Harry S. Truman labeled as the "do-nothing Congress," was elected in 1946 with less than 40 per cent of the eligible voters casting ballots.

Humphrey is in the midst of a four-day, seven-state swing to help Democratic candidates — particularly those who appear to be in tough fights.

In the big stock center of Kansas City, Kan., today Humphrey declared that in the long run "our food power — far more than military power — can be the critical factor in the achievement both of Democratic institutions and in the safety of the world."

The vice president described food as "our secret weapon" and added: "Let us use the tremendous resources at our command to bring health, education, food and the techniques of modern agriculture to struggling nations living in the shadow of famine and outside aggression."

At a series of news conferences during his sweep through Nebraska, Utah and Colorado Friday, Humphrey faced questions ranging from the war in Viet Nam to a housewives' boycott of some food store chains in Denver.

Humphrey said the Denver housewives were exercising their rights.

Consumers, Humphrey said, have four basic rights — the right to safety, the right to choose, the right to be informed and the right to be heard.

Mrs. Johnson Saluted By Australian Premier

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson was saluted today by Australia's prime minister, the press and a crowd that roared "hip, hip, hooray" for the American first lady.

Anti-Viet Nam demonstrators, for the most part, left her out of their protests. An egg splattered against the back of her car but apparently she didn't know it.

The women of Sydney, engaged in beautification efforts, let loose a flock of pigeons as Mrs. Johnson passed Queen's Square in the motorcade.

Someone waved a newspaper headline reading "Exclusive: Lyndon's Best Asset — Lady Bird."

Prime Minister Harold Holt who has referred to Mrs. Johnson as the president's "better half," told a big reception at The Art Gallery of New South Wales that she was not only "a helpmate" to the President, but "a scene stealer" as well.

A woman in the welcoming crowd of thousands stepped up to Mrs. Johnson's car and told her: "Bless you, you look like a queen." Mrs. Johnson said: "No, just a plain wife."

Mrs. Johnson, obviously tired from the strains of the four-day-old Asian trip, was up before 7 a.m. again today for the rigorous schedule.

With no separate program of her own, she rode in the motorcades behind the President who was in his bubble top car, windows mainly closed for fear demonstrators might throw paint as they did at Melbourne.

Her Secret Service agent, Jerry Kivett, who took a dowsing of paint Friday, was cleaned up and back on duty.

But Mrs. Johnson said there were no demonstrations against her car as the presidential motorcade went through booing, jeering, Viet Nam war protestors.

Some of them pounded on cars in the motorcade, but Mrs. Johnson said none came near hers.

There were a few signs directed to Lady Bird. One of them read: "Lady Bird, Lady Bird, Fly away home. Your house is on fire — and children are burning in Viet Nam."

But, where the women of Sydney had set up an attractive garden display and loosed the pigeons for Mrs. Johnson, a red white and blue banner stretched across the street with the greeting: "Happy Stay — Lady Bird."

200 Youths Go On Rampage At Pittsburgh Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nearly 200 teenagers rampaged in nearby Swissvale Friday night, breaking windows and creating terror following high school football game between Swissvale and Duquesne.

Police said four youths were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, but their names were not made public.

About 60 police from Pittsburgh, with K9 dogs, as well as police from Rankin, Wilkinsburg, Forest Hills, Braddock and North Braddock raced to the scene of the disturbance.

Police said at its height, the trouble reached near riot proportions.

Swissvale Police Chief Peter R. Begg said the trouble began when one man was arrested for creating a disturbance. The chief said crowds of youths then began shouting, screaming and yelling in a two-block area.

A windshield of a passing car was smashed during the brawl, police said, but the only injury reported was a cut head of one of the youths.

Yellowstone National Park comprises 2,221,000 acres.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Oct. 22, the 295th day of 1966. There are 70 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1746, a charter was granted for the College of New Jersey, known today as Princeton.

On this date:

In 1721, Peter the Great became czar of all Russia.

In 1811, Hungarian composer Franz Liszt was born.

In 1833, the Metropolitan Opera House in New York City was opened.

In 1942, the British Royal Air Force bombed the Italian Port of Genoa.

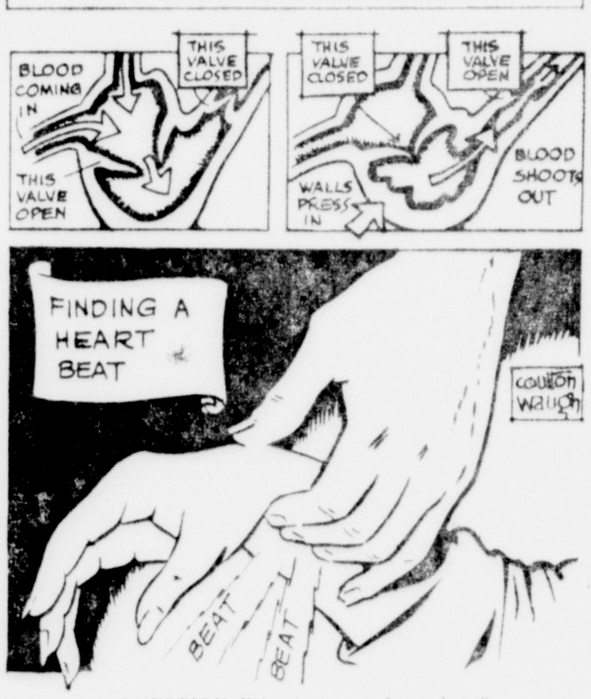
In 1945, Allied occupation authorities announced all Germans were to have equal rights and Nazi laws granting special privileges to some had been repealed.

Ten years ago — Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold of the United Nations released his annual report in which he recommended the U.N. be used as an instrument for negotiation of settlements rather than merely a place to debate issues.

Five years ago—Nine armed military policemen entered East Berlin twice to enforce the rights of a U.S. diplomat to go into the Communist-held sector of Berlin without being stopped by East German border guards.

One year ago—An all-white jury at Hayneville, Ala., acquitted Ku Klux Klansman Collie Leroy Wilkins of the murder of a white civil rights worker, Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit.

Junior Editors Quiz on YOUR HEART



QUESTION: Why does your heart beat?

ANSWER: The heart is a pump which keeps a human being alive by circulating the blood. This circulation picks up oxygen from the lungs, brings this as well as food materials to the body cells and carries away waste materials. After circulating around, the blood is pumped to the lungs for more oxygen, then back to the heart and around the body again. Two separate chambers of the heart are needed to do these jobs. We show how the right chamber works. Blood enters from the veins. Two doors of a valve in the chamber then close, preventing blood in the lower part, or ventricle, from flowing back. Now another valve leading to the lungs opens, and the powerful heart walls squeeze in, forcing the blood out toward the lung. Meanwhile, a similar pump is operating in the left heart chamber, this one sending blood throughout the body. As the two pumps work as the same time, the action can be felt as a pulse or hearbeat. A normal heart will give from 70 to 80 beats a minute. Between beats, the hard-working human heart gets some rest.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can feel someone's heart beat by placing your fingertips lightly against the inside top part of the wrist.

Bill Shouse of Portsmouth, N. H., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

Irondale Curfew Set Until Oct. 30

IRONDALE — An 8 o'clock curfew has been established here, through Oct. 30, by village officials in conjunction with the Halloween season.

All those under the age of 18 must be home by the curfew unless accompanied by their parents, officials said.

Question Raised In Levy Notice On Television Cable

Does the Ohio law on "unsigned political communications" apply to a plea in support of the East Liverpool school levy seen intermittently on one channel of the local cable television system?

That question was raised today by Robert Conkle of Grandview Ave., who identified himself Friday as the person distributing unsigned auto bumper stickers urging a vote against the levy.

Conkle said a notice urging a vote in favor of the 3½-mill levy at the Nov. 8 general election has been placed on Channel 5 of the service of the system of CATV of the Ohio Valley, Inc., but the notice does not show the name and address of the person or organization responsible for it.

Conkle said he called the notice to the attention of John Hales, manager of the system. Hales said use of the notice probably will be discontinued pending a clarification of the law. There apparently is no clearcut ruling whether the law applies specifically to cable TV systems, although it covers political messages used on radio and TV broadcast facilities.

None Injured In 2 Mishaps

No one was injured in two minor auto mishaps Friday night, police reported.

A backing car was blamed for a collision at 10:05 p.m. on the city - owned parking lot on Market St. at 3rd St.

A backing 1959 two-door sedan driven by Emmett McComas, 17, of 1719 Globe St. bumped a parked 1966 convertible owned by Richard W. Allison of Myler Park, officers said.

McComas told Patrolman David K. Mumaw he was maneuvering out of a parking space and did not see Allison's car because the rear window of his car was obscured by mist.

The mishap damaged the right rear of Allison's car and the rear bumper of the McComas auto, registered in the name of Clarinda McComas, also of 1719 Globe St.

Minor damage resulted to a 1964 sedan driven by William P. Taylor, 21, of 423 Grant St. in a collision Friday night on E. 6th St. 20 feet west of Walnut St.

The mishap also involved a 1961 model panel truck driven by John E. West, 67, of 1827 Anderson Blvd. and owned by the Woodbine Laundry & Dry Cleaning Co.

Taylor said his car was halted when the truck drifted backward and struck it, damaging the grill and front splash pan. There was no damage to the truck, police said.

West said he thought his truck was in gear, but when he attempted to engage the clutch, the vehicle drifted backward. Patrolman Karl Samples investigated.

1,150 Join In Workshop On Educational Program

New methods and principles in teaching were presented when more than 1,000 from school systems throughout Columbiana County took part in a workshop at Westgate School here.

Teachers, administrators, guidance counselors and school nurses were present for the day-long program, which included discussions by 56 consultants and displays of 54 exhibitors.

Carl F. Pelini, assistant superintendent of East Liverpool schools, was chairman of the workshop. He reported an official registration of 1,150.

SESSIONS were set up through the cooperation of the consultants, who represented the Ohio Department of Education, textbook and school product manufacturers, psychologists, athletic directors and other specialists.

The first 30 minutes of the hour - long classes were used by the consultants for their presentations. A general discussion and question - and - answer period followed.

Pelini pointed out yesterday was the first time educational representatives of the entire county had assembled for such a conference. In addition to East Liverpool, East Palestine, Fairfield - Waterford, Southern Local, United Local, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Columbiana, Leetonia, Lisbon Salem and the county superintendent's office sent personnel.

All schools were closed for the day.

Talks ranged from "New Ideas In Elementary Education" by Carl Dabney and "Ungraded Programs" by Ruth Hudson, both of the Ohio Department of Education.

THIS DISCUSSION took place at one of the various displays offered during Friday's workshop at Westgate School here.

AREA COACHES heard Ambrose Brazelton discuss elementary physical education and Howard Meyer of the Ohio High School Athletic Association the accrediting program.

Opening remarks were by Supt. Paul H. Blair. The Rev. Charles Kampmeyer offered the invocation.

Pelini, pointing to "the number of consultants and exhibitors and the wide variety of topics," termed the conference a definite success.

"All those involved helped make it the type of program of which we can be proud in Columbiana County."

LBJ Greeted By Million In Sydney

Marred By Sharp Demonstration Of U.S. Role In Viet

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)— President Johnson rode past a million cheering Australians in Sydney today, donned cowboy togs for a Texas-style barbecue outside Canberra and came to Brisbane looking weary and strained tonight, the eve of his flight to the Manila Summit Conference.

The wild welcome in Sydney, the nation's largest city, was marred by the sharpest demonstration Australia has seen against the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, the President told a crowd in Brisbane:

"This is the most wonderful visit that I have ever been on. It is a sentimental journey."

Brisbane is the last tour point in Australia for the President and his wife Lady Bird, except for a refueling stop at Townsville Sunday on his 3,700-mile flight to Manila.

In Brisbane some people had waited seven hours in frosty weather for President Johnson to arrive from Canberra.

Speaking at the airport, Johnson paid tribute to the people of Brisbane, saying that a million American GIs had passed through the city in World War II.

Calling his wife to wave to the crowd, President Johnson said: "She didn't get to come with me in '42 and we have been quarreling about it ever since."

Johnson served in Australia and New Zealand as a Navy lieutenant commander in World War II.

Local officials today named a park near Brisbane's airport, "Lyndon Johnson Park." The park contains one of the first Australian - American war memorials, honoring the men of the two countries who died in World War II.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Brisbane.

Johnson wore Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue but changed to a business suit for the Canberra farewell, held in bitingly cold weather.

The President looked tired as he inspected an honor guard while a 21-gun salute boomed out.

Johnson drove directly to Fairbairn Airport outside Canberra after attending the barbecue at Lanyon Station 17 miles away. The cookout was given by an old friend, Edward Clark, the U.S. ambassador to Australia.

At the 10,000-acre ranch, Johnson met an Australian soldier recently returned from service in Viet Nam. The soldier presented the President with an Australian digger's slouch hat.

There were no demonstrators in sight as Johnson departed and tons of confetti and streamers were tossed in salute. There were many hundreds of home-lettered signs of welcome.

Early in the day, Johnson stopped and got out of his car several times to greet well-

Next Week Indicated

Fresh Reports Say LBJ To Visit Viet War Front

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting in South Viet Nam lapsed again into small patrol skirmishes today amid fresh reports that President Johnson would visit the war front next week.

U. S. officials would not confirm these reports but they did not deny them. They stemmed largely from extra security measures under way.

In battle action, U. S. pilots said they knocked out an unusually high number of cargo barges — 154 — along the North Vietnamese coastline Friday. The large-scale water traffic suggested that the Communists were turning increasingly to the sea to move their supplies instead of along relentlessly bombed railroads and highways.

American planes flew 120 bombing missions Friday over the Communist north and the forays reportedly cost one plane, the 407th loss of the war. A U. S. spokesman announced that an Air Force F105 Thunderchief went down and that its pilot was missing.

U.S. intelligence reports indicated the Viet Cong would step up terrorism and military activity during the Manila summit conference next Monday and Tuesday. Informants would not give the basis of these reports, which usually come from prisoners, captured documents and behind-lines agents.

The most talked-of date for a possible visit by President Johnson after the Manila summit conference was next Thursday while Johnson is en route from Manila to Thailand. Some of the renewed speculation arose after an announcement that Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky would return from Manila early Thursday afternoon and the possibility developed that he would accompany Johnson.

Ky will leave Saigon at 8 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. today EDT) for the two-day Manila conference, which opens Monday. Ky and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state, will head a 14-member South Vietnamese delegation.

If Johnson comes Thursday, his most likely destination for a stop of a few hours would be the big U. S. Marine Base at Da Nang in the northern part of the country. The heavily guarded visit to Da Nang Friday of South Korean President Chung Hee Park was seen by some observers as a "test run" for a Johnson visit.

In war action, the U. S. military command reported small scale fighting in three scattered areas in which American troops killed 28 Communist soldiers and captured 21 others.

South Vietnamese headquarters said government forces killed 39 Viet Cong in two separate actions Friday.

Sidney Uhl Claimed In Stark Wreck

Grinding Head-On Collision Occurs South Of Alliance

An 18 - year - old Wellsville youth and a Minerva man were killed this morning in a grinding head-on collision about three miles south of Alliance.

Dead are Hubert Sidney Uhl of 2115 Chester Ave., Wellsville, and Thomas N. Casale, 23, of Minerva.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Massillon said the two were drivers of cars which rammed together on Route 183, about three miles south of Alliance at 7:10.

Officers said Uhl apparently was headed home from the American Steel Foundry Co. at Alliance, where he reportedly had completed his first night's work.

Uhl was the son of Mrs. Ray Wedger of 2115 Chester Ave.

Wellsville police were advised of the fatal collision through the State Highway Patrol.

Ironically, four men employes of the firm from East Liverpool and Chester were killed Oct. 8 while en route to work.

The patrol said Uhl was headed south and Casale was driving north, apparently en route to his job at the Transue-Williams Steel Forging Co. of Alliance. He is the son of the Acting Municipal Judge Joseph Casale at Alliance.

Officers said Uhl was left of center on a yellow line approaching a hillcrest when the crash occurred.

Uhl did not have seat belts in his 1957 model auto, officers reported. Casale had belts in his late model compact auto, but was not using one.

The MacLean Funeral Home at Wellsville is in charge of arrangements for the Wellsville victim.

Price Curbs Not Planned, Fowler Says

Treasury Secretary Declines To Rule Out Tax Increase

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today the administration does not intend to impose price controls as a means of combating inflation.

"Because our economy is so robust and resilient, there is not on any horizon we can now foresee the slightest prospect that controls will be required," Fowler told the fall meeting of the Business Council.

But the Treasury secretary declined in his prepared speech to rule out increases in income and corporate tax rates if inflationary pressures continue.

"It may well be that, in the months ahead, further restraints will be required in federal fiscal policy," Fowler said, adding: "I cannot — and will not — speculate on what further fiscal steps we might take."

Some of the 100 leading businessmen at the meeting said they would favor hikes in income and corporate tax rates if it is impossible to curb inflation through cuts in government spending.

Fowler admitted "some very real problems" exist in the economy — rising prices, "excessive exuberance of the capital goods sector and excessive weakness of the housing sector, and inflationary pressures."

But he said the administration has "every reason to expect that together government and the private sector can handle any current, or currently conceivable, problem within the framework of a free market economy."

Fowler again called on industry and labor to practice price and wage restraints, saying "the greatest single threat to price stability remains a regression to the self-defeating practices of earlier decades when the various sectors of our economy tried to seek gains at each other's expense."

He noted that in recent months the administration's wage-price guideposts, which he admitted were not perfect, "have been favored with numerous obituaries."

Senate Spurs Efforts For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today, "We have a quorum to do business," and the Senate convened to try to end the 1966 session of the 89th Congress.

Mansfield called his colleagues in this morning to try to pass an amendment - laden foreign investors tax bill and a $5 billion final supplemental appropriation measure. It is the former that could tie the Senate into knots.

So many and varied amendments have been tacked onto its main provisions, designed to encourage foreign investments in the United States, that opponents are calling it the "Christmas tree" bill.

Most of the controversy has centered on a rider to set up a permanent program of government financing of presidential campaigns through voluntary taxpayer contributions.

Further complicating Mansfield's drive for sine die adjournment is a disappearing quorum. With elections 17 days away, many senators — and House members — have gone home to campaign.

There was no call for a quorum—a majority of the 100 senators, 51 — immediately. But Mansfield said the Senate would have one by noon if it lacked one as it convened.

Mansfield said many senators

Aimed At Peace In Viet And Tighten Unity During War

MANILA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Asian allies began shaping today a seven-nation Manila conference agreement aimed at promoting peace for Viet Nam while tightening allied unity in carrying on the war.

Rusk met with Philippines Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos in the first of a series of talks expected to prepare the way for quick accord on key war-and-peace declarations in the summit sessions Monday and Tuesday.

Reports persisted among Asian diplomats of a hawks-and-doves split, with governments like South Korea and South Viet Nam fearful that President Johnson's emphasis on peace-seeking may mean some weakening of his war aims or lowering of the price for settlement in South Viet Nam.

U.S. authorities dismissed such apprehensions as unfounded. They said Johnson would not order a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam, timed with the Manila meeting.

Some critics of the war have said this would increase the conference's aura of peace.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen firemen were injured, none seriously, when part of a ceiling fell in today during a grease-fed blaze which flashed through a cafeteria in the Bronx about six blocks from Yankee Stadium.

One firefighter suffered smoke inhalation and was admitted to a hospital. The other 15 were treated at the scene.

About 125 men and 40 pieces of equipment responded after flames leaping from a grease duct in the East 167th Street cafeteria between River and Girard avenues, set the ceiling afire and chased patrons into the street.

Twelve New York City firemen were killed Monday night as a floor collapsed and they fell into a fire-swept basement.

Americans 'Distrust' LBJ, Goldwater Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona says Americans have "a feeling of distrust" for President Johnson.

"You may have had a dislike for Truman, but at least you know where he stood," Goldwater said Friday night.

"You knew where Ike stood and you knew where Kennedy stood. But this one — we don't know what he is up to."

Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee in 1964, was in Miami to support GOP congressional candidate Mike Thompson.

Rescuers Block Moving Coal Mine Refuse Heap

ABERFAN, Wales (AP) — Rescue workers today succeeded in halting a moving mountain of coal mine refuse which had engulfed a school and at least 14 homes in this tiny Welsh village, leaving 200 feared dead.

Engineers and miners worked nonstop through the night digging deep channels through the black sludge to divert water from building up inside the heap and causing possible further slides.

Half the 800-foot slag heap crashed down a green hillside Friday, crushing a junior school and a row of miners' cottages.

Rescue officials said that 130 bodies — nearly all children — have been dug out of the debris.

Officials said that no survivors had been found since Friday.

One minister said no special services would be held in the village's churches Sunday. "Hearts are breaking," he said. "The sorrow is too great for the usual sermons. We can only pray."

The Rev. Kenneth Hayes, pastor of the English Baptist Chapel, which has the largest membership in Aberfan, said he plans to conduct services. His 9-year-old son is among the missing.

District education director John Beale said 36 children who were rescued had been hospitalized and another 88 escaped when the disaster struck.

The bodies of David Benton, deputy head teacher at the school, and five children were found late Friday night.

"David was clutching the five little children in his arms as if to protect them," said the miner who found them. "He and the five children died clutching each other." The miner then lapsed into shock.

Rescue workers, some up to their knees in sludge, carefully picked through the debris of the buried schoolrooms. The slag was emptied onto the streets where giant yellow earth-moving machines loaded it onto dump trucks.

Bodies of the children, covered by red blankets, were carried out on stretchers and laid out for identification in a nearby chapel. Police allowed parents through one or two at a time.

Prime minister Harold Wilson and Lord Snowdon, husband of Princess Margaret, were among the first officials to arrive.

Wilson said after touring the disaster area: "I don't think any of us can find words to describe the tragedy. I am concerned to ensure that if steps can be taken even now to save just one life, that will be done."

Through the night giant arc lights lit up the scene of the disaster — one of the worst of its kind in Britain.

Rescue workers, most of them miners, were dragged from the scene as they swayed from fatigue.

Little hope was held for finding any more alive. The next thing was to take the roll call — a ritual in mine disasters in this Welsh countryside — to get an exact count of the toll.

The slag heap — waste from a century of digging at the nearby Merthyr Vale mine — slipped after being loosened by days of heavy rains. Few saw the ava-

In California Racial Violence

Teachers Demand Police Protect Them, Students

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Oakland teachers are demanding police protection for teachers and pupils and prosecution of anyone who encourages a school boycott.

The 2,200-member Oakland Teachers Association adopted the resolution Friday as a jittery calm replaced the sporadic racial violence which began Tuesday.

The teachers said that unless the Board of Education gives them the assurances they request they may carry their complaints to the National Education Association.

At predominantly Negro Castlemont High School Wednesday, a group of 250 Negro truants beat five white teachers and three white students and littered classrooms.

Absenteeism has soared to double the normal rate in the city's secondary and high schools.

Castlemont was quiet Friday after Dist. Atty. Frank Coakley of Alameda County declared there would be no leniency for vandals arrested in the racial disorders.

Fire bombing which characterized the disorders was replaced by a few rock-throwing and looting incidents in which teen-agers fled from a grocery store and a variety store with armloads of merchandise.

The teachers' resolution made these demands: Prosecution of anyone who encourages students to boycott classes in violation of state law; immediate expulsion of pupils who attack teachers or other pupils on school property; inbestigation of such incidents and appropriate utilization of law enforcement agencies to guarantee protection.

FBI Holding Belmont Bank Holdup Man

BRIDGEPORT, Ohio (AP)— The FBI has taken custody of a man accused of holding up a bank in nearby Lansing and taking a woman teller hostage before being headed off by police within minutes Friday.

The man arrested said he is Don Javo, 28, that he has a wife and four children in Sarasota, Fla., and that he had been staying in Cleveland recently.

He was taken to the Belmont County jail at St. Clairsville before being turned over to the FBI, which transferred him to Steubenville to await further developments.

The $2,750 stolen from the bank was all recovered and the teller, Mrs. Betty Miller, 39, was released unharmed after Bridgeport Police Chief John Agostinelli foiled the robbery.

Mrs. Miller said she was on duty at the Belmont County National Bank branch at Lansing, four miles west of here, when

Gov. Smith Unveils Plan For Improved Education

MORGANTOWN (AP) — A plan for two years of tuition-free education at state supported universities and colleges plus an ambitious building program for vocational, adult and graduate education was outlined here Friday by Gov. Hulett Smith.

The proposals immediately drew both interest and financial concern from legislative leaders, who were surprised by the governor's far-reaching proposals.

Billed as a major education policy speech, the governor said he will ask the next legislature to vote for the two - year tuition-free plan and to start work as well on his other ambitious proposals.

"I believe we can afford it and we have a moral obligation to do it," Smith said in a speech to a symposium on "The Public University in Its Second century," under way at West Virginia University.

The governor proposed for upgrading West Virginia's educational offerings:

— Two years of free college tuition for every qualified West Virginia high school graduate.

— Construction of at least five multi - county centers for technical, vocational and adult education within the next year.

— Provide more state support for branch colleges, which now depend almost entirely on community support, plus building new branch colleges as needed.

Rescue workers, some up to their knees in sludge, carefully picked through the debris of the buried schoolrooms. The slag was emptied onto the streets where giant yellow earth-moving machines loaded it onto dump trucks.

Bodies of the children, covered by red blankets, were carried out on stretchers and laid out for identification in a nearby chapel. Police allowed parents through one or two at a time.

Prime minister Harold Wilson and Lord Snowdon, husband of Princess Margaret, were among the first officials to arrive.

Wilson said after touring the disaster area: "I don't think any of us can find words to describe the tragedy. I am concerned to ensure that if steps can be taken even now to save just one life, that will be done."

Through the night giant arc lights lit up the scene of the disaster — one of the worst of its kind in Britain.

Rescue workers, most of them miners, were dragged from the scene as they swayed from fatigue.

Little hope was held for finding any more alive. The next thing was to take the roll call — a ritual in mine disasters in this Welsh countryside — to get an exact count of the toll.

The slag heap — waste from a century of digging at the nearby Merthyr Vale mine — slipped after being loosened by days of heavy rains. Few saw the ava-

Teachers Demand Police Protect Them, Students

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Oakland teachers are demanding police protection for teachers and pupils and prosecution of anyone who encourages a school boycott.

The 2,200-member Oakland Teachers Association adopted the resolution Friday as a jittery calm replaced the sporadic racial violence which began Tuesday.

The teachers said that unless the Board of Education gives them the assurances they request they may carry their complaints to the National Education Association.

At predominantly Negro Castlemont High School Wednesday, a group of 250 Negro truants beat five white teachers and three white students and littered classrooms.

Absenteeism has soared to double the normal rate in the city's secondary and high schools.

Castlemont was quiet Friday after Dist. Atty. Frank Coakley of Alameda County declared there would be no leniency for vandals arrested in the racial disorders.

Fire bombing which characterized the disorders was replaced by a few rock-throwing and looting incidents in which teen-agers fled from a grocery store and a variety store with armloads of merchandise.

The teachers' resolution made these demands: Prosecution of anyone who encourages students to boycott classes in violation of state law; immediate expulsion of pupils who attack teachers or other pupils on school property; inbestigation of such incidents and appropriate utilization of law enforcement agencies to guarantee protection.

FBI Holding Belmont Bank Holdup Man

BRIDGEPORT, Ohio (AP)— The FBI has taken custody of a man accused of holding up a bank in nearby Lansing and taking a woman teller hostage before being headed off by police within minutes Friday.

The man arrested said he is Don Javo, 28, that he has a wife and four children in Sarasota, Fla., and that he had been staying in Cleveland recently.

He was taken to the Belmont County jail at St. Clairsville before being turned over to the FBI, which transferred him to Steubenville to await further developments.

The $2,750 stolen from the bank was all recovered and the teller, Mrs. Betty Miller, 39, was released unharmed after Bridgeport Police Chief John Agostinelli foiled the robbery.

Mrs. Miller said she was on duty at the Belmont County National Bank branch at Lansing, four miles west of here, when

LBJ Greeted By Million In Sydney

Marred By Sharp Demonstration Of U.S. Role In Viet

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)— President Johnson rode past a million cheering Australians in Sydney today, donned cowboy togs for a Texas-style barbecue outside Canberra and came to Brisbane looking weary and strained tonight, the eve of his flight to the Manila Summit Conference.

The wild welcome in Sydney, the nation's largest city, was marred by the sharpest demonstration Australia has seen against the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Nevertheless, the President told a crowd in Brisbane:

"This is the most wonderful visit that I have ever been on. It is a sentimental journey."

Brisbane is the last tour point in Australia for the President and his wife Lady Bird, except for a refueling stop at Townsville Sunday on his 3,700-mile flight to Manila.

In Brisbane some people had waited seven hours in frosty weather for President Johnson to arrive from Canberra.

Speaking at the airport, Johnson paid tribute to the people of Brisbane, saying that a million American GIs had passed through the city in World War II.

Calling his wife to wave to the crowd, President Johnson said: "She didn't get to come with me in '42 and we have been quarreling about it ever since."

Johnson served in Australia and New Zealand as a Navy lieutenant commander in World War II.

Local officials today named a park near Brisbane's airport, "Lyndon Johnson Park." The park contains one of the first Australian - American war memorials, honoring the men of the two countries who died in World War II.

The President and Mrs. Johnson arrived in Brisbane, capital of the northern state of Queensland, to spend the night. They were met by an airport crowd of about 6,000.

More than a million excited Australians turned out in Sydney to greet the Americans. The crowds showered the Johnsons with confetti as anti-Viet Nam demonstrators hurled eggs and toilet paper in a tumultuous mixed welcome.

Johnson returned to Canberra, the Australian capital, for a barbecue before flying on to Brisbane.

Johnson wore Western clothes and a Texas hat at the barbecue but changed to a business suit for the Canberra farewell, held in bitingly cold weather.

The President looked tired as he inspected an honor guard while a 21-gun salute boomed out.

Johnson drove directly to Fairbairn Airport outside Canberra after attending the barbecue at Lanyon Station 17 miles away. The cookout was given by an old friend, Edward Clark, the U.S. ambassador to Australia.

At the 10,000-acre ranch, Johnson met an Australian soldier recently returned from service in Viet Nam. The soldier presented the President with an Australian digger's slouch hat.

There were no demonstrators in sight as Johnson departed and tons of confetti and streamers were tossed in salute. There were many hundreds of home-lettered signs of welcome.

Early in the day, Johnson stopped and got out of his car several times to greet well-

Fresh Reports Say LBJ To Visit Viet War Front

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Ground fighting in South Viet Nam lapsed again into small patrol skirmishes today amid fresh reports that President Johnson would visit the war front next week.

U. S. officials would not confirm these reports but they did not deny them. They stemmed largely from extra security measures under way.

In battle action, U. S. pilots said they knocked out an unusually high number of cargo barges — 154 — along the North Vietnamese coastline Friday. The large-scale water traffic suggested that the Communists were turning increasingly to the sea to move their supplies instead of along relentlessly bombed railroads and highways.

American planes flew 120 bombing missions Friday over the Communist north and the forays reportedly cost one plane, the 407th loss of the war. A U. S. spokesman announced that an Air Force F105 Thunderchief went down and that its pilot was missing.

U.S. intelligence reports indicated the Viet Cong would step up terrorism and military activity during the Manila summit conference next Monday and Tuesday. Informants would not give the basis of these reports, which usually come from prisoners, captured documents and behind-lines agents.

The most talked-of date for a possible visit by President Johnson after the Manila summit conference was next Thursday while Johnson is en route from Manila to Thailand. Some of the renewed speculation arose after an announcement that Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky would return from Manila early Thursday afternoon and the possibility developed that he would accompany Johnson.

Ky will leave Saigon at 8 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. today EDT) for the two-day Manila conference, which opens Monday. Ky and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state, will head a 14-member South Vietnamese delegation.

If Johnson comes Thursday, his most likely destination for a stop of a few hours would be the big U. S. Marine Base at Da Nang in the northern part of the country. The heavily guarded visit to Da Nang Friday of South Korean President Chung Hee Park was seen by some observers as a "test run" for a Johnson visit.

In war action, the U. S. military command reported small scale fighting in three scattered areas in which American troops killed 28 Communist soldiers and captured 21 others.

South Vietnamese headquarters said government forces killed 39 Viet Cong in two separate actions Friday.

Price Curbs Not Planned, Fowler Says

Treasury Secretary Declines To Rule Out Tax Increase

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said today the administration does not intend to impose price controls as a means of combating inflation.

"Because our economy is so robust and resilient, there is not on any horizon we can now foresee the slightest prospect that controls will be required," Fowler told the fall meeting of the Business Council.

But the Treasury secretary declined in his prepared speech to rule out increases in income and corporate tax rates if inflationary pressures continue.

"It may well be that, in the months ahead, further restraints will be required in federal fiscal policy," Fowler said, adding: "I cannot — and will not — speculate on what further fiscal steps we might take."

Some of the 100 leading businessmen at the meeting said they would favor hikes in income and corporate tax rates if it is impossible to curb inflation through cuts in government spending.

Fowler admitted "some very real problems" exist in the economy — rising prices, "excessive exuberance of the capital goods sector and excessive weakness of the housing sector, and inflationary pressures."

But he said the administration has "every reason to expect that together government and the private sector can handle any current, or currently conceivable, problem within the framework of a free market economy."

Fowler again called on industry and labor to practice price and wage restraints, saying "the greatest single threat to price stability remains a regression to the self-defeating practices of earlier decades when the various sectors of our economy tried to seek gains at each other's expense."

He noted that in recent months the administration's wage-price guideposts, which he admitted were not perfect, "have been favored with numerous obituaries."

Senate Spurs Efforts For Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today, "We have a quorum to do business," and the Senate convened to try to end the 1966 session of the 89th Congress.

Mansfield called his colleagues in this morning to try to pass an amendment - laden foreign investors tax bill and a $5 billion final supplemental appropriation measure. It is the former that could tie the Senate into knots.

So many and varied amendments have been tacked onto its main provisions, designed to encourage foreign investments in the United States, that opponents are calling it the "Christmas tree" bill.

Most of the controversy has centered on a rider to set up a permanent program of government financing of presidential campaigns through voluntary taxpayer contributions.

Further complicating Mansfield's drive for sine die adjournment is a disappearing quorum. With elections 17 days away, many senators — and House members — have gone home to campaign.

There was no call for a quorum—a majority of the 100 senators, 51 — immediately. But Mansfield said the Senate would have one by noon if it lacked one as it convened.

Mansfield said many senators

Aimed At Peace In Viet And Tighten Unity During War

MANILA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Asian allies began shaping today a seven-nation Manila conference agreement aimed at promoting peace for Viet Nam while tightening allied unity in carrying on the war.

Rusk met with Philippines Foreign Secretary Narciso Ramos in the first of a series of talks expected to prepare the way for quick accord on key war-and-peace declarations in the summit sessions Monday and Tuesday.

Reports persisted among Asian diplomats of a hawks-and-doves split, with governments like South Korea and South Viet Nam fearful that President Johnson's emphasis on peace-seeking may mean some weakening of his war aims or lowering of the price for settlement in South Viet Nam.

U.S. authorities dismissed such apprehensions as unfounded. They said Johnson would not order a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam, timed with the Manila meeting.

Some critics of the war have said this would increase the conference's aura of peace.

The Johnson administration's view at this time is said to be

Gov. Smith Unveils Plan For Improved Education

MORGANTOWN (AP) — A plan for two years of tuition-free education at state supported universities and colleges plus an ambitious building program for vocational, adult and graduate education was outlined here Friday by Gov. Hulett Smith.

The proposals immediately drew both interest and financial concern from legislative leaders, who were surprised by the governor's far-reaching proposals.

Billed as a major education policy speech, the governor said he will ask the next legislature to vote for the two - year tuition-free plan and to start work as well on his other ambitious proposals.

"I believe we can afford it and we have a moral obligation to do it," Smith said in a speech to a symposium on "The Public University in Its Second century," under way at West Virginia University.

The governor proposed for upgrading West Virginia's educational offerings:

— Two years of free college tuition for every qualified West Virginia high school graduate.

— Construction of at least five multi - county centers for technical, vocational and adult education within the next year.

— Provide more state support for branch colleges, which now depend almost entirely on community support, plus building new branch colleges as needed.

Sidney Uhl Claimed In Stark Wreck

Grinding Head-On Collision Occurs South Of Alliance

An 18 - year - old Wellsville youth and a Minerva man were killed this morning in a grinding head-on collision about three miles south of Alliance.

Dead are Hubert Sidney Uhl of 2115 Chester Ave., Wellsville, and Thomas N. Casale, 23, of Minerva.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Massillon said the two were drivers of cars which rammed together on Route 183, about three miles south of Alliance at 7:10.

Officers said Uhl apparently was headed home from the American Steel Foundry Co. at Alliance, where he reportedly had completed his first night's work.

Uhl was the son of Mrs. Ray Wedger of 2115 Chester Ave.

Wellsville police were advised of the fatal collision through the State Highway Patrol.

Ironically, four men employes of the firm from East Liverpool and Chester were killed Oct. 8 while en route to work.

The patrol said Uhl was headed south and Casale was driving north, apparently en route to his job at the Transue-Williams Steel Forging Co. of Alliance. He is the son of the Acting Municipal Judge Joseph Casale at Alliance.

Officers said Uhl was left of center on a yellow line approaching a hillcrest when the crash occurred.

Uhl did not have seat belts in his 1957 model auto, officers reported. Casale had belts in his late model compact auto, but was not using one.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen firemen were injured, none seriously, when part of a ceiling fell in today during a grease-fed blaze which flashed through a cafeteria in the Bronx about six blocks from Yankee Stadium.

One firefighter suffered smoke inhalation and was admitted to a hospital. The other 15 were treated at the scene.

About 125 men and 40 pieces of equipment responded after flames leaping from a grease duct in the East 167th Street cafeteria between River and Girard avenues, set the ceiling afire and chased patrons into the street.

Twelve New York City firemen were killed Monday night as a floor collapsed and they fell into a fire-swept basement.

Americans 'Distrust' LBJ, Goldwater Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona says Americans have "a feeling of distrust" for President Johnson.

"You knew where Ike stood and you knew where Kennedy stood. But this one — we don't know what he is up to."

Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee in 1964, was in Miami to support GOP congressional candidate Mike Thompson.

nawha Valley which would include sharing facilities and faculties of state colleges and universities.

Smith made no hint as to what the program might cost.

Legislative leaders, contacted Friday night by The Associated Press, called it an "ambitious" and "fine program," but questioned how the state would raise the money to finance such an undertaking.

Smith declared the two - year tuition - free program would be "an incentive for new industries to bring their personnel to West Virginia" and would allow "hundreds, even thousands, of our high school graduates" to attend college who cannot now afford it.

"I believe we can afford it, and we have a moral obligation to do it," the governor said.

Speaking of advancing the branch college program, Smith said the "commuter colleges" will help cut the high demand for housing that has hit the communities where colleges now exist.

Smith said all around the state school officials and laymen are interested and "cry for more vocational facilities. . ."

Monaca Man Extradited In Stickup Case

LISBON — A Pennsylvania man is being held in Columbiana County Jail as a suspect in an armed robbery Jan. 2 at the 12th St. Market in Wellsville.

William E. Icenhour, 31, of 204 Grandview Ave., Monaca, waived extradition Friday in Beaver County Court at Beaver.

Capt. Pete Trainer and Patrolman Ed James of the Wellsville police department transferred him to Lisbon. A preliminary hearing is slated for the first of the week in Judge James J. L. MacDonald's Court here.

Icenhour is a brother-in-law of Timothy Galloway, 28, of Waynesburg, Pa., who was convicted Oct. 17 for the same robbery in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court. Judge Raymond Buzzard sentenced him to 10-25 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Icenhour's name was mentioned in the trial.

The Prosecutor asked Galloway if it were not a fact he and Icenhour staged the robbery. Galloway denied it. When he appeared for sentencing, his counsel attempted to obtain for the prisoner credit for time spent in the county jail, noting his "cooperation since conviction."

Two men robbed Mrs. Thelma Peterson, a clerk, while she was alone in the store. She testified it was Galloway who bound her with a small rope while another man stood by with a revolver stuck in his belt.

The robbers got New Year's weekend receipts estimated from $500 to $1,400.

Viet Nam

spokesman, in a review of six days of intermittent fighting in Quang Nam Province, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, reported 584 Viet Cong killed. He said about 500 of the enemy toll was inflicted by U. S. air strikes supporting a Vietnamese ground force in the operation, which started last Monday.

Vietnamese headquarters reported four scattered, small attacks today by Viet Cong guerrillas against government outposts and said four of the enemy were killed.

In air action, a U.S. spokesman said American planes flew three bombing missions Friday against the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Air Force pilots attacked a concentration of 50 barges five miles south of Dong Hoi in the southern end of North Viet Nam. The fliers claimed 17 barges destroyed and 12 damaged.

Over South Viet Nam Friday, U.S. pilots flew 251 sorties and reported damaging or destroying 297 Viet Cong structures, huts, sampans, bunkers and trenches. South Vietnamese pilots flew 134 combat sorties.

In other developments:

—Viet Nam's Unified Buddhist Church resumed its convention in Saigon after a stormy session. One unconfirmed report said six shots had been fired inside the Buddhists' meeting room Friday and that placard-waving demonstrators had walked in the halls.

Moderate Buddhist leaders were trying to reunite the movement, which split following the failure of antigovernment street demonstrations in Saigon and the northern cities of Hue and Da Nang last May and June to topple Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Militant Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang boycotted the convention as did Thich Thien Hoa, the sect's acting chairman.

— A North Vietnamese broadcast claimed the Viet Cong destroyed or damaged 592 U.S. aircraft in 23 attacks on 16 airfields in South Viet Nam from April to September, this year, and that 3,384 allied troops, including 2,669 Americans, were killed or wounded in the attacks.

Canberra after an official farewell from Gov.-Gen. Lord Casey.

Although Johnson's friends in the vast throng far outnumbered his foes, the Viet Nam dissenters succeeded in disrupting his motorcade as some threw themselves down in the street and pelted the procession with eggs and other missiles.

The President kept smiling throughout — but he had to curb his zest for jumping into the crowds for handshakes. Secret Service bodyguards also persuaded him to detour around a couple of potential trouble spots — one the campus of the University of New South Wales.

As a result of the hostile displays, Johnson's car was driven at rapid clip past many thousands.

The official crowd estimate was 1,250,000 — perhaps the largest outpouring Johnson has ever seen and, according to authorities, the biggest crowd in Australian history.

Thousands of American flags were waved at the motorcade wishers. That was before the trouble started.

The first evidence of official concern for Johnson's safety came when he bypassed the university campus.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers tried to convince newsmen Johnson simply was behind schedule and trying to make up time. However, the President has never been known to duck a friendly crowd.

Then came a sudden change of cars. The President got out of his armored bubbletop limousine and into an ordinary black sedan. The White House said the limousine's air conditioning ducts had become clogged with confetti and paper — making the interior almost unbearably hot. It was a warm, bright day in Sydney.

Shortly after the change of cars, Johnsons' motorcade ran into real trouble, on Liverpool Street. For about three blocks the curbs on both sides were jammed with antiwar demonstrators tossing black streamers and black balloons. They waved hundreds of hostile placards — "Murderer", "U. S. Kills Kids," "Go Home Yanks" — and jeered loudly.

As the President's car approached, about half a dozen young men and women ran into the street and threw themselves to the pavement. Police hauled them away.

Dozens of other demonstrators swarmed past police and into the street, shouting obscenities, pounding their fists on the autos and throwing missiles of one kind and another.

An egg struck the rear window of Mrs. Johnson's car, splattering across the glass. She was riding in a separate glass-domed vehicle.

The ugly outburst forced Secret Service agents to move the motorcade out of the area at high speed. Cars zigged and zagged, around demonstrators.

Johnson stayed in his car until he reached the Art Gallery of New South Wales to attend a civic reception.

While the President spoke inside, hundreds of Viet Nam dissenters, most of them young people, gathered outside and jeered his words, which were carried to them over a public address system. Their cries were audible inside.

Fist fights broke out between police and demonstrators as some protesters tried to swarm toward the gallery entrance. At least half a dozen persons were arrested and carried away before the violence was quelled.

Thomas A. Edison's first words fed into the phonograph he invented were those beginning, "Mary had a little lamb."

Mt. Union Board Bares Plans For Computer's Use

ALLIANCE, Ohio — Announcement of a computer program and the balancing of the budget for the 12th consecutive year highlighted this morning's homecoming meeting of the Mt. Union College board of trustees.

Making the report was President Carl C. Bracy, who said, "I am convinced that the small, Christian liberal arts college has a valuable stake in American higher education as it becomes an academic community, a community of faith and a community of love and compassion."

The computer program for undergraduate instruction and research is being established with the purchase of an IBM 1620 central processing unit and equipment from Clarkson College of Technology and other equipment from Case Institute of Technology.

The equipment cost of $43,989 will be partially underwritten by a $25,000 National Science Foundation grant, obtained through the assistance of U.S. Rep. Frank T. Bow.

Discussing the budget, Dr. Bracy reported a record expense of $2,986,293 and income of $3,003,652 for 1965-66.

He also reported giving for all causes, including current operations and capital funds, was $409,899, of which $106,974 was contributed by the Methodist Church and $46,064 was received from the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

that the bombing of North Viet Nam could be a lever for moving the North Vietnamese toward negotiations or at least toward de-escalating the fight.

The administration was reported resolved not to order a bombing pause as a one-sided peace gesture that would likely produce little progress toward peace.

Some diplomats here are viewing the Manila conference as primarily a stage-setting operation in which the allies can define their war aims and declare their peace hopes, as well as set up procedures for consultation — regardless of the reactions of North Viet Nam and Red China.

Johnson and other government chiefs are due here Sunday.

Rusk said on reaching here Friday night that the United States has been trying to find out for a long time what the Communists would do if the bombing of North Viet Nam was halted. It still does not have an answer, he said.

Rusk met with Ramos at the Philippines Foreign Office. He arranged luncheon today for South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do and other officials of the United States and South Viet Nam. Among these were U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and U.S. Assistant Secretary of State William Bundy.

Afterwards Rusk was to meet with Korean Foreign Minister Lee Tong Won and the foreign minister of Thailand, Thanat Khoman. Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos planned a dinner tonight for all the delegations.

U. S. officials said these talks and the dinner were working sessions intended to prepare for quick agreement in the summit sessions.

although only about 800 of 26,000 students in the target schools attempted to attend an event connected with the boycott.

The 800 secondary and high school students were turned away from the University of California Berkeley campus when they arrived to attend a "freedom school" teaching civil rights subjects. University officials said the students were denied use of the classrooms.

The Ad Hoc Committee for Quality Education, headed by Negro attorney John George, is sponsoring the boycott.

Coakley and Dr. Stuart S. Phillis, Oakland superintendent of schools have blamed the racial trouble on the boycott. George labeled the accusations "blatant intimidation."

George lists his committee's demands as changes of boundary lines to eliminate de facto segregation; establishment of "educational parks" — clusters of elementary, junior and high schools to draw pupils from low income sectors to better areas; and guarantees that parents be present when students are disciplined.

Absenteeism remained double the normal rate Friday as 7,793 students stayed away from classes.

But he pulled a 22-caliber gun from his coat pocket and, she related, pushed it against her, ordering her to put money into a paper sack. Then she was forced out the door at gunpoint and into a late model station wagon.

Other employes telephoned police who set up roadblocks. But Agostinelli recognized Mrs. Miller as the car passed him. He gave chase in his private auto, headed off the station wagon in a side street and bumped it into unmaneuverable position. When the man jumped out and started to run, the chief ordered him to halt or be shot.

The fugitive halted.

Congress

flew back to Washington to help make a quorum.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leading the fight against the tax bill, told reporters he understood government planes were used to bring back some of the senators.

"This is going to be an expensive quorum," he declared.

Assistant Democratic Leader Russell B. Long of Louisiana, floor manager for the tax bill, said both measures will be passed "if we have to come back next week, or in November, or at Christmas."

"A lot of people have been calling this tax bill the Christmas tree bill so perhaps it would be appropriate to pass it at Christmas," Long said.

The House, its chores for the year virtually completed, planned a token session today.

The session already is the longest unbroken meeting Congress has held in an election year since World War II.

Soviet Launches 12th Craft On Moon Trip

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched its 12th lunar spacecraft today to explore the moon and its environment.

The launching came after rumors had circulated in the Moscow diplomatic community that the Soviet Union was soon going to try to send a craft to the moon and bring it back to earth —something never done before.

There was no indication, however, in the first brief official announcement of today's launching that this was intended.

FALL AND YOUR SEWAGE SYSTEM

Heavy fall rains bring many problems, not the least of which is the far-reaching damage to sewage systems.

Correctly designed septic tanks are constructed according to the daily flow of water and sewage, the gallonage capacity being at least equal to the amount entering in a 24-hour period. This is to allow for the solids to settle out so that digestion can take place in the bottom. An excess to the designed flow can be catastrophic to any system.

What happens then, when flooding occurs? Water-laden ground forces water into pipes, and through cracks in walls and covers of septic tanks . . . water pours through manhole covers, and vents, creating an agitation which prevents settling. This increase in flow therefore, carries large quantities of undigested materials to the drainfields and cesspools . . . areas which are already straining to dispose of tremendous quantities of liquid become clogged with solids, and even less effectual. Often such drainage areas overflow and become health hazards to both humans and livestock.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help:

Enzymes are not limited to working on solids that are settled — they travel where water will carry them — constantly breaking down proteins, fats, and starches, wherever they may be. Therefore in over-loaded and flooded systems, Sea-Cal continues its work right into the wells, cesspools, and drainfields—freeing the ground of pore-clogging solids and keeping drainage at its peak.

After the floods have subsided most systems have lost the nucleus of their digestion, which is the bacteria, and often take months to get started. Sea-Cal contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria, and 60,000,000 aerobic bacteria, in each gram and, there being 28 grams to the ounce (with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day), this means that a "seeding" with a few ounces of Sea-Cal will regenerate even the most dormant system.

nawha Valley which would include sharing facilities and faculties of state colleges and universities.

Smith made no hint as to what the program might cost.

Legislative leaders, contacted Friday night by The Associated Press, called it an "ambitious" and "fine program," but questioned how the state would raise the money to finance such an undertaking.

Smith declared the two - year tuition - free program would be "an incentive for new industries to bring their personnel to West Virginia" and would allow "hundreds, even thousands, of our high school graduates" to attend college who cannot now afford it.

"I believe we can afford it, and we have a moral obligation to do it," the governor said.

Speaking of advancing the branch college program, Smith said the "commuter colleges" will help cut the high demand for housing that has hit the communities where colleges now exist.

Smith said all around the state school officials and laymen are interested and "cry for more vocational facilities. . ."

Monaca Man Extradited In Stickup Case

LISBON — A Pennsylvania man is being held in Columbiana County Jail as a suspect in an armed robbery Jan. 2 at the 12th St. Market in Wellsville.

William E. Icenhour, 31, of 204 Grandview Ave., Monaca, waived extradition Friday in Beaver County Court at Beaver.

Capt. Pete Trainer and Patrolman Ed James of the Wellsville police department transferred him to Lisbon. A preliminary hearing is slated for the first of the week in Judge James J. L. MacDonald's Court here.

Icenhour is a brother-in-law of Timothy Galloway, 28, of Waynesburg, Pa., who was convicted Oct. 17 for the same robbery in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court. Judge Raymond Buzzard sentenced him to 10-25 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary.

Icenhour's name was mentioned in the trial.

The Prosecutor asked Galloway if it were not a fact he and Icenhour staged the robbery. Galloway denied it. When he appeared for sentencing, his counsel attempted to obtain for the prisoner credit for time spent in the county jail, noting his "cooperation since conviction."

Two men robbed Mrs. Thelma Peterson, a clerk, while she was alone in the store. She testified it was Galloway who bound her with a small rope while another man stood by with a revolver stuck in his belt.

The robbers got New Year's weekend receipts estimated from $500 to $1,400.

Viet Nam

spokesman, in a review of six days of intermittent fighting in Quang Nam Province, 340 miles northeast of Saigon, reported 584 Viet Cong killed. He said about 500 of the enemy toll was inflicted by U. S. air strikes supporting a Vietnamese ground force in the operation, which started last Monday.

Vietnamese headquarters reported four scattered, small attacks today by Viet Cong guerrillas against government outposts and said four of the enemy were killed.

In air action, a U.S. spokesman said American planes flew three bombing missions Friday against the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. Air Force pilots attacked a concentration of 50 barges five miles south of Dong Hoi in the southern end of North Viet Nam. The fliers claimed 17 barges destroyed and 12 damaged.

Over South Viet Nam Friday, U.S. pilots flew 251 sorties and reported damaging or destroying 297 Viet Cong structures, huts, sampans, bunkers and trenches. South Vietnamese pilots flew 134 combat sorties.

In other developments:

—Viet Nam's Unified Buddhist Church resumed its convention in Saigon after a stormy session. One unconfirmed report said six shots had been fired inside the Buddhists' meeting room Friday and that placard-waving demonstrators had walked in the halls.

Moderate Buddhist leaders were trying to reunite the movement, which split following the failure of antigovernment street demonstrations in Saigon and the northern cities of Hue and Da Nang last May and June to topple Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. Militant Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang boycotted the convention as did Thich Thien Hoa, the sect's acting chairman.

— A North Vietnamese broadcast claimed the Viet Cong destroyed or damaged 592 U.S. aircraft in 23 attacks on 16 airfields in South Viet Nam from April to September, this year, and that 3,384 allied troops, including 2,669 Americans, were killed or wounded in the attacks.

Canberra after an official farewell from Gov.-Gen. Lord Casey.

Although Johnson's friends in the vast throng far outnumbered his foes, the Viet Nam dissenters succeeded in disrupting his motorcade as some threw themselves down in the street and pelted the procession with eggs and other missiles.

The President kept smiling throughout — but he had to curb his zest for jumping into the crowds for handshakes. Secret Service bodyguards also persuaded him to detour around a couple of potential trouble spots — one the campus of the University of New South Wales.

As a result of the hostile displays, Johnson's car was driven at rapid clip past many thousands.

The official crowd estimate was 1,250,000 — perhaps the largest outpouring Johnson has ever seen and, according to authorities, the biggest crowd in Australian history.

Thousands of American flags were waved at the motorcade wishers. That was before the trouble started.

The first evidence of official concern for Johnson's safety came when he bypassed the university campus.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers tried to convince newsmen Johnson simply was behind schedule and trying to make up time. However, the President has never been known to duck a friendly crowd.

Then came a sudden change of cars. The President got out of his armored bubbletop limousine and into an ordinary black sedan. The White House said the limousine's air conditioning ducts had become clogged with confetti and paper — making the interior almost unbearably hot. It was a warm, bright day in Sydney.

Shortly after the change of cars, Johnsons' motorcade ran into real trouble, on Liverpool Street. For about three blocks the curbs on both sides were jammed with antiwar demonstrators tossing black streamers and black balloons. They waved hundreds of hostile placards — "Murderer", "U. S. Kills Kids," "Go Home Yanks" — and jeered loudly.

As the President's car approached, about half a dozen young men and women ran into the street and threw themselves to the pavement. Police hauled them away.

Dozens of other demonstrators swarmed past police and into the street, shouting obscenities, pounding their fists on the autos and throwing missiles of one kind and another.

An egg struck the rear window of Mrs. Johnson's car, splattering across the glass. She was riding in a separate glass-domed vehicle.

The ugly outburst forced Secret Service agents to move the motorcade out of the area at high speed. Cars zigged and zagged, around demonstrators.

Johnson stayed in his car until he reached the Art Gallery of New South Wales to attend a civic reception.

While the President spoke inside, hundreds of Viet Nam dissenters, most of them young people, gathered outside and jeered his words, which were carried to them over a public address system. Their cries were audible inside.

Fist fights broke out between police and demonstrators as some protesters tried to swarm toward the gallery entrance. At least half a dozen persons were arrested and carried away before the violence was quelled.

Thomas A. Edison's first words fed into the phonograph he invented were those beginning, "Mary had a little lamb."

Mt. Union Board Bares Plans For Computer's Use

ALLIANCE, Ohio — Announcement of a computer program and the balancing of the budget for the 12th consecutive year highlighted this morning's homecoming meeting of the Mt. Union College board of trustees.

Making the report was President Carl C. Bracy, who said, "I am convinced that the small Christian liberal arts college has a valuable stake in American higher education as it becomes an academic community, a community of faith and a community of love and compassion."

The computer program for undergraduate instruction and research is being established with the purchase of an IBM 1620 central processing unit and equipment from Clarkson College of Technology and other equipment from Case Institute of Technology.

The equipment cost of $43,989 will be partially underwritten by a $25,000 National Science Foundation grant, obtained through the assistance of U.S. Rep. Frank T. Bow.

Discussing the budget, Dr. Bracy reported a record expense of $2,986,293 and income of $3,003,652 for 1965-66.

He also reported giving for all causes, including current operations and capital funds, was $409,899, of which $106,974 was contributed by the Methodist Church and $46,064 was received from the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

that the bombing of North Viet Nam could be a lever for moving the North Vietnamese toward negotiations or at least toward de-escalating the fight.

The administration was reported resolved not to order a bombing pause as a one-sided peace gesture that would likely produce little progress toward peace.

Some diplomats here are viewing the Manila conference as primarily a stage-setting operation in which the allies can define their war aims and declare their peace hopes, as well as set up procedures for consultation — regardless of the reactions of North Viet Nam and Red China.

Avalanche

lanche approach because of fog which reduced visibility to 10 yards.

It crushed Pantglas Junior School at 9:30 a.m. as the children went to their classrooms after a prayer at a general assembly, and surged on to demolish a row of miners' cottages.

There were an estimated 254 children and teachers in the school when the avalanche struck, buckling the walls.

Before reaching the school, the slide swept over a farmhouse, killing two children and their grandmother.

Anguished mothers had to be forcibly held back as rescue workers probed the debris.

Lord Snowdon stopped to chat with some of the miners. He asked whether they had relatives in the school, and then walked away saying: "This is terrible. This is disastrous."

Queen Elizabeth II sent a message to Welsh officials saying she was "shocked and distressed to learn of the terrible disaster."

Pope Paul VI sent telegrams of condolences to Queen Elizabeth, the British government and Roman Catholic churchmen in the Aberfan district.

Prince Charles, 17-year-old heir to the throne, sent a telegram expressing "my deepest heartfelt sympathy." As eldest son of the queen, he holds the title of Prince of Wales.

Dilys Pope, 10, who escaped before the school was engulfed, said: "We heard a noise and then the room seemed to be flying around. The desks were falling over and the children were shouting and screaming. We couldn't see anything. My leg was caught in a desk and I couldn't move it and my arm was hurting. Children were lying all over the place."

Stephen Andrew, 40, school janitor: "I heard a noise from the mountain. It sounded like the rush of giant waves on the seashore. I rushed out and the mountain was moving down towards the school.

"Teachers were breaking windows and screaming for help. I rushed inside to get 20 children out. The black mud just kept moving. Things were breaking and the children were screaming.

"It was hopeless trying to reach the others. But I must go on digging. My two sons, Kelvin (10) and Malcom (8) are in there."

"Coal tips," as the Welsh term the sludge heaps, have recently been a subject of controversy. A campaign to get rid of them has been mounted but little has been achieved.

The Aberfan coal tip had loomed over the village of 5,000 persons, growing day by day for 97 years. Its estimated two million tons of rock spoil, earth and slag collapsed in seconds.

The National Coal Board attributed the slide to heavy rainfall this week. Water soaked down through the man-made mountain and as the pressure built up it burst out at the bottom, the board said.

Police Scour Cincinnati In Killer Search

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An expanded police force fanned out over the city today in an attempt to track down a rapist-strangler who has blanketed the city with fear. Investigators said they had only meager clues.

A fifth victim of the killer was found Thursday night, but city officials warned the public not to panic and discouraged any "vigilante action."

There was some speculation Friday that the man who killed Rose Winstel, 81, Thursday was not the same man being blamed for the four previous killings.

But Detective Chief Jacob Schott discounted this saying, "We will have to assume that it is the same killer we have been looking for."

Youth Guidance Film Screened At Meeting Of Lions

A documentary film, "Youth Guidance In Pittsburgh," was screened by Ralph Compa, program chairman, during the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Compa drew parallels between a Pittsburgh community program, Youth Guidance Inc., and JUMP, a similar project in the East Liverpool area.

The importance of providing recreational facilities and camping areas for young people to combat the spread of juvenile delinquency was stressed.

H. Jud English, William Smith and Clarence Jones were guests at yesterday's meeting.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler presided.

The New York Giants won 91 games in 1933 to take the National League pennant. Two years later they also won 91 games but finished third.

Electric Service Cut Off As Stolen Car Strikes Pole

An auto stolen from an East Liverpool resident struck a utility pole while rounding Taylor's Bend on Route 30, east of Chester, shortly before 4 a.m. today, disrupting electric service for more than five hours in an extensive area of Hancock County.

The owner of the 1962 hardtop sedan was identified as Thomas W. Eason of 124 E. 4th St., who notified the Hancock County sheriff's office that the vehicle had been stolen from the parking lot at the Jade Lounge on Route 30.

The auto had been abandoned when deputies arrived on the scene of the accident.

Some 200 families and business establishments in Johnsonville, Lawrenceville, Pughtown and rural areas were without electric service until about 9 a.m., when a crew from the Monongahela Power Co. in Weirton completed repairs, according to Walter Jordan., manager of the Chester office.

Police Continue Probe In Death Of Man, 25

MADISON, W. Va. (AP)—Police were presuming the death of Ronald Sharp, 25, of Pedro, Lawrence County, Ohio, as a hunting accident but continuing an investigation at last report.

She said she locked the store Thursday night at 9:30. Deputies said there was no sign of forced entry.

Crashes Hurt Man, Woman Near Midland

An Industry man and a Midland teacher were injured in two mishaps on Route 168 between Midland and Ohioville Friday.

Raymond George of Fairlane Dr., Industry, was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with a skull injury suffered when his car struck a parked truck along the road near the Hilltop Garage late yesterday morning.

Assistant Ohioville Police Chief Michael Haydin said George was headed north about 10:30 and applied the brakes on his auto. It swerved off the road and hit the pickup truck owned by Pete Vojnovich of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1.

There was heavy damage to the auto, Haydin said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Cyril Holmes of Meadowbrook Estates faces charges in connection with a collision about 8 a.m. in which Mrs. Jean Musser of Enon Valley, teacher at 4th St. School in Midland, suffered injury to the right ankle. She was treated at City Hospital.

Mrs. Musser had halted behind another vehicle whose driver was picking up school children, and Holmes' 1967 auto struck the rear of Mrs. Musser's auto. There was extensive damage to Holmes' auto.

The mishap occurred about 200 yards south of the Hilltop Garage. Haydin said there was thick fog at the time.

Cleveland Area Is Saucer-Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Greater Clevelanders were saucer-eyed Friday night, but authorities assured them it was no apparition from outer space that they saw overhead.

The Cleveland Hopkins Airport operations office was swamped with calls, many from people who insisted they had been a flying saucer.

"It's traveling slow, no noise, red-green lights on top and a white-yellowish revolving bottom," was the way one woman described it.

Official explanation was that it was a small plane belonging to Campbell Air Service of Pittsburgh with the assignment of flying over crowds at scholastic football games in the areas. The advertising plane was promoting a line of new cars. It carried a revolving globe on a platform below the plane's fuselage.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An auto believed to have been the get away vehicle was found in a drug store parking lot less than a mile from the scene of a $46,800 bank robbery Friday, but the holdup men remained at large today.

The car was found soon after two armed men in Halloween masks held seven employes of the Huber Heights branch of the First National Bank of Dayton at bay and took the money.

Lord Snowdon stopped to chat with some of the miners. He asked whether they had relatives in the school, and then walked away saying: "This is terrible. This is disastrous."

Queen Elizabeth II sent a message to Welsh officials saying she was "shocked and distressed to learn of the terrible disaster."

Pope Paul VI sent telegrams of condolences to Queen Elizabeth, the British government and Roman Catholic churchmen in the Aberfan district.

Prince Charles, 17-year-old heir to the throne, sent a telegram expressing "my deepest heartfelt sympathy." As eldest son of the queen, he holds the title of Prince of Wales.

Dilys Pope, 10, who escaped before the school was engulfed, said: "We heard a noise and then the room seemed to be flying around. The desks were falling over and the children were shouting and screaming. We couldn't see anything. My leg was caught in a desk and I couldn't move it and my arm was hurting. Children were lying all over the place."

Stephen Andrew, 40, school janitor: "I heard a noise from the mountain. It sounded like the rush of giant waves on the seashore. I rushed out and the mountain was moving down towards the school.

"Teachers were breaking windows and screaming for help. I rushed inside to get 20 children out. The black mud just kept moving. Things were breaking and the children were screaming.

"It was hopeless trying to reach the others. But I must go on digging. My two sons, Kelvin (10) and Malcom (8) are in there."

"Coal tips," as the Welsh term the sludge heaps, have recently been a subject of controversy. A campaign to get rid of them has been mounted but little has been achieved.

The Aberfan coal tip had loomed over the village of 5,000 persons, growing day by day for 97 years. Its estimated two million tons of rock spoil, earth and slag collapsed in seconds.

The National Coal Board attributed the slide to heavy rainfall this week. Water soaked down through the man-made mountain and as the pressure built up it burst out at the bottom, the board said.

Police Scour Cincinnati In Killer Search

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An expanded police force fanned out over the city today in an attempt to track down a rapist-strangler who has blanketed the city with fear. Investigators said they had only meager clues.

A fifth victim of the killer was found Thursday night, but city officials warned the public not to panic and discouraged any "vigilante action."

There was some speculation Friday that the man who killed Rose Winstel, 81, Thursday was not the same man being blamed for the four previous killings.

But Detective Chief Jacob Schott discounted this saying, "We will have to assume that it is the same killer we have been looking for."

Youth Guidance Film Screened At Meeting Of Lions

A documentary film, "Youth Guidance In Pittsburgh," was screened by Ralph Compa, program chairman, during the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Compa drew parallels between a Pittsburgh community program, Youth Guidance Inc., and JUMP, a similar project in the East Liverpool area.

The importance of providing recreational facilities and camping areas for young people to combat the spread of juvenile delinquency was stressed.

H. Jud English, William Smith and Clarence Jones were guests at yesterday's meeting.

The Rev. E. C. Traylor gave the invocation.

Ed Shingler presided.

The New York Giants won 91 games in 1933 to take the National League pennant. Two years later they also won 91 games but finished third.

Electric Service Cut Off As Stolen Car Strikes Pole

An auto stolen from an East Liverpool resident struck a utility pole while rounding Taylor's Bend on Route 30, east of Chester, shortly before 4 a.m. today, disrupting electric service for more than five hours in an extensive area of Hancock County.

The owner of the 1962 hardtop sedan was identified as Thomas W. Eason of 124 E. 4th St., who notified the Hancock County sheriff's office that the vehicle had been stolen from the parking lot at the Jade Lounge on Route 30.

The auto had been abandoned when deputies arrived on the scene of the accident.

Some 200 families and business establishments in Johnsonville, Lawrenceville, Pughtown and rural areas were without electric service until about 9 a.m., when a crew from the Monongahela Power Co. in Weirton completed repairs, according to Walter Jordan., manager of the Chester office.

Trial Planned Monday In Manslaughter Case

LISBON — William A. Pfingsten 20, of East Palestine R. D. 1 is scheduled for trial Monday before a Common Pleas Court jury on a charge of traffic manslaughter.

The September Grand Jury indicted him in connection with the death of Gregory W. Lange, 18, of East Palestine last June 11. Pfingsten's car and a sports car driven by young Lange collided on County Rd. 443 between East Palestine and Unity.

The victim was dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital. Pfingsten received a fractured leg and lacerated scalp. The state contends the defendant drove left of center.

Police Continue Probe In Death Of Man, 25

MADISON, W. Va. (AP)—Police were presuming the death of Ronald Sharp, 25, of Pedro, Lawrence County, Ohio, as a hunting accident but continuing an investigation at last report.

Sharp had been out squirrel hunting before he was found shot last Saturday in Boone County woods, wounded so badly he died in a hospital here Friday. State police said three unidentified hunters discovered the wounded man, reported they saw someone running away, then after the other members of the Ohioans party showed up.

Sheriff Investigates Burglary Of Market

LISBON — The sheriff's office is investigating a burglary Thursday night at Carter's Market on Route 7, near East Fairfield.

Mrs. Pearl Carter, owner, notified Sheriff Russell VanFossan Friday that $50 worth of candy, cheese, baloney and wieners was taken.

She said she locked the store Thursday night at 9:30. Deputies said there was no sign of forced entry.

Council Will Meet

LISBON — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 at the Village Hall to act on a proposed agreement with the Columbiana County Metropolitan Housing Authority. Mayor Dean Stockman will preside.

About two-thirds of manual workers and 65 per cent of craftsmen employed at the time of the 1960 census were high school dropouts.

Crashes Hurt Man, Woman Near Midland

An Industry man and a Midland teacher were injured in two mishaps on Route 168 between Midland and Ohioville Friday.

Raymond George of Fairlane Dr., Industry, was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with a skull injury suffered when his car struck a parked truck along the road near the Hilltop Garage late yesterday morning.

Assistant Ohioville Police Chief Michael Haydin said George was headed north about 10:30 and applied the brakes on his auto. It swerved off the road and hit the pickup truck owned by Pete Vojnovich of Smiths Ferry R. D. 1.

There was heavy damage to the auto, Haydin said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Cyril Holmes of Meadowbrook Estates faces charges in connection with a collision about 8 a.m. in which Mrs. Jean Musser of Enon Valley, teacher at 4th St. School in Midland, suffered in injury to the right ankle. She was treated at City Hospital.

Mrs. Musser had halted behind another vehicle whose driver was picking up school children, and Holmes' 1967 auto struck the rear of Mrs. Musser's auto. There was extensive damage to Holmes' auto.

The mishap occurred about 200 yards south of the Hilltop Garage. Haydin said there was thick fog at the time.

Street Superintendent Test Planned Monday

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has scheduled a promotional examination Monday night at 7 in the Council chamber at City Hall to name a successor to Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin, who will retire Nov. 1 after about 35 years' service.

Since it is a promotional exam, as distinguished from an original appointment, only the men in the next two lower pay grades are eligible. The test will be open to four — Asst. Supt. John Wolfe and three maintenance men.

Today at noon is the deadline for filing applications. The name of the men with the top score will be certified to Safety Service Director Robert E. Vodrey for appointment.

Liquor Hearing Set

NEW WATERFORD — Joseph A. Costanzo, operator of the Village Inn at Sillman Ave. and E. Main St., is scheduled for a hearing Thursday at 10 a.m. before the State Liquor Control Board at Columbus on a citation alleging he permitted after-hours consumption of beverages.

Cleveland Area Is Saucer-Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Greater Clevelanders were saucer-eyed Friday night, but authorities assured them it was no apparition from outer space that they saw overhead.

The Cleveland Hopkins Airport operations office was swamped with calls, many from people who insisted they had been a flying saucer.

"It's traveling slow, no noise, red-green lights on top and a white-yellowish revolving bottom," was the way one woman described it.

Official explanation was that it was a small plane belonging to Campbell Air Service of Pittsburgh with the assignment of flying over crowds at scholastic football games in the areas. The advertising plane was promoting a line of new cars. It carried a revolving globe on a platform below the plane's fuselage.

Knights Of Columbus Meeting Set Sunday

Carroll Council 509, Knights of Columbus, here will be the host council during a district exemplification for the second degree Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

There are 25 candidates from Wellsville, East Liverpool, East End, Lisbon, Salineville and Sebring councils.

This will be the final in a series of degrees before the major degree which will be conferred Oct. 30 at St. Aloysius Church here.

2 Remain At Large After Bank Robbery

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An auto believed to have been the get-away vehicle was found in a drug store parking lot less than a mile from the scene of a $46,800 bank robbery Friday, but the holdup men remained at large today.

The car was found soon after two armed men in Halloween masks held seven employes of the Huber Heights branch of the First National Bank of Dayton at bay and took the money.

Our Country Right Or Wrong

Politicians are baffled about the undeclared war in Viet Nam.

They cannot make an issue of it.

It is only a fortnight from the 1966 congressional election and candidates don't know which side of the question to stand on appealing for votes.

All their sources of information reveal the same thing—that voters do not respond favorably to office-seekers' attempts to capitalize on the Viet Nam dilemma.

Those who attempt to thump bigger war drums have had no more luck than those who back away from war drums altogether.

It is obvious no one is happy about Viet Nam, but unsuccessful efforts to turn unhappiness to account make it plain that Viet Nam is not a partisan issue.

The reason is not obscure.

The instinct of the American people—the instinct of all people — is to draw together in a time of crisis.

Viet Nam is a crisis.

The issue about Viet Nam is not whether the United States should do thus and so in waging war.

It is whether the United States should have let itself be sucked into a vortex of Asian power politics.

In a larger sense, the issue is whether the United States has been misled into an untenable policy position by adopting John Foster Dulles's doctrine that its historic role is to slay Communist dragons on sight wherever they appear and whatever their reason for existence.

This is the question that Sen. Fulbright has been exploring, the policy that has stirred doubts in foreign offices of all world powers, the idea that has alienated many members of a rising generation whose young men do not relish the thought of providing manpower for a worldwide garrison state.

It is a question apart from the agony of Viet Nam. The United States is committed there, however mistakenly. For better or worse, it must finish what it has started.

Our country right or wrong . . .

It is that simple.

That's why Viet Nam is not a political issue in 1966, though it continues to burden the American people with the heaviest burden of doubt they have borne since they saved Cuba and the Philippines from Old World monarchists.

Point Overlooked

Ohio Supreme Court Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr. spoke in Canton Thursday and brought to light an aspect of recent U.S. Supreme Court crime rulings that has been quite overlooked.

Judge Schneider said public alarm and criticism of the rulings affecting law enforcement obscured the fact that Ohio throughout its history has been foremost in the nation in protecting an individual's right to counsel and to remain silent.

Voluntary confessions have been accepted but rubber-hose tactics were not condoned to elicit admission of guilt, the judge said.

In the judge's words "Ohio has never required a suspect to talk, only to listen. Now, the U.S. Supreme Court has said that a suspect does not even have to listen. This is the fundamental difference between the traditional and the future roles."

Ohioans can be proud of the state's judicial record.

There also is a tangible benefit.

Past policies will make adjustment to U.S. Supreme Court decisions an easier process.

Easy Pickings!

Two hundred twenty-four gambling devices in Hancock County. And — as The Associated Press report from Charleston pointed out — in a state where gambling is prohibited by law except at horse tracks.

The graspy, greedy hands must be making quite a haul as they dig into the pay-off pockets of tavern owners willing to buckle under for the sake of a dishonest buck!

Double Figures

It's traffic fatality time again with another weekend on hand.

The state of Ohio has been running in double figures, Columbiana and Beaver counties are in double figures for the year and Hancock County continues to have its share of fatal and near-fatal accidents.

All of which once more adds up to this—If you want to be around Monday, drive with the greatest of care and observe traffic regulation to the letter.

Someone Knows

Cincinnati has the sympathy of the nation in its ordeal of terror by a strangler-rapist who has killed five women in less than a year.

Every city that finds itself victimized by a series of crimes apparently committed by the same persons becomes an object of pity.

When this happens, Americans everywhere feel like apologizing for the failure of a civilization that can be victimized by acts below the behavior levels of the lowest beasts. A portion of our shame originates in near-certainty that someone knows who the guilty person is and is shielding him. Someone always knows.

Or, if the person is not actually known, someone always has the means of finding out, like the medical interne who detected the identity of the suspect in the Chicago nurse massacre last summer.

Someone, somewhere, somehow in Cincinnati is going to give the police the information that will put a terrorist in a cage. May it happen before he can claim another victim.

Free Press, Fair Trial

By Barry Schweid

WASHINGTON

Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the course of its study of free press and fair trial.

The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices.

And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the courts themselves have plenty of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity.

Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

WHAT WAS the response when the news media were asked "not to report certain information"? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 46 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 19 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

PERHAPS most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements?" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 40 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

Purely Personal

I think it is just as well we don't learn all there is to know about every murder committed in what we laughingly refer to as our "civilized society." We couldn't laugh about it any more.

Nothing happened in the baseball season just ended to change my belief managers do not know the limitations of their jobs and wear out their welcome by trying to manage things they should have left untouched.

I know little about railroads, but if the authorities stall off the Penn-Central merger until no one is objecting to it the merger never will be consummated.

Oh to have a supply of home-barbering equipment when barbers announce another jump in the price of a haircut. Fortunately this is of no concern to me or beatniks. They let theirs grow longer and I just let mine go longer. Either way, we beat the barbers.

People who do not thump with enthusiasm at the thought of Hubert Humphrey are most nervous out of President Johnson's curious decision to leave the country just before the 1966 election. It's the same way people felt when FDR left Harry Truman in charge of the store.

When the London branch of our family forwarded a telephone number, no one thought it was funny — not even someone who remembers when a long-distance call to the next town was an event that called for silent prayer and flushed faces.

Looking at those hula dancers whose writhing tummies and grinding hips greeted our national leader in Hawaii I wondered if this might not be a far better idea than the solemnites usually foisted on travel-weary dignitaries.

It interests me that only three out of the first 113 cases heard by New York City's controversial civilian review board found the police to be in the wrong and all the rest upheld the majesty of the law which sounds to me like a plus effect for policemen claiming review boards would wreck their morale.

'We Must All Lend A Hand'

Giant Union Merger Foreseen

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—There's a new kind of labor movement a-coming.

Small unions are blending into bigger ones—and bigger unions will be merging. So there will be fewer unions, more strongly centralized. Their national contracts will expire "uniformly" — on the same day.

Victor Riesel

Thus they'll be able to move as coordinated forces against big corporations which now are so swiftly diversified that movie companies now own food firms, auto corporations own TV receiver plants, coal people own underwear factories and movie firms, and a meat packing firm is deep in the production of locomotives and atomic ingredients.

First test of the new type of labor force came behind the scenes of the duel between 11 national unions led by the creator of the "new force," George Meany, and the General Electric Co.

This was the beginning of centralization — and the slow glacier-like process of replacing the concept that the AFL-CIO is a massive union of autonomous unions.

IN THE WORDS of Walter Reuther, this first sign of the almost unnoticeable replacement of autonomy by centralized leadership inside the big house of labor means that "unions must seek to coordinate their collective bargaining efforts to deal with major corporations that have blurred traditional lines by mergers, stock swaps and changing technologies."

Even as the battling between the big Meany committee and GE continuously hit the headlines, new battle lines were being traced for drives on other great corporations. With no fanfare, the labor movement's Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) — 6 million strong and with millions in its treasury — scheduled a conference for the Hotel Sherman in Chicago this week to develop strategy against the copper industry.

In the union combine, which will face such corporations as Anaconda, American Smelting and Refining, Kennecott Copper and Phelps Dodge, will be such powerful unions as the teamsters, the steel workers, the auto union, the (airline, etc.) machinists, the electrical brotherhood, the International Union of Electrical Workers and the Mine, Mill an Smelter Workers.

SOME 50 OF THEIR LEADERS and technicians will take three days to plan for action next year. At that time — throughout 1967—the headlines will match those stirred by the GE controversy.

Lagor's technicians, led by the IUD's Jack Conway, the executive director who is a blend of egghead (hard-boiled) and master organizer, will view the copper industry on three levels: mining, smelting, production.

These technicians met last July 13-15 in Denver. At the end of their next conference they'll set a new date, skillfully creating subcommittees to tackle each company in each field — but always through a centralized high command reaching back to Meany, Conway and Reuther.

This is but one of some 75 such campaigns, including offensives against the tool and die, drug, chemical and other industries which produce over 10,000 products. But not all are aimed at the big corporations. There are smaller central committees for smaller businesses, Mr. Conway said the other day.

"We set up our coordinated commands for firms with 10 to 12 thousand employes. We deal in pensions, fringes and the like. But the theory is the same.

"Thus we are preparing for eventual dealings with the giant copper industry, and have just held conferences with our unions which deal with Armour and Co., once just a meat packing firm and now in locomotives — as well as little businesses."

OF COURSE, there will be tougher strikes. Will this be bad. I asked today's top mediator, the soft-speaking gentle Dave Cole, now one of President Johnson's shadow cabinet advisers.

"It's all to the good," said Cole shortly after participating as one member of President Johnson's three-man board of inquiry into the rash of GE strikes.

"It will eliminate the whipsawing of employers. It will eliminate the rivalries among unions to get the biggest settlement and therefore to be the last to settle.

"I have had difficult experiences recently. In two instances there was a complete lack of coordination on the union side. In fact the rivalry, with each trying to outdo the other, brought chaos and an almost interminable strike.

"But with coordinated bargaining, when you do get a settlement, it will be a complete settlement. Wipe out the interunion wrangling and fragmented bargaining and you will have more rational bargaining and longer industrial peace in the end."

Dave Cole is a scientist in his field. If he sees labor peace in our time, the new type of labor movement is something to await anxiously.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

You may call this a "plea" letter—a plea to the people of Midland who are interested in the Midland Hot Stove League, a plea to all the boys who are now men and who played at one time for the league, to the parents concerned about their sons and the opportunity for them to learn organized sport, and to the people who have donated time and money to help boys prepare themselves for sports.

Why are we letting this wonderful organization go to pot?

Many years ago this league was formed by some of the town's finest citizens, such as the late Fr. George Baumer, the late A. L. Sohnhalter, Alex Della Valle, Dr. Frank Benedict and others.

These men firmly believed investment in the youth of Midland for teaching sportsmenship and organized play would pay off big dividends. We can be proud of the many boys who over the years have done well in sports, almost all getting their start in the Hot Stove program.

I am in my 17th year as one of the league coaches. I have always felt that as a police officer for the borough, this was one way I could work with the youth of the town in holding down delinquency — by keeping boys occupied in sports, utilizing their energy for something constructive rather than destructive.

Speaking for most of the coaches of the league, I believe the trouble lies with the organization. Many of the men holding office have yet to attend a meeting. Many don't even know who the president is.

Many of those elected or appointed got in office because of their standing in the community, but they are too busy to put in any time to serve the league.

The coaches put in three hours a day, five to six days a week, yet some of these officers cannot give us two hours a month for a meeting.

Some of the officers claim the coaches gripe too much. Sure we do, but for a reason.

It is the duty of one of the officers to prepare a schedule and get the approval of the school board for use of the athletic field. I have had to cancel games because this officer failed to get the approval of the board for the field.

Boys who join the Hot Stove football teams ordinarily would be admitted free to high school home games. Not this year—this officer forgot to get clearance with the proper authorities.

Some of the equipment used by the boys is shameful. When the league president found out how poor our uniforms were, he obtained 14 uniforms for each team. He is trying to do a good job, but finds it hard to do alone.

We need the support of the town in this organization. We want men or women who have the interest and time to do a job for the boys. The coaches are asking the president to call an open meeting when the season ends, and to have an election of officers on the basis of the interest they have in the league.

If the people of Midland feel a Hot Stove League is worth having, come to the meeting and help keep a good thing going.

Judge Schneider said public alarm and criticism of the rulings affecting law enforcement obscured the fact that Ohio throughout its history has been foremost in the nation in protecting an individual's right to counsel and to remain silent.

Voluntary confessions have been accepted but rubber-hose tactics were not condoned to elicit admission of guilt, the judge said.

In the judge's words "Ohio has never required a suspect to talk, only to listen. Now, the U.S. Supreme Court has said that a suspect does not even have to listen. This is the fundamental difference between the traditional and the future roles."

Ohioans can be proud of the state's judicial record.

There also is a tangible benefit.

Past policies will make adjustment to U.S. Supreme Court decisions an easier process.

The graspy, greedy hands must be making quite a haul as they dig into the pay-off pockets of tavern owners willing to buckle under for the sake of a dishonest buck!

Double Figures

It's traffic fatality time again with another weekend on hand.

The state of Ohio has been running in double figures, Columbiana and Beaver counties are in double figures for the year and Hancock County continues to have its share of fatal and near-fatal accidents.

All of which once more adds up to this—If you want to be around Monday, drive with the greatest of care and observe traffic regulation to the letter.

Someone Knows

Cincinnati has the sympathy of the nation in its ordeal of terror by a strangler-rapist who has killed five women in less than a year.

Every city that finds itself victimized by a series of crimes apparently committed by the same persons becomes an object of pity.

When this happens, Americans everywhere feel like apologizing for the failure of a civilization that can be victimized by acts below the behavior levels of the lowest beasts. A portion of our shame originates in near-certainty that someone knows who the guilty person is and is shielding him. Someone always knows.

Or, if the person is not actually known, someone always has the means of finding out, like the medical interne who detected the identity of the suspect in the Chicago nurse massacre last summer.

Someone, somewhere, somehow in Cincinnati is going to give the police the information that will put a terrorist in a cage. May it happen before he can claim another victim.

Free Press, Fair Trial

By Barry Schweid

WASHINGTON

Approximately 200 trial judges in 20 cities were questioned by the Reardon committee in the course of its study of free press and fair trial.

The views expressed offer some interesting insights into current courtroom practices.

And, taken together, they appear to support the idea that the courts themselves have plenty of elbow room to shield trials from prejudicial publicity.

Virtually all the judges polled by the American Bar Association panel, headed by Justice Paul O. Reardon of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts, preside over trials involving serious crimes. Sixty-eight responded.

More than half — 39 — said they never reprimanded the news media or requested they withhold their reports before or during trial. Two said they occasionally reprimanded the media and 27 said they occasionally requested that the reporting be withheld.

WHAT WAS the response when the news media were asked "not to report certain information"? Twenty-two said they generally or always received compliance, three said they sometimes received compliance and one said the requests were refused. One judge did not reply.

Among the procedures open to defense attorneys to guard against a prejudiced jury are to ask that the case be put off for a while or that it be heard somewhere else.

Thirty-four judges said they had never been asked to delay a case on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and 41 said they had never been asked for a change of locale on those grounds.

And yet 32 judges said there are occasions when a continuance is an effective remedy and 40 said the same thing about a change of venue.

The judges also were asked how often the defense sought a mistrial or new trial on grounds of prejudicial news coverage. Thirty-seven said never, 19 said seldom, eight said occasionally, one said often and three did not answer.

PERHAPS most significant were the replies to the question: "What benefits do you believe are derived from news reporting of criminal matters?"

Thirty-six said it increases public awareness, 18 said scrutiny of public officials, nine said deterrence of crime and two said it aids administration of justice. Fourteen said there were no benefits.

Nine judges did not answer. Of those that responded some listed more than one benefit.

Could the same benefits be obtained if attorneys and law enforcement officers were prohibited from making certain "extrajudicial public statements?" — a major recommendation of the committee.

Seven judges said benefits would be impaired, 40 said they would still be obtained, 14 said there would be no benefits and seven did not answer.

I think it is just as well we don't learn all there is to know about every murder committed in what we laughingly refer to as our "civilized society." We couldn't laugh about it any more.

'We Must All Lend A Hand'

Giant Union Merger Foreseen

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON—There's a new kind of labor movement a-coming.

Small unions are blending into bigger ones—and bigger unions will be merging. So there will be fewer unions, more strongly centralized. Their national contracts will expire "uniformly" — on the same day.

Victor Riesel

Thus they'll be able to move as coordinated forces against big corporations which now are so swiftly diversified that movie companies now own food firms, auto corporations own TV receiver plants, coal people own underwear factories and movie firms, and a meat packing firm is deep in the production of locomotives and atomic ingredients.

First test of the new type of labor force came behind the scenes of the duel between 11 national unions led by the creator of the "new force," George Meany, and the General Electric Co.

This was the beginning of centralization — and the slow glacier-like process of replacing the concept that the AFL-CIO is a massive union of autonomous unions.

IN THE WORDS of Walter Reuther, this first sign of the almost unnoticeable replacement of autonomy by centralized leadership inside the big house of labor means that "unions must seek to coordinate their collective bargaining efforts to deal with major corporations that have blurred traditional lines by mergers, stock swaps and changing technologies."

Even as the battling between the big Meany committee and GE continuously hit the headlines, new battle lines were being traced for drives on other great corporations. With no fanfare, the labor movement's Industrial Union Dept. (IUD) — 6 million strong and with millions in its treasury — scheduled a conference for the Hotel Sherman in Chicago this week to develop strategy against the copper industry.

In the union combine, which will face such corporations as Anaconda, American Smelting and Refining, Kennecott Copper and Phelps Dodge, will be such powerful unions as the teamsters, the steel workers, the auto union, the (airline, etc.) machinists, the electrical brotherhood, the International Union of Electrical Workers and the Mine, Mill an Smelter Workers.

SOME 50 OF THEIR LEADERS and technicians will take three days to plan for action next year. At that time — throughout 1967—the headlines will match those stirred by the GE controversy.

Lagor's technicians, led by the IUD's Jack Conway, the executive director who is a blend of egghead (hard-boiled) and master organizer, will view the copper industry on three levels: mining, smelting, production.

These technicians met last July 13-15 in Denver. At the end of their next conference they'll set a new date, skillfully creating subcommittees to tackle each company in each field — but always through a centralized high command reaching back to Meany, Conway and Reuther.

This is but one of some 75 such campaigns, including offensives against the tool and die, drug, chemical and other industries which produce over 10,000 products. But not all are aimed at the big corporations. There are smaller central committees for smaller businesses, Mr. Conway said the other day.

"We set up our coordinated commands for firms with 10 to 12 thousand employes. We deal in pensions, fringes and the like. But the theory is the same.

"Thus we are preparing for eventual dealings with the giant copper industry, and have just held conferences with our unions which deal with Armour and Co., once just a meat packing firm and now in locomotives — as well as little businesses."

OF COURSE, there will be tougher strikes. Will this be bad. I asked today's top mediator, the soft-speaking gentle Dave Cole, now one of President Johnson's shadow cabinet advisers.

"It's all to the good," said Cole shortly after participating as one member of President Johnson's three-man board of inquiry into the rash of GE strikes.

"It will eliminate the whipsawing of employers. It will eliminate the rivalries among unions to get the biggest settlement and therefore to be the last to settle.

"I have had difficult experiences recently. In two instances there was a complete lack of coordination on the union side. In fact the rivalry, with each trying to outdo the other, brought chaos and an almost interminable strike.

"But with coordinated bargaining, when you do get a settlement, it will be a complete settlement. Wipe out the interunion wrangling and fragmented bargaining and you will have more rational bargaining and longer industrial peace in the end."

Dave Cole is a scientist in his field. If he sees labor peace in our time, the new type of labor movement is something to await anxiously.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

You may call this a "plea" letter—a plea to the people of Midland who are interested in the Midland Hot Stove League, a plea to all the boys who are now men and who played at one time for the league, to the parents concerned about their sons and the opportunity for them to learn organized sport, and to the people who have donated time and money to help boys prepare themselves for sports.

Why are we letting this wonderful organization go to pot?

Many years ago this league was formed by some of the town's finest citizens, such as the late Fr. George Baumer, the late A. L. Sohnhalter, Alex Della Valle, Dr. Frank Benedict and others.

These men firmly believed investment in the youth of Midland for teaching sportsmenship and organized play would pay off big dividends. We can be proud of the many boys who over the years have done well in sports, almost all getting their start in the Hot Stove program.

I am in my 17th year as one of the league coaches. I have always felt that as a police officer for the borough, this was one way I could work with the youth of the town in holding down delinquency — by keeping boys occupied in sports, utilizing their energy for something constructive rather than destructive.

Speaking for most of the coaches of the league, I believe the trouble lies with the organization. Many of the men holding office have yet to attend a meeting. Many don't even know who the president is.

Many of those elected or appointed got in office because of their standing in the community, but they are too busy to put in any time to serve the league.

The coaches put in three hours a day, five to six days a week, yet some of these officers cannot give us two hours a month for a meeting.

Some of the officers claim the coaches gripe too much. Sure we do, but for a reason.

It is the duty of one of the officers to prepare a schedule and get the approval of the school board for use of the athletic field. I have had to cancel games because this officer failed to get the approval of the board for the field.

Boys who join the Hot Stove football teams ordinarily would be admitted free to high school home games. Not this year—this officer forgot to get clearance with the proper authorities.

Some of the equipment used by the boys is shameful. When the league president found out how poor our uniforms were, he obtained 14 uniforms for each team. He is trying to do a good job, but finds it hard to do alone.

We need the support of the town in this organization. We want men or women who have the interest and time to do a job for the boys. The coaches are asking the president to call an open meeting when the season ends, and to have an election of officers on the basis of the interest they have in the league.

If the people of Midland feel a Hot Stove League is worth having, come to the meeting and help keep a good thing going.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Again Points To 'Blessings'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following is the text of President Johnson's Thanksgiving proclamation:

They came in tiny wooden ships. On an unknown and alien shore, they planted and built, settled and survived. Then they gave solemn thanks to God for his goodness and bounty. America, well over 300 years ago, had its first Thanksgiving Day.

For many years your presidents have had the opportunity to proclaim Thanksgiving Day, to address themselves to the American people, to remind us of the blessings we enjoy and the thanks that we owe.

If we consider the fervor with which those colonists in Virginia and Massachusetts gave thanks, when they had so little, we are taught how much deeper should our thanks be—when we have so much.

Never, in all the hundreds of Thanksgiving Days, has our nation possessed a greater abundance, not only of material things but of the precious intangibles that make life worth living.

Never have we been better fed, better housed, better clothed. Never have so many Americans been earning their own way, and been able to provide their families with the marvelous products of a momentous age.

Nor has America ever been healthier, nor had more of her children in school and in college. Nor have we ever had more time for recreation and refreshment of the spirit, nor more ways and places in which to study and to enrich our lives through the arts.

Never have our greatest blessings—our freedoms—been more widely enjoyed by our people. Nor have we ever been closer to the day when every American will have an equal opportunity and an equal freedom.

No, we do not yet have peace in the world. Our men are engaged again, as they have been on so many other Thanksgivings, on a foreign field fighting for freedom. But we can be thankful for their strength that has always kept our liberty secure. We can be thankful for our science and technology that helps to guard our America.

Thanks are better spoken by deed rather than word. Therefore, it behooves a grateful America to share its blessings with our brothers abroad, with those who have so little of the abundance that is ours.

Simple justice and a concern for our fellow man require that we be ready to offer what we can of our food, our resources, our talents, our energies, our skills, and our knowledge to help others build a better life for themselves.

We should thank God that we are able.

Let us, therefore, in this splendid American tradition, thank him who created us and all that we have. Let us do so with a firm resolve to be worthy of his abundant blessings. Let us assemble in our homes and in our places of worship, each in his own way.

Let us thank God for the America we are so fortunate to know.

Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in consonance with Section 6103 of Title 5 of the United States Code designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 24, 1966, as a day of national thanksgiving.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this seventh day of October In the year of our Lord Nineteen hundred and sixty-six, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-first.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
What About Your Soul?
Jesus made a statement in Mt. 16:26 that each of us would do well to notice. He said, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" This statement indicates just how valuable our soul is. In comparison with all the wealth of the world, Jesus said that our soul is more valuable.
The reason for this statement can be seen when we consider the fact that all of the money of this world will perish but our soul is immortal. Jesus said that we ought to be laying up for ourselves treasures in Heaven and not treasures on the earth. Those on the earth will see corruption but the things that we do for God will last. Mt. 6:19-21. When a person has come to the end of life on the earth, he will leave all earthly possessions behind. His soul will live on. In Luke 12 Jesus taught about a man who showed much concern for the things of this life but who did not show any concern for his most valuable possession. He was concerned with building greater barns to hold all of his goods. He did not realize that he was going to die shortly and that his concern should have been for his soul. He thought that he had all he needed for many years. Notice what God said to him. Lk. 12:20. "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?"
The lesson that we must learn from these facts is that our soul is too important for us to ignore. We have no assurance of having another day on this earth. Thus, the only thing that really matters is that we save our soul. We have wasted our time on the earth unless we work out our own salvation. Phil. 2:12.
This really explains why this article is sponsored by the Church of Christ. We believe that God has given to us a way of salvation. That way is revealed in the teaching of the Bible. Thus, we are interested in urging all people to be sure that they are taking care of their soul. Jesus said that the truth would free us from our sins. Jno. 8:32. Unless we give diligence in finding the truth about our soul and then obeying that truth, we will be in danger of losing our greatest possession.
When people on the day of Pentecost wanted to know what to do to save their souls, they were given the truth. Peter said, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Those who received the word spoken this day, were baptized. They did this to save their souls. Have you taken care of this matter? Remember the value of your soul.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

What About Your Soul?

Jesus made a statement in Mt. 16:26 that each of us would do well to notice. He said, "For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" This statement indicates just how valuable our soul is. In comparison with all the wealth of the world, Jesus said that our soul is more valuable.

The reason for this statement can be seen when we consider the fact that all of the money of this world will perish but our soul is immortal. Jesus said that we ought to be laying up for ourselves treasures in Heaven and not treasures on the earth. Those on the earth will see corruption but the things that we do for God will last. Mt. 6:19-21. When a person has come to the end of life on the earth, he will leave all earthly possessions behind. His soul will live on. In Luke 12 Jesus taught about a man who showed much concern for the things of this life but who did not show any concern for his most valuable possession. He was concerned with building greater barns to hold all of his goods. He did not realize that he was going to die shortly and that his concern should have been for his soul. He thought that he had all he needed for many years. Notice what God said to him. Lk. 12:20. "But God said unto him, Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee: then whose shall those things be, which thou hast provided?"

The lesson that we must learn from these facts is that our soul is too important for us to ignore. We have no assurance of having another day on this earth. Thus, the only thing that really matters is that we save our soul. We have wasted our time on the earth unless we work out our own salvation. Phil. 2:12.

This really explains why this article is sponsored by the Church of Christ. We believe that God has given to us a way of salvation. That way is revealed in the teaching of the Bible. Thus, we are interested in urging all people to be sure that they are taking care of their soul. Jesus said that the truth would free us from our sins. Jno. 8:32. Unless we give diligence in finding the truth about our soul and then obeying that truth, we will be in danger of losing our greatest possession.

When people on the day of Pentecost wanted to know what to do to save their souls, they were given the truth. Peter said, "Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost." Those who received the word spoken this day, were baptized. They did this to save their souls. Have you taken care of this matter? Remember the value of your soul.

Car Seen Total Loss After Wellsville Fire

A 1955 model Oldsmobile sedan owned by Hilda Smith of East Liverpool R.D. 1 was termed a total loss after the interior was damaged heavily in a blaze which broke out Friday at 6:37 p.m. at 25th St. and Clark Ave., Wellsville, firemen reported.

Clyde Smith, also of East Liverpool R.D. 1, was driving the car when the blaze was discovered, firemen said. The cause was undetermined. Sixteen men and one truck responded to the alarm. A second fire truck started a run to the scene, but returned to the station because the fire was termed under control.

Man, 23, Drowns

MORGAN City, La. (AP) — James K. Gary, 23, Toledo, Ohio, working as a pipefitter's helper, fell from a small boat into a canal Friday and drowned.

Trainer-driver Frank Ervin, 62, won the 1959 Hambletonian trot with Diller Hanover and this year he won the 3-year-old feature with Kerry Way.

2 Ministers Are Killed In Plane Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two ministers, one a former missionary to Africa, were killed Friday when their plane crashed on a takeoff from the Kent State University Airport near Stow.

The Ohio Highway Patrol found Dewey C. Hale, 48, of Columbus, the former missionary who piloted the plane, and his passenger, Gerald E. Masters, 29, of Stow, in the wreckage of the plane.

"He took my husband up for a ride in his plane," said Mrs. Masters. "They were going to circle the field once and come back."

Masters was the father of four children—Cathy Sue, 9, Steven 7, Deborah, 5, and Judith Ann, 18 months.

He was also the pastor of the Stow Missionary Chapel, and Hale owned the property on which the parsonage and the church were located. He was visiting Stow to complete the sale of the property to the chapel congregation.

State patrolmen and federal investigators were unable to determine immediately what caused the crash of the single-engine plane. No one saw or heard the crash.

The wreckage was about 400 feet west of the south end of the airport's north - south runway. Both bodies were still in the craft. The plane had nose dived into the earth, apparently while banking after takeoff.

The patrol noted that Hale was a qualified instructor, commercial pilot and airplane mechanic.

Masters, a native of Marietta, became assistant pastor of the chapel in January and full-time pastor in July. He was also employed as a welder at the Babcock & Wilcox Co. in Barberton.

Wool Men In County Endorse Agreement

LISBON — Columbiana County wool producers voted 21 to 7 recently in favor of the proposed new agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and the secretary of agriculture.

The agreement authorizes the secretary to withhold a fraction of producers' wool payments on 1966-69 marketings. Money withheld would be used by the Council for advertising and promotion programs for wool and lambs similar to programs carried out since 1956.

Eighty per cent of the 6,321 Ohioans who voted favored the agreement. They own 384,100 Sheep.

Driver Still 'Serious'

SALEM — Emerson Nihart of Salem remained in "serious" condition today at Youngstown Southside Hospital with injuries suffered when his car rammed a bridge abutment along Route 62 near Damascus early Friday.

Approximately 1.5 million persons died during a famine in Bengal, India, as recently as 1943, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Oak Glen Game Screened During Booster Meeting

Movies of the Philip Barbour game were screened by Robert Starkey, Oak Glen football coach during the meeting of the Oak Glen Boosters Club Wednesday night at the Red Barn on West Virginia Route 2, near the high school.

Highlights of the contest were pointed out by Vincent Monseau, Frank Lambert and Richard Burig, assistant coaches.

Francis Stephens, president, conducted the business meeting. Reports were submitted by Welty Vulgamore, treasurer; Eugene Murray, secretary; Paul Clunk, and Earl Jackson.

The club voted to hold a coaches' smoker Nov. 11, with invitations to be sent to all coaches on the 1966 schedule.

A similar event in 1965 proved successful, club officials pointed out.

It was announced that members of the football teams of Wells Junior High, Chester Junior High and New Cumberland Junior High will be guests of the Boosters Club at Oak Glen's final home game with Bishop McCort next Friday.

The group will continue to meet each Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Red Barn.

At next Wednesday's meeting, movies of the Beaver Local game will be screened.

3 At Chester Legion Receive State Posts

Charles W. Morris, adjutant of Chester American Legion Post 121, has been named chairman of publications for the West Virginia Department of the American Legion, Tommy E. Jones, state adjutant, announced today in Charleston.

Also appointed at Charleston by Richard Davies, state commander, were Harry S. Huff of Post 121, to the trophies and awards committee, and John Fred Morris of the Chester post, to the child welfare committee.

Ex-'Red Dean' Claimed At 92

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the former "Red Dean" of Canterbury, died today. He was 92.

The rettired Church of England clergyman had been in grave condition since he fell in his home last week.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Johnson died "peacefully" and that his wife was at his bedside in Kent and Canterbury Hospital.

A man who prided himself as a friend of the Soviet Union, Dr. Johnson became one of the most controversial figures produced by the Church of England in this century.

He earned his nickname because of his simultaneous preaching of Christianity and communism during his time as dean of Canterbury from 1931 to 1963.

With a beribboned hat perched on his bald head and puffs of white hair sticking out behind his ears, Dr. Johnson looked the very picture of a benevolent clergyman.

For years he was the center of fierce controversy because he praised the Communist way of life. He declared under oath in 1954 that he was not a member of the Communist party.

But during the Spanish civil war he said: "I saw red and you can call me Red."

Twice his activities drew public rebukes from the primate of all England, the Archbishop of Canterbury, but Dr. Johnson was unaffected.

Under English law, the dean of Canterbury is not answerable to the head of the Church of England, but only to the government. Only an act of Parliament could remove him.

Training Plan Set In Beaver

A Beaver County program is among six job training projects for which the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg has received federal funds.

The $15,056 grant provides for a course at the Beaver County Home and Hospital to train 60 as nurses' aides.

The state received a total of $260,610 over all to set up projects for 256 persons.

The programs are to be operated by the Bureau of Employment Security and the Department of Public Instruction.

Senior Veterans Join In Project

LISBON — Columbiana County's Veterans of World War I have undertaken as a service project the collection of old eyeglasses, sunglasses, scrap gold and silver and real and costume jewelry.

Chairman Harry H. Ferrall of Leetonia R.D. 2 said the request for the senior unit's help was made by Comdr. E. Andy Parsly of American Legion Post 290 at Columbiana.

The Soldiers Relief Commission of Cuyahoga County is sponsoring the project. Cash contributions will not be accepted.

Ferrall said glasses with unbroken plastic frames will be sorted, graded and sent to medical missions; sunglasses go to tropical countries and leper colonies, and the bits of silver, gold and broken jewelry are sent to a refinery. Money realized from the exchange will buy new prescription glasses for distribution to the needy in the United States.

Ferrall said Lisbon area residents may give material to Thomas Tucker at Legion Post 275.

2 Ministers Are Killed In Plane Crash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two ministers, one a former missionary to Africa, were killed Friday when their plane crashed on a takeoff from the Kent State University Airport near Stow.

The Ohio Highway Patrol found Dewey C. Hale, 48, of Columbus, the former missionary who piloted the plane, and his passenger, Gerald E. Masters, 29, of Stow, in the wreckage of the plane.

"He took my husband up for a ride in his plane," said Mrs. Masters. "They were going to circle the field once and come back."

Masters was the father of four children—Cathy Sue, 9, Steven 7, Deborah, 5, and Judith Ann, 18 months.

He was also the pastor of the Stow Missionary Chapel, and Hale owned the property on which the parsonage and the church were located. He was visiting Stow to complete the sale of the property to the chapel congregation.

State patrolmen and federal investigators were unable to determine immediately what caused the crash of the single-engine plane. No one saw or heard the crash.

The wreckage was about 400 feet west of the south end of the airport's north - south runway. Both bodies were still in the craft. The plane had nose dived into the earth, apparently while banking after takeoff.

The patrol noted that Hale was a qualified instructor, commercial pilot and airplane mechanic.

Masters, a native of Marietta, became assistant pastor of the chapel in January and full-time pastor in July. He was also employed as a welder at the Babcock & Wilcox Co. in Barberton.

Wool Men In County Endorse Agreement

LISBON — Columbiana County wool producers voted 21 to 7 recently in favor of the proposed new agreement between the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and the secretary of agriculture.

The agreement authorizes the secretary to withhold a fraction of producers' wool payments on 1966-69 marketings. Money withheld would be used by the Council for advertising and promotion programs for wool and lambs similar to programs carried out since 1956.

Eighty per cent of the 6,321 Ohioans who voted favored the agreement. They own 384,100 Sheep.

Driver Still 'Serious'

SALEM — Emerson Nihart of Salem remained in "serious" condition today at Youngstown Southside Hospital with injuries suffered when his car rammed a bridge abutment along Route 62 near Damascus early Friday.

Approximately 1.5 million persons died during a famine in Bengal, India, as recently as 1943, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Ex-'Red Dean' Claimed At 92

CANTERBURY, England (AP) — Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the former "Red Dean" of Canterbury, died today. He was 92.

The rettired Church of England clergyman had been in grave condition since he fell in his home last week.

A hospital spokesman said Dr. Johnson died "peacefully" and that his wife was at his bedside in Kent and Canterbury Hospital.

A man who prided himself as a friend of the Soviet Union, Dr. Johnson became one of the most controversial figures produced by the Church of England in this century.

He earned his nickname because of his simultaneous preaching of Christianity and communism during his time as dean of Canterbury from 1931 to 1963.

With a beribboned hat perched on his bald head and puffs of white hair sticking out behind his ears, Dr. Johnson looked the very picture of a benevolent clergyman.

For years he was the center of fierce controversy because he praised the Communist way of life. He declared under oath in 1954 that he was not a member of the Communist party.

But during the Spanish civil war he said: "I saw red and you can call me Red."

Twice his activities drew public rebukes from the primate of all England, the Archbishop of Canterbury, but Dr. Johnson was unaffected.

Under English law, the dean of Canterbury is not answerable to the head of the Church of England, but only to the government. Only an act of Parliament could remove him.

Training Plan Set In Beaver

A Beaver County program is among six job training projects for which the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg has received federal funds.

The $15,056 grant provides for a course at the Beaver County Home and Hospital to train 60 as nurses' aides.

The state received a total of $260,610 over all to set up projects for 256 persons.

The programs are to be operated by the Bureau of Employment Security and the Department of Public Instruction.

Senior Veterans Join In Project

LISBON — Columbiana County's Veterans of World War I have undertaken as a service project the collection of old eyeglasses, sunglasses, scrap gold and silver and real and costume jewelry.

Chairman Harry H. Ferrall of Leetonia R.D. 2 said the request for the senior unit's help was made by Comdr. E. Andy Parsly of American Legion Post 290 at Columbiana.

The Soldiers Relief Commission of Cuyahoga County is sponsoring the project. Cash contributions will not be accepted.

Ferrall said glasses with unbroken plastic frames will be sorted, graded and sent to medical missions; sunglasses go to tropical countries and leper colonies, and the bits of silver, gold and broken jewelry are sent to a refinery. Money realized from the exchange will buy new prescription glasses for distribution to the needy in the United States.

Ferrall said Lisbon area residents may give material to Thomas Tucker at Legion Post 275.

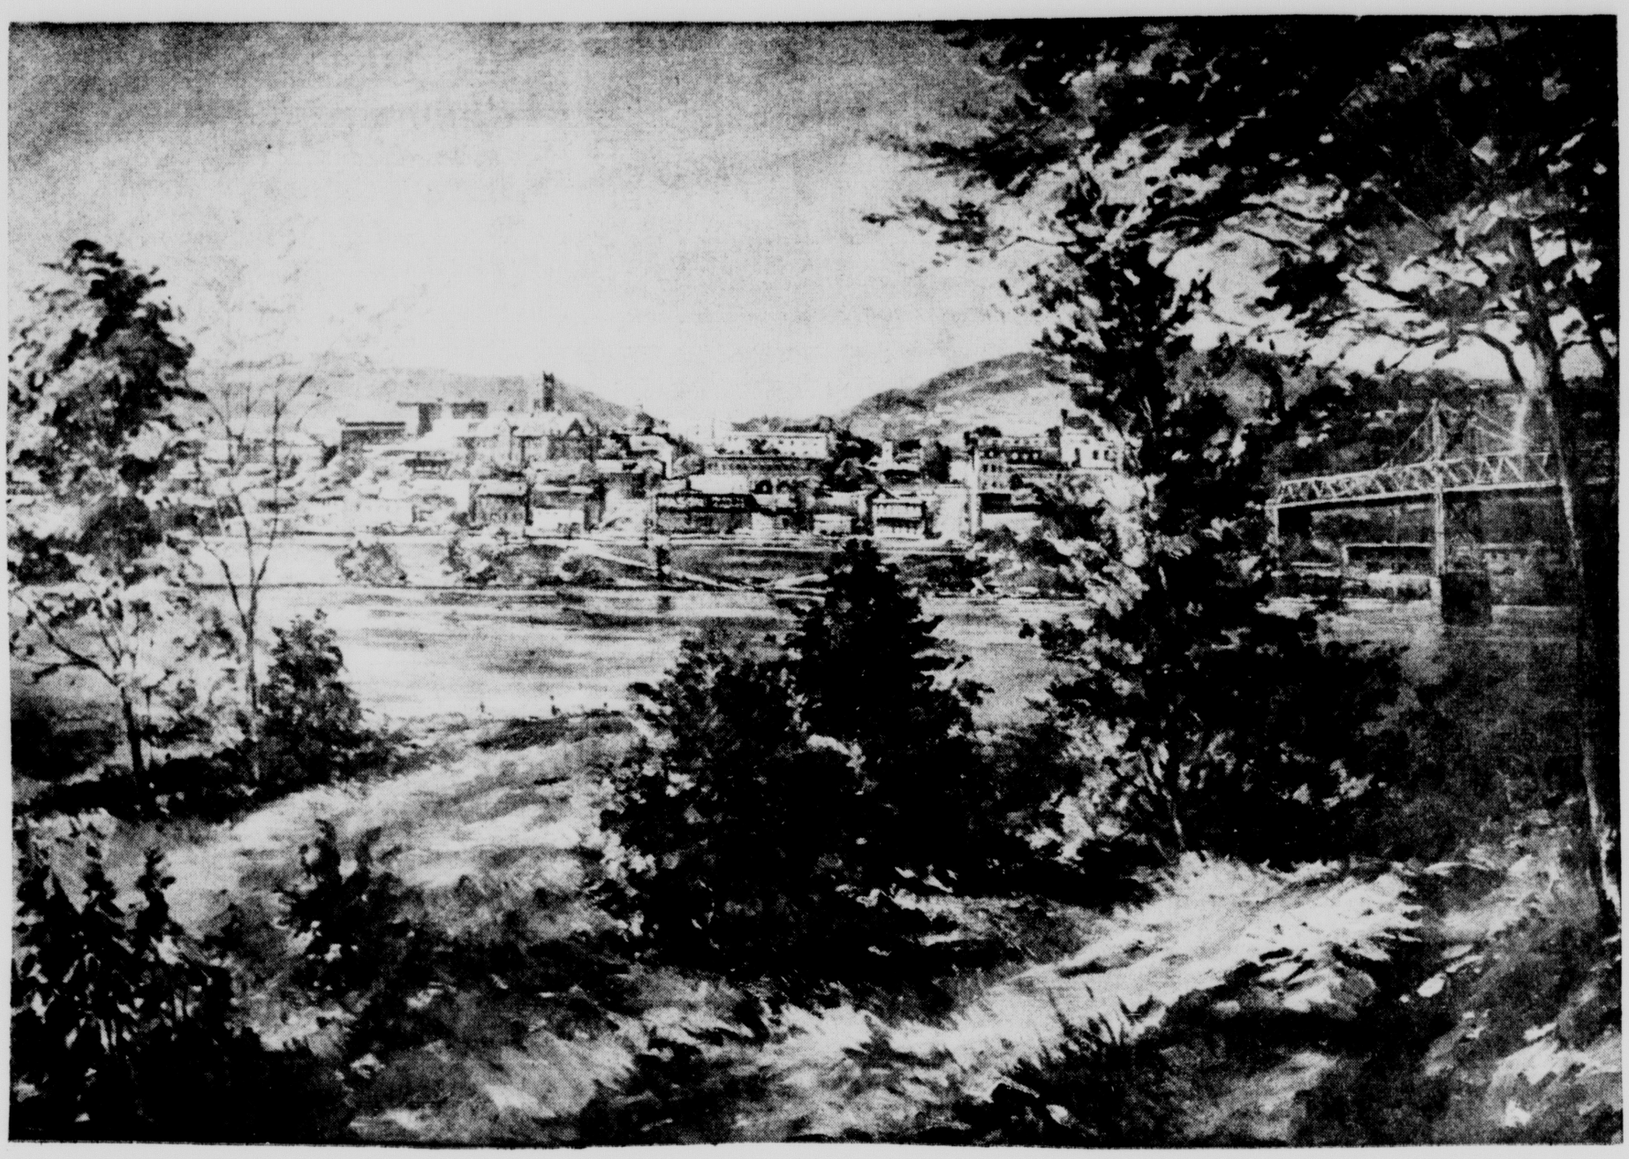
Feature Pages

East Liverpool, Ohio, Saturday, Oct. 22, 1966—Page 8

New View Of City



The familiar skyline of East Liverpool, dominated by the 72-year-old Central School clock tower, has been captured in a new painting by Hans Hacker, well-known city artist.

This is a view from the Chester side of the Ohio River along the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks between the Chester Bridge and the Yacht Club area.

Hacker of 330 Vine St., technical director of the Commercial Decal Co., painted the scene in the late summer during many visits to the site.

A native of Germany who has resided here since 1937, Hacker has done many paintings, charcoal and pencil sketches, water colors and chalk drawings of the tri-state district.

This 43 by 30 inch work has been purchased by a city resident for display in a downtown business.

Hacker did not have a show of his paintings this year because of the press of his work with the decal firm, but plans one next year. He is currently at work on a number, including another view of East Liverpool — this one from under the Chester Bridge.

Tangy Apple Butter Turned Out During A Long Day Of Stirring

By VONNIE McCLURE
Review Staff Writer

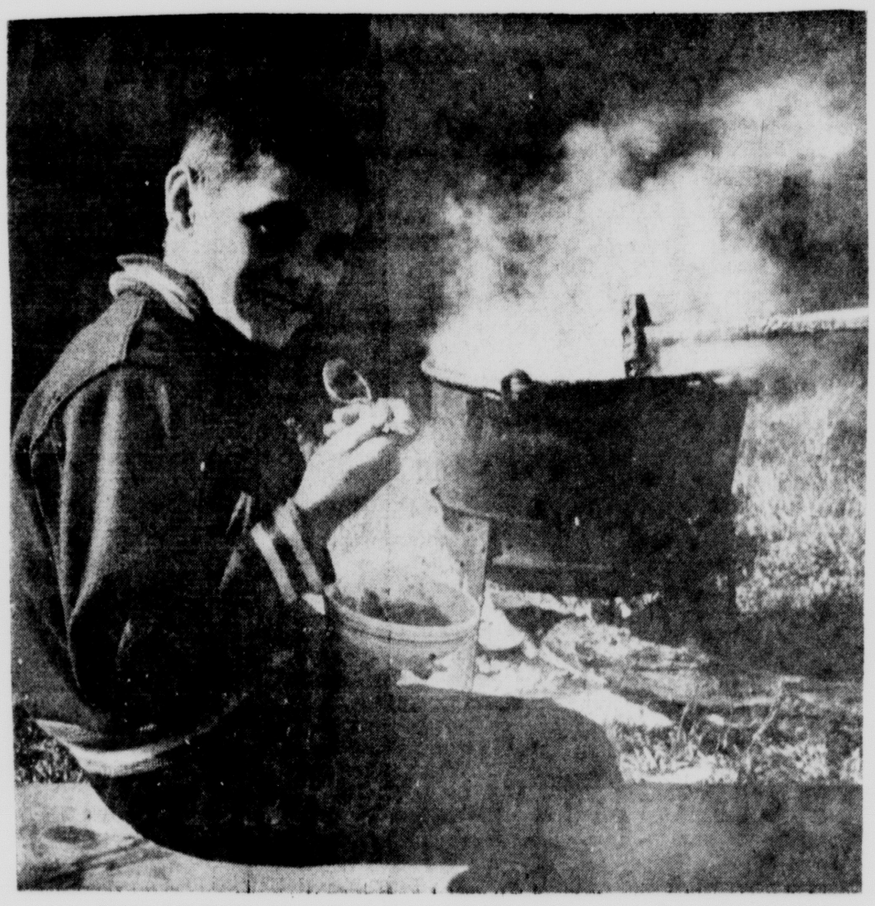
"By guess or by golly" appears to be the recipe used by the Women's Association of the Mill Creek Valley United Presbyterian Church in their 14th annual apple-butter making spree.

Equipped with 6 - foot stirrers, jeans, jackets and headscarves, the ladies gathered early Thursday for a day of stirring.

The scene of action was in front of the Hookstown Grange Hall. Following days of rain and dampness, the ladies prayed for some sunshine. Mrs. Carl Soisson Jr. encouraged one and all by saying she had faith Old Sol would brighten the day.

The operation had began Tuesday when, in spite of a drizzle, the apple gathering began in orchards near Route 30. Over 20 bushels of Jonathans, Roman Beauty and Northern Spy apples were salvaged by earnest pickers that day.

On Wednesday the group met to quarter the apples, cook them, put them through a ricer and ready five huge copper kettles for Thursday's ritual.



Mark Searight, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Searight of Hookstown, samples some apple butter hot from the cook kettle.

THE KETTLES were washed in a vinegar and salt preparation to remove oxidation. The apples were then poured into them to await the outdoor cooking.

To make Mill Creek apple butter, add 30 pounds of white sugar and four pounds of brown sugar to a 15 - gallon kettle of prepared apples, then about one - half cup of cinnamon "to taste." The results are so good that the 320-quart yield moves very fast at only 75 cents a quart, or 40 cents for a pint. If you don't bring a jar, you pay 10 cents for theirs.

One hundred quarts were on order by Thursday. Frank McGee of Imperial, on the fairgrounds doing some electrical work, purchased the first three quarts of the season. Each year the group sells-out of apple-butter in one or two weeks.

Co-chairmen of the apple-butter committee are Mrs. Floyd Shane of Hookstown and Mrs. Carl Soisson Jr. of Georgetown.

Association officers are Mrs. Charles Shane, president; Miss Olive Floyd, vice president; Mrs. William H. Moore, secretary; and Mrs. Greg McElhaney, treasurer.

AFTER ALL expenses are met, the profit is over $200 which is put into the general fund of the Association for projects under way.

Thirty Association members helped on the entire project. Raymond Searight and Carl Soisson built the fires early Thursday morning. Since the day was very windy, sheets of metal protected the blaze which kept the contents of the five copper kettles bubbling and brewing.

Wooden benches were located behind each kettle so stirrers could rest while being "spelled" by others.

On Thursday the group laughingly recalled one apple-butter making session during the past 14 when someone "helpfully" threw an old battery onto the blaze. It immediately exploded, scaring those seated on an old wooden bench. The bench went over backwards, and so did the ladies on it.

The oldest stirrer at Thursday's session was "Aunt Blanche" Glenn, and the youngest, Mrs. Jean Eckerd.

A coverdish dinner was served at noon. The entire cooking session lasts from 9 a.m. until about 6 p.m.

The stir paddles have long handles, and are made with rounded edges with several holes to let the apple butter through.

THE FIVE kettles have quite a history. The largest, the Bill Soisson kettle, holds 30 gallons and was bought at an auction.

The Glenn kettle is the oldest and holds 12 gallons. Its stirrer was used all 14 apple butter seasons to date by the Association.

The kettle has been in the Glenn family for generations.

The Mackall kettle holds 15 gallons, as does the Searight kettle and the Carl Soisson kettle.

After the outdoor cooking is completed, the long process of jarring the precious contents is only begun by the kitchen crew who work tirelessly in the immaculate kitchen of the Hookstown Grange. Pans full of upturned quart and pint jars and jar lids and rings line the tables.

Here orders are filled and work will progress until the last bit of tasty goodness is conserved in gleaming jars.

The whole job can only be fully appreciated as a child returning from school on a crisp fall day longingly eyes the deep red contents of the apple-butter kettles and envisions rivers of apple-butter spread on mountains of homemade bread.

The Verse Box

Don't Put It In Writing

Oft, in gloom, I sit and brood,
Of those who go about tattooed,
Of those who let their skins be etched,
With names and scenes oft times far-fetched.

What if "Bernice" rests on the chest,
And Ilene's really loved the best?
Or Namoi's needled on side or head,
Yet Gertrude down the aisle is led?

With Stella on his epidermis
Can he win that heart of Irma's?
If forearm states, "I love you, Pearl,"
Will Anne believe she's the only girl?

What happens on the wedding night,
If name and face are not quite right?
Will she understand? And are you sure,
It can all be blamed on a mad tatooer?

O tattoo artist let me be,
Etch no indelible lines on me—
No name or dame, detail defined,
I want to be able to change my mind!

You And The Law

In Ohio, there are specific professional and business occupations directly regulated by state law, in addition to those regulated by federal laws (such as stock brokers and securities specialists).

These laws are designed to protect the public by assuring that the person so licensed is competent in his field.

These occupations are regulated by special boards and generally require that the applicant pass a special examination. For instance, an attorney must pass the bar examination and receives his right to practice law from the Ohio Supreme Court. A realtor is licensed by the Ohio Board of Realtors after passing its special examination.

PRACTICING a licensed occupation without a license may result in a heavy fine, or possibly a jail sentence.

An auctioneer is licensed, but his license is issued through the Common Pleas Court. The license is valid for one year and he also must post bond with the local county treasurer.

In Ohio, the licensed occupations also include accountants, architects, barbers, cosmetologists, dentists, embalmers, funeral directors, nurses, optometrists, pharmacists, physicians and limited practitioners (such as osteopaths, podiatrists, physical therapists, etc.) pawnbrokers, professional engineers, steam engineers, boiler operators and veterinarians.

THERE ARE also other regulations regarding such licensing. For instance, commission merchants must keep specific accounting records and make them available for inspection by persons who consign goods to them. Violations may result in fines of from $10 to $200 here.

A pawnbroker is regulated in the amount of interest he may charge, the form of records he must keep and the procedure to be used in redemption of pawned articles. He also must make reports to local police authorities concerning articles he has received.

Ken fell into a pit and broke his leg while looking for the restroom in a service station. Can he collect damages from the owner of the station for negligence in allowing such a hazard to exist?

Probably not, if his only purpose for being there was to use the restroom. When a person enters a place of business for the sole purpose of using such "public" facilities as a restroom, a pay phone or a water fountain, he assumes the role of a "licensee."

This means that under most circumstances, he enters at his own risk and the owner does not have the same obligations that he has toward persons he invites onto the premises. If Ken had been there for purposes that would be mutually beneficial to himself and the owner, namely, to buy something, or at least to price it, then the situation would have been different.

UNDER THE law, when a man sets up a business, he is considered to have "invited" people to price or to buy his goods. So, when they are there for this purpose, they are his invited guests, so to speak, and he must assume responsibility for the condition of his property, insofar as it might injure anyone. He owes them the duty of making the premises safe or giving adequate warning of hazards which are known to the owner but not the "invitee".

But Ken was not there at the owner's invitation. He was only there for his own convenience, with no intention of buying anything, so the obligations of the owner were limited.

Tips Offered On Beef Buys

Ground beef, hamburger, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak — this variety of names can confuse the smartest shopper.

Frustrated homemakers facing such a choice may wish that today's supermarkets didn't have quite so much variety. Fortunately, government regulations on the production and labeling of ground beef products can help a homemaker know which meat to buy for savings and better eating.

According to Ohio law, any product labeled "hamburger" or "hamburg" may contain as much as 30 per cent beef fat or suet. But products labeled ground beef, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak, ground round, or ground sirloin cannot contain more than 20 per cent beef fat or suet.

OHIO LAW also specifies that such products as monosodium glutamate, soybean proteins and cereals can be used only as seasonings in these products. This law prohibits use of large amounts of these products as "extenders".

Federal law says that while additional fat can be added to hamburger, nothing but the fat on the carcass can be included in ground beef. If the meat crosses state lines, federal law requires inspection of the processing of the animal, carcass and the boning operation.

With the exception of ground round or sirloin, ground meats are usually made from less tender and or less popular cuts of beef. This doesn't mean that it is any less nutritious and wholesome. All beef meat has the same amount of protein, vitamins, and minerals.

But it does mean that some ground meats will be more suitable for use than another.

THE FIVE kettles have quite a history. The largest, the Bill Soisson kettle, holds 30 gallons and was bought at an auction.

The Glenn kettle is the oldest and holds 12 gallons. Its stirrer was used all 14 apple butter seasons to date by the Association.

The kettle has been in the Glenn family for generations.

The Mackall kettle holds 15 gallons, as does the Searight kettle and the Carl Soisson kettle.

After the outdoor cooking is completed, the long process of jarring the precious contents is only begun by the kitchen crew who work tirelessly in the immaculate kitchen of the Hookstown Grange. Pans full of upturned quart and pint jars and jar lids and rings line the tables.

Here orders are filled and work will progress until the last bit of tasty goodness is conserved in gleaming jars.

The whole job can only be fully appreciated as a child returning from school on a crisp fall day longingly eyes the deep red contents of the apple-butter kettles and envisions rivers of apple-butter spread on mountains of homemade bread.

The Verse Box

Don't Put It In Writing

Oft, in gloom, I sit and brood,
Of those who go about tattooed,
Of those who let their skins be etched,
With names and scenes oft times far-fetched.

What if "Bernice" rests on the chest,
And Ilene's really loved the best?
Or Namoi's needled on side or head,
Yet Gertrude down the aisle is led?

With Stella on his epidermis
Can he win that heart of Irma's?
If forearm states, "I love you, Pearl,"
Will Anne believe she's the only girl?

What happens on the wedding night,
If name and face are not quite right?
Will she understand? And are you sure,
It can all be blamed on a mad tatooer?

O tattoo artist let me be,
Etch no indelible lines on me—
No name or dame, detail defined,
I want to be able to change my mind!

You And The Law

In Ohio, there are specific professional and business occupations directly regulated by state law, in addition to those regulated by federal laws (such as stock brokers and securities specialists).

These laws are designed to protect the public by assuring that the person so licensed is competent in his field.

These occupations are regulated by special boards and generally require that the applicant pass a special examination. For instance, an attorney must pass the bar examination and receives his right to practice law from the Ohio Supreme Court. A realtor is licensed by the Ohio Board of Realtors after passing its special examination.

PRACTICING a licensed occupation without a license may result in a heavy fine, or possibly a jail sentence.

An auctioneer is licensed, but his license is issued through the Common Pleas Court. The license is valid for one year and he also must post bond with the local county treasurer.

In Ohio, the licensed occupations also include accountants, architects, barbers, cosmetologists, dentists, embalmers, funeral directors, nurses, optometrists, pharmacists, physicians and limited practitioners (such as osteopaths, podiatrists, physical therapists, etc.) pawnbrokers, professional engineers, steam engineers, boiler operators and veterinarians.

THERE ARE also other regulations regarding such licensing. For instance, commission merchants must keep specific accounting records and make them available for inspection by persons who consign goods to them. Violations may result in fines of from $10 to $200 here.

A pawnbroker is regulated in the amount of interest he may charge, the form of records he must keep and the procedure to be used in redemption of pawned articles. He also must make reports to local police authorities concerning articles he has received.

Ken fell into a pit and broke his leg while looking for the restroom in a service station. Can he collect damages from the owner of the station for negligence in allowing such a hazard to exist?

Probably not, if his only purpose for being there was to use the restroom. When a person enters a place of business for the sole purpose of using such "public" facilities as a restroom, a pay phone or a water fountain, he assumes the role of a "licensee."

This means that under most circumstances, he enters at his own risk and the owner does not have the same obligations that he has toward persons he invites onto the premises. If Ken had been there for purposes that would be mutually beneficial to himself and the owner, namely, to buy something, or at least to price it, then the situation would have been different.

UNDER THE law, when a man sets up a business, he is considered to have "invited" people to price or to buy his goods. So, when they are there for this purpose, they are his invited guests, so to speak, and he must assume responsibility for the condition of his property, insofar as it might injure anyone. He owes them the duty of making the premises safe or giving adequate warning of hazards which are known to the owner but not the "invitee".

But Ken was not there at the owner's invitation. He was only there for his own convenience, with no intention of buying anything, so the obligations of the owner were limited.

Tips Offered On Beef Buys

Ground beef, hamburger, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak — this variety of names can confuse the smartest shopper.

Frustrated homemakers facing such a choice may wish that today's supermarkets didn't have quite so much variety. Fortunately, government regulations on the production and labeling of ground beef products can help a homemaker know which meat to buy for savings and better eating.

According to Ohio law, any product labeled "hamburger" or "hamburg" may contain as much as 30 per cent beef fat or suet. But products labeled ground beef, ground steak, ground chuck, chopped beef, chopped steak, ground round, or ground sirloin cannot contain more than 20 per cent beef fat or suet.

OHIO LAW also specifies that such products as monosodium glutamate, soybean proteins and cereals can be used only as seasonings in these products. This law prohibits use of large amounts of these products as "extenders".

Federal law says that while additional fat can be added to hamburger, nothing but the fat on the carcass can be included in ground beef. If the meat crosses state lines, federal law requires inspection of the processing of the animal, carcass and the boning operation.

With the exception of ground round or sirloin, ground meats are usually made from less tender and or less popular cuts of beef. This doesn't mean that it is any less nutritious and wholesome. All beef meat has the same amount of protein, vitamins, and minerals.

But it does mean that some ground meats will be more suitable for use than another.

ONE OF THE TOP Prizes in big game hunting, a silvertip grizzly bear, was claimed by Harry Pigott of Ohioville on a trip to Wyoming this month.

And to top it all, this was the first hunting trip in the West for the Pennsylvanian.

Pigott is mighty proud of his trophy and well he might be, because it is the first time to my knowledge that anyone from the area ever shot one.

Pigott was hunting out of Cody, Wyo., with two friends, Carl Hoyt of Ohioville and Robert Morrell of Nevada St., Wellsville.

Rounding out the trip, all three bagged large bull elks, and Hoyt and Pigott each shot a mule deer.

The large grizzly, which weighed approximately 800 pounds, is in the record class. The skin, when stretched out, measured eight feet from tip to tip across the shoulders and front legs.

Pigott says he shot the bear on the first day of hunting. He was riding on a horse in a blinding snowstorm. All at once the snow stopped, and when Pigott looked up, there stood the grizzly.

Harry says he shot the animal twice. The first bullet struck the grizzly in the shoulder and the second broke his back. It was about 125 yards away. He was using a .306 magnum.

All the bull elks were good size, but this grizzly was the pride of the entire camp. It was so big, the hunters say they had a difficult time moving it about in order to skin it. The hide alone was all one man could carry.

Pigott plans to have a rug made from the hide.

Congratulations from this corner on a fine trophy.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS in Ohio have taken a plunge downward, which is always good news.

As of Sept. 25, non-fatal and fatal hunting accidents are down 100 and 200 per cent respectively compared to the same period last year. Squirrel season accident are drastically below those of 1965.

From the first day of squirrel season through Sept. 25, only nine minor injuries and one fatal accident have been reported, which contrasts sharply with the 26 non-fatal and four fatals recorded the same period last year.

Daniel C. Armbruster, Ohio's wildlife chief, has issued an appeal to all qualified instructors and local organizations to continue their work in providing firearm safety instruction for young people.

Game protectors are available for counsel and assistance in setting up firearm safety courses and will provide the names of qualified instructors to individuals and organizations wishing to participate in such a program.

OHIO'S DEER PERMITS have been sent to hunting license agencies. The opening date for deer with bow and arrow was last Saturday. The gun season on deer opens Nov. 28 in the eastern zone and Nov. 30 in the northwestern zone.

A publication containing information on the location of deer

checking stations and deer hunting regulations may be obtained from license agencies selling deer permits. Familiarize yourself with the regulations before taking to the woods.

Pennsylvania's bear population is not a "menace" to civilization but a natural resource that should be preserved through sensible conservation practices, the Pennsylvania Game Commission says.

Occasionally a black bear will make an appearance on farms or in rural areas, and sometimes in residentiaal areas or even in downtown sections of cities. On rare occasions, residents and even law enforcement officials become panicky and start shooting at the bruins.

Game Commission officials point out that some persons are not too well acquainted with the habits and disposition of the black bear, since it is seldom seen outside its customary mountain home.

The black bear, unlike the grizzly, polar or kodiak, is not a dangerous animal unless it is cornered or unless it or its young are attacked. A black bear has a natural fear of humans, and if undisturbed, will do its best to escape civilization.

Only if a black bear is pursued, frightened or cornered by humans is it dangerous.

Persons disturbed by the presence of a black bear are advised to contact district game protectors, who have had extensive experience and training in dealing with bruins.

Special equipment is necessary for capturing a black bear, equipment that is available only to game protectors because of the special knowledge needed to use it properly.

Unnecessary shooting of black bears is as senseless as arbitrary destruction of any other natural resource.

Beaver Local's Big Brass Band

The "Big Sound."

That has been Beaver Local High School Band's bold and brassy gridiron and parade music with its new instrumentation.

Almost all the woodwind (clarinet, flute, oboe) players have been switched to trumpets, glockenspiels or other instruments in order to provide a fuller, richer tone from the whole band.

Robert Sprague, director, said the flutes and clarinets are seldom heard from a band on a football field and the smaller instruments don't have the flashy appearance of the horns in sunlight or under the electric lamps.

In July, all the woodwind players met at the high school and decided to which instrument they would switch for football season.

Five used trumpets were purchased along with two sets of bells and a baritone horn. The rest of the instruments were borrowed, in many cases from younger brothers or sisters.

Four practice sessions were held on fundamentals of tonguing, fingering and tone production, and from there on, the students "were pretty much on their own," Sprague said.

The result has been a fuller, snappier sound and a more impressive appearance from the 80-member band. Sprague said Beaver Local is not the first to attempt the

About a month before the concert season opens, the woodwind players will revert to lessons on their original instruments, he said.

Stamps In The News

The island of Tristan da Cunha, known as the "loneliest island in the world," lies in the Atlantic Ocean about midway between South Africa and South America. A beautiful new stamp issue has been released by the island, a British colony, reports the Crown Agents in Washington.

The stamps commemorate the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Tristan garrison. Depicted on each stamp is a soldier in the foreground and a sailing frigate unloading troops a century

During the residence of Napolean on St. Helena in 1816 a detachment of 18 seamen established "Somerset Camp" on Tristan where the present township called "Edinburgh Settlement" is situated. The garrison was removed in 1817 but one corporal, his wife and two children remained. They were later joined by other settlers from the United States, Britain and Holland.

Tristan da Cunha figured in the news in 1961 when its inhabitants were evacuated to the United Kingdom during the eruption of the island's volcano. The people returned two years later and life continues there as before — as the issuance of stamps indicates.

THE CURRENT issue of The Lincoln Log," published by the Lincoln Society of Philately, featured the first of a series entitled "Lincolns on the Map." The story reports that 134 places are named "Lincoln." Of these, 43 were named for Abraham Lincoln. The publication contains many items of interest to collectors specializing in stamps pertaining to Lincoln.

THE NETHERLANDS has issued two new stamps for "Europa" in conjunction with other nations belonging to CEPT (Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications Administrations).

The designs on the 20 c and 40 c stamps show a ship with a bulging sail and the letters CEPT. The design for the stamps was by Gregor and Joseph Bender (brothers) of West Germany.

IN ORDER to meet the need for a high value stamp in its definitive series, Malawi has issued a 2 pound (British) stamp depicting a butterfly. The new stamp will be used mainly for cablegram charges, where the stamps are affixed to the back of the cablegram, and for airmail parcel services.

The key to choosing sausage from the many kinds available is right on the label of these meats. State and federal law makes distinctions between several kinds of sausage and requires that these distinctions appear on the label.

Meat labeled pork sausage must use only pork meat and cannot contain more than 50 per cent fat and 3 per cent added ice or water. Ice or water is needed to make handling easier.

Sausage which isn't specifically labeled "pork sausage" —such as breakfast sausage, fresh sausage or sausage — may be made with pork, but may also contain fresh beef, tripe or some kinds of variety meat. It is also limited to 50 per cent fat and 3 per cent ice or water.

A "country-style" label indicates that the sausage is more coarsely ground. Ohio regulations also prohibit use of artificial coloring in sausage or its casing except for natural wood smoke, an approved artificial smoke flavoring or an approved smoke flavoring. Monosodium glutamate or hydrolized plant protein may be used as "seasonings," according to Ohio law, but not as "extenders."

Most sausages are sold with some seasonings added. Actual seasonings used vary considerably from sausage maker to sausage maker. Sausage of the same name which crosses state lines will be similar in taste regardless of the brand because the federal inspection they must pass includes seasonings regulations.

Besides insuring that the product is wholesome and truthfully labeled, the purpose of this law is to assure consumers that sausages with similar names will be the same basic type of sausage, even if they are bought from two different companies.

MONEY CLIPS .... by Mort Reed

Apostle of thrift

John R. Sinnock modeled the likeness of Benjamin Franklin from a composite of sketches and the bust sculptured by Jean-Antoine Houdon. The marble bust was created from life during Franklin's tenure as ambassador to France and just prior to Houdon's visit to the United States in 1785.

Just how Franklin would react to having his portrait on a coin would be speculation, but the records show that he opposed the use of heads of any kind on currency. He proposed the space be devoted to thrift proverbs — something that would give the spender cause to consider the wisdom of parting with the coin.

Franklin also bitterly denounced the eagle as an emblem of the United States, claiming it was a cowardly bird with a bad moral character, and he suggested the turkey to be used instead. The turkey, according to Franklin, was worthy of the honor and the only distinctly American bird.

The Franklin-Liberty Bell half-dollar unites two names that have become synonymous over the years. With respect to Ben's opinion of the eagle, Sinnock tried to omit it from the coin entirely. But the coinage laws of 1873 require an eagle on the obverse of all coins above the denomination of a dime, so the bird was placed to the left of the Liberty Bell but greatly subordinated to it.

Here it may be noted that the Franklin half-dollar is the only U.S. coin to carry the name of a private firm or individual. The firm of Pass and Stow recast the bell after it had been damaged in shipment and the Philadelphia Assembly ordered their names cast on the repaired bell. The designer carried this detail into the final product and, by law, it may not be removed.

Sinnock's initials JS are located under the shoulder.

Hearing Planned For 'Point Case'

Charles Thomas Landy, 25, of Valley Ave. has been served with a summons ordering him to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday at 10 a.m. and show cause why his driver's license should not be suspended under Ohio's "point system" law.

Landy's case was scheduled by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after the case was certified to the local court by Fred Rice, registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus, under the 12-point "demerit" system.

Rice certified that Landy has accumulated 12 "points" in three cases in the local court—reckless driving, Oct. 15, 1964; leaving the scene of an accident, Oct. 22, 1965, and reckless driving, Sept. 12, 1966. The two reckless operation charges accounted for three points each, while the other count added six points to Landy's record.

State law stipulates a six-month suspension of the driver's license in the first citation under the so-called "demerit" system.

On African-Asian Resolution

U.N. Assembly Holding Unusual Saturday Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly meets today in an unusual Saturday session to consider an African and Asian-sponsored resolution against Britain's talks with rebellious Rhodesia.

The African-Asian bloc, showing its power, brought about the Saturday session by pushing the resolution through the Assembly's Trusteeship Committee Friday night on little more than three hours' notice.

As the committee debated, Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan announced that the assembly would meet today.

Final approval of the resolution appeared certain. The Trusteeship Committee approved it, 78-2. The committee and the General Assembly have the same member nations. Only Portugal and South Africa cast negative votes; nine countries abstained and eight others did not participate.

The resolution, put forward by most of the U.N.'s 64 African and Asian members, would have the assembly note "with grave concern that 'the talks about talks'" between Britain and Rhodesia jeopardized "the inalienable rights of the African people of Zimbabwe," the African name for Rhodesia.

John W. S. Malecela of Tanzania interrupted the Trusteeship Committee's debate on Rhodesia to submit the proposal after expressing alarm over reports that Britain was about to reach agreement with Rhodesia's white regime. He said immediate Assembly action was needed.

The resolution:

1. "Condemns any agreement reached between the administering power (Britain) and the illegal racist minority regime, which will not recognize the inalienable right of the people of Zimbabwe to self-determination and independence."

2. "Reaffirms the obligation of the administering power to transfer power to the people of Zimbabwe on the basis of universal adult suffrage (one man equals one vote)."

Prime Minister Ian Smith's government declared Rhodesia independent of Britain last Nov. 11 as a result of British pressure to move the colony toward African majority rule. A voluntary oil embargo voted by the U.N. Security Council at Britain's request has failed to bring Smith's government down.

Britain, the United States, Belgium, Canada, France, Italy, the Netherlands and New Zealand did not take part in Friday's vote.

Campaigns For Gov. Brown

Kennedy Warns Against More California Rioting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy campaigned through the populous Los Angeles area for Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown today, warning against more of the racial violence which has hit two California cities in recent weeks.

"We must prevent the repetition of violence — just as the underlying condition which gave it birth, the poverty and degradation of Negro life in the city, must also be a thing of the past," Kennedy said Friday night.

Shouting, enthusiastic admirers crowded around the New York Democrat when he arrived at Lockheed Air Terminal in nearby Burbank.

But there were dissenters. Kennedy heard jeers from pickets carrying signs boosting Brown's opponent, Republican Ronald Reagan. Other pickets had signs criticizing Kennedy for his harsh words against Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty at a recent Senate hearing.

Some of the placards read: "Carpetbagger," "Beware, This is Yorty Country," "Yorty-si, Kennedy-no" and "Aren't Two States Enough?"

In his speech at a dinner for Rep. James Corman, D-Calif., Kennedy confronted a major issue in California's gubernatorial race — a possible white backlash to violence in Negro districts.

Less than a month ago, the National Guard was called out to control an outbreak in San Francisco. This week there was violence in a Negro district of Oakland.

"As more and more of our people crowd into cities, too often unemployed and unheard, living in slums and poorly schooled, there will be increasing frustration, increasing temptation to explode in violence," Kennedy said.

"That violence is an intolerable threat to the future of every American — black and white — to the peace and the body's safety and the community's order — to all that makes life worthwhile."

Kennedy boosted Brown, who is seeking a third term, and Corman by comparing California with New York.

In New York, he said, most students must pay tuition at colleges and the state has had to raise taxes repeatedly. But in California, "parents are free from worry about tuition cost," and the state has progressed "without new sales or income taxes since 1959," Kennedy said.

Brown greeted Kennedy at the airport and planned most of his weekend schedule to coincide with the senator's.

2 Crashes Occur At Same Spot On District Highway

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon investigated two traffic mishaps early Friday afternoon which occurred at the same time at the same spot on Route 30 a tenth of a mile north of State Route 170 in the Substation district.

One crash led indirectly to the other, as a trucker pulled off the highway to avoid traffic which was halted at the scene of the first collision.

The first mishap involved a 1965 model convertible driven by Joseph Neff, 53, of Canfield and a 1966 model truck operated by Nathan Meister, 61, of Youngstown.

Both vehicles were southbound. Neff halted in a line of traffic and his car was hit from the rear by Meister's truck, the patrol said. Meister was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Jack Herman Jobe, 26, of 1378 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, swerved his truck off the highway to the right to avoid striking another truck which was halted at the accident scene, the patrol said. He was unhurt. Jobe was cited on a charge of driving at a speed too great for existing conditions.

Hearings Due Nov. 16 For 28 City Tax Cases

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has set hearings Wednesday, Nov. 16, for 28 persons named in affidavits filed Thursday by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson, accusing them of violating the city income tax ordinance by failure to file returns.

He set the date in advance of the preparation of notices by the court staff directing the defendants to appear for hearings. The court will make the names public after each has been served with a summons.

The 28 cases are the latest in a series filed in periodic "installments" of 20 to 30 in the last few months by the tax commissioner.

Mining continues to be a bright spot in Tunisia's economy, accounting for more than 40 per cent of export earnings. Phosphate - rock production last year exceeded 3 million tons, 11 per cent over 1964. Iron ore was up 20 per cent, to 1.1 million metric tons.

At Dinner Next Thursday

Catholic Service Bureau To Observe Anniversary

Bishop James W. Malone, apostolic administrator of the Youngstown Diocese, will be the speaker when the Catholic Service Bureau of Columbiana County observes its 25th anniversary with a dinner at Lisbon next Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

Recognition will be afforded those foster parents who have assisted the bureau in caring for children.

THE COUNTY bureau was established as a branch of the Catholic Charities Corp. of the Diocese of Cleveland in November 1941.

The office first was located in Lisbon and later moved to Salem, where it now is located at 544 E. State St.

When the Youngstown Diocese was established in July 1943, control and management of the bureau passed to it. For some time the agency continued under the supervision of the Youngstown office. The need for more autonomy was recognized and it was established in September 1962, with representatives from all the parishes in the county.

The bureau performs many services. Among them are to counsel parents and children, provide foster homes, place children in adoptive homes, give service to dependent children and assistance to the aged and counsel unwed parents.

Currently, there are 53 children under supervision of the bureau. They are guided by the bureau in matters of parent-child relationships, school difficulties and delinquency cases. They see that the children are cared for both physically and spiritually.

Funds for the operation of the bureau come primarily from the diocese's annual drive and from the Salem and East Liverpool community funds.

Miss Mary Catherine Donahue is the executive secretary of the bureau, with Mrs. Genevieve Engelmeier caring for the office and secretarial duties.

Other members of the board are Mrs. Gerald Costello and Robert Hocking of East Liverpool, Mrs. Clarence Peters of Wellsville, Reynaldo Oriole and Guy . Mauro of Salem, Mrs. Mary Gill of Lisbon, Thomas Reese of Leetonia, Mrs. Carl Gruber of Hanoverton, Robert Madden of East Palestine, Paul Dowdell of Summitville and Frank Sirianni.

Injunction Eyed By School Board At Martins Ferry

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) —The Martins Ferry school board planned to go to court today to delay imposition of sanctions by the Ohio Education Association.

Thomas J. Jones, attorney for the board in this eastern Ohio city of 12,000, said he would file in Belmont County Common Pleas Court at St. Clairsville for an injunction.

The move came in the wake of the OEA announcement, through the executive of the statewide teachers' and school administrators' organization, alleging "grossly unprofessional" conditions in the city school district.

The teachers charge the board has refused to meet with representatives of their association to discuss salary improvements and grievances.

Sanctions in effect would consist of recommendations for Martins Ferry teachers to quit and other teachers to refuse jobs here.

$50,600 Sought In Accident Suit

LISBON — A $50,600 suit for traffic accident injuries was filed Friday in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court here.

The petition by Wesley J. Wilson of 1732 Maple Ave., Wellsville, says his 1960 sedan and a Southern Local school bus collided at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 7, 1965, on Route 39, two miles west of Salineville.

The defendant is John L. Witherow of Salineville R.D. 1, the bus driver.

Wilson claims permanent injuries of the neck and back. He says he was driving west on Route 39 and Witherow pulled from County Road 418 onto Route 39 "while visibility was limited owing to fog and thereby caused a collision between the bus and plaintiff's car."

Hearing Planned For 'Point Case'

Charles Thomas Landy, 25, of Valley Ave. has been served with a summons ordering him to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday at 10 a.m. and show cause why his driver's license should not be suspended under Ohio's "point system" law.

Landy's case was scheduled by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff after the case was certified to the local court by Fred Rice, registrar of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Columbus, under the 12-point "demerit" system.

Rice certified that Landy has accumulated 12 "points" in three cases in the local court—reckless driving, Oct. 15, 1964; leaving the scene of an accident, Oct. 22, 1965, and reckless driving, Sept. 12, 1966. The two reckless operation charges accounted for three points each, while the other count added six points to Landy's record.

State law stipulates a six-month suspension of the driver's license in the first citation under the so-called "demerit" system.

On African-Asian Resolution

U.N. Assembly Holding Unusual Saturday Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly meets today in an unusual Saturday session to consider an African and Asian-sponsored resolution against Britain's talks with rebellious Rhodesia.

The African-Asian bloc, showing its power, brought about the Saturday session by pushing the resolution through the Assembly's Trusteeship Committee Friday night on little more than three hours' notice.

As the committee debated, Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan announced that the assembly would meet today.

Final approval of the resolution appeared certain. The Trusteeship Committee approved it, 78-2. The committee and the General Assembly have the same member nations. Only Portugal and South Africa cast negative votes; nine countries abstained and eight others did not participate.

The resolution, put forward by most of the U.N.'s 64 African and Asian members, would have the assembly note "with grave concern that 'the talks about talks'" between Britain and Rhodesia jeopardized "the inalienable rights of the African people of Zimbabwe," the African name for Rhodesia.

John W. S. Malecela of Tanzania interrupted the Trusteeship Committee's debate on Rhodesia to submit the proposal after expressing alarm over reports that Britain was about to reach agreement with Rhodesia's white regime. He said immediate Assembly action was needed.

The resolution:

1. "Condemns any agreement reached between the administering power (Britain) and the illegal racist minority regime, which will not recognize the inalienable right of the people of Zimbabwe to self-determination and independence."

2. "Reaffirms the obligation of the administering power to transfer power to the people of Zimbabwe on the basis of universal adult suffrage (one man equals one vote)."

Prime Minister Ian Smith's government declared Rhodesia independent of Britain last Nov. 11 as a result of British pressure to move the colony toward African majority rule. A voluntary oil embargo voted by the U.N. Security Council at Britain's request has failed to bring Smith's government down.

Britain, the United States, Belgium, Canada, France, Italy, the Netherlands and New Zealand did not take part in Friday's vote.

Campaigns For Gov. Brown

Kennedy Warns Against More California Rioting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy campaigned through the populous Los Angeles area for Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown today, warning against more of the racial violence which has hit two California cities in recent weeks.

"We must prevent the repetition of violence — just as the underlying condition which gave it birth, the poverty and degradation of Negro life in the city, must also be a thing of the past," Kennedy said Friday night.

Shouting, enthusiastic admirers crowded around the New York Democrat when he arrived at Lockheed Air Terminal in nearby Burbank.

But there were dissenters. Kennedy heard jeers from pickets carrying signs boosting Brown's opponent, Republican Ronald Reagan. Other pickets had signs criticizing Kennedy for his harsh words against Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty at a recent Senate hearing.

Some of the placards read: "Carpetbagger," "Beware, This is Yorty Country," "Yorty-si, Kennedy-no" and "Aren't Two States Enough?"

In his speech at a dinner for Rep. James Corman, D-Calif., Kennedy confronted a major issue in California's gubernatorial race — a possible white backlash to violence in Negro districts.

Less than a month ago, the National Guard was called out to control an outbreak in San Francisco. This week there was violence in a Negro district of Oakland.

"As more and more of our people crowd into cities, too often unemployed and unheard, living in slums and poorly schooled, there will be increasing frustration, increasing temptation to explode in violence," Kennedy said.

"That violence is an intolerable threat to the future of every American — black and white — to the peace and the body's safety and the community's order — to all that makes life worthwhile."

Kennedy boosted Brown, who is seeking a third term, and Corman by comparing California with New York.

In New York, he said, most students must pay tuition at colleges and the state has had to raise taxes repeatedly. But in California, "parents are free from worry about tuition cost," and the state has progressed "without new sales or income taxes since 1959," Kennedy said.

Brown greeted Kennedy at the airport and planned most of his weekend schedule to coincide with the senator's.

2 Crashes Occur At Same Spot On District Highway

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon investigated two traffic mishaps early Friday afternoon which occurred at the same time at the same spot on Route 30 a tenth of a mile north of State Route 170 in the Substation district.

One crash led indirectly to the other, as a trucker pulled off the highway to avoid traffic which was halted at the scene of the first collision.

The first mishap involved a 1965 model convertible driven by Joseph Neff, 53, of Canfield and a 1966 model truck operated by Nathan Meister, 61, of Youngstown.

Both vehicles were southbound. Neff halted in a line of traffic and his car was hit from the rear by Meister's truck, the patrol said. Meister was cited on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Jack Herman Jobe, 26, of 1378 Hillcrest Rd., Wellsville, swerved his truck off the highway to the right to avoid striking another truck which was halted at the accident scene, the patrol said. He was unhurt. Jobe was cited on a charge of driving at a speed too great for existing conditions.

Hearings Due Nov. 16 For 28 City Tax Cases

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff has set hearings Wednesday, Nov. 16, for 28 persons named in affidavits filed Thursday by Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson, accusing them of violating the city income tax ordinance by failure to file returns.

He set the date in advance of the preparation of notices by the court staff directing the defendants to appear for hearings. The court will make the names public after each has been served with a summons.

The 28 cases are the latest in a series filed in periodic "installments" of 20 to 30 in the last few months by the tax commissioner.

Mining continues to be a bright spot in Tunisia's economy, accounting for more than 40 per cent of export earnings. Phosphate - rock production last year exceeded 3 million tons, 11 per cent over 1964. Iron ore was up 20 per cent, to 1.1 million metric tons.

Catholic Service Bureau To Observe Anniversary

Bishop James W. Malone, apostolic administrator of the Youngstown Diocese, will be the speaker when the Catholic Service Bureau of Columbiana County observes its 25th anniversary with a dinner at Lisbon next Thursday at 6:30 p. m.

Recognition will be afforded those foster parents who have assisted the bureau in caring for children.

THE COUNTY bureau was established as a branch of the Catholic Charities Corp. of the Diocese of Cleveland in November 1941.

The office first was located in Lisbon and later moved to Salem, where it now is located at 544 E. State St.

When the Youngstown Diocese was established in July 1943, control and management of the bureau passed to it. For some time the agency continued under the supervision of the Youngstown office. The need for more autonomy was recognized and it was established in September 1962, with representatives from all the parishes in the county.

The bureau performs many services. Among them are to counsel parents and children, provide foster homes, place children in adoptive homes, give service to dependent children and assistance to the aged and counsel unwed parents.

Currently, there are 53 children under supervision of the bureau. They are guided by the bureau in matters of parent-child relationships, school difficulties and delinquency cases. They see that the children are cared for both physically and spiritually.

Funds for the operation of the bureau come primarily from the diocese's annual drive and from the Salem and East Liverpool community funds.

Miss Mary Catherine Donahue is the executive secretary of the bureau, with Mrs. Genevieve Engelmeier caring for the office and secretarial duties.

Injunction Eyed By School Board At Martins Ferry

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP) —The Martins Ferry school board planned to go to court today to delay imposition of sanctions by the Ohio Education Association.

Thomas J. Jones, attorney for the board in this eastern Ohio city of 12,000, said he would file in Belmont County Common Pleas Court at St. Clairsville for an injunction.

The move came in the wake of the OEA announcement, through the executive of the statewide teachers' and school administrators' organization, alleging "grossly unprofessional" conditions in the city school district.

The teachers charge the board has refused to meet with representatives of their association to discuss salary improvements and grievances.

Sanctions in effect would consist of recommendations for Martins Ferry teachers to quit and other teachers to refuse jobs here.

$50,600 Sought In Accident Suit

LISBON — A $50,600 suit for traffic accident injuries was filed Friday in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court here.

The petition by Wesley J. Wilson of 1732 Maple Ave., Wellsville, says his 1960 sedan and a Southern Local school bus collided at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 7, 1965, on Route 39, two miles west of Salineville.

The defendant is John L. Witherow of Salineville R.D. 1, the bus driver.

Wilson claims permanent injuries of the neck and back. He says he was driving west on Route 39 and Witherow pulled from County Road 418 onto Route 39 "while visibility was limited owing to fog and thereby caused a collision between the bus and plaintiff's car."

Potters Rout Martins Ferry, 54-0, In Homecoming

Herring Scores 3, Smith 2; Push Victory Streak To 5 Straight

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The only contest at Patterson Field Friday night was for homecoming queen as the East Liverpool Potters turned their scheduled game with Martins Ferry into a 54-0 rout before a paid crowd of 3,372.

The Potters ranked 20th in the state, scored early and often in the first half as they rolled to their fifth straight victory and sixth win in seven starts.

THE END came early for the hapless Purple Riders, which dropped their seventh straight this season and 13th in a row over a two-year period.

While Martins Ferry still holds an edge in the overall series, last night's victory was the 11th for East Liverpool in the last 12 starts between the two schools.

It was only a few years ago that Ferry had one of the strongest teams in the Ohio Valley and ranked high in the state, but last night the Riders fielded a young team dotted with sophomore and juniors, with an offense that didn't go anywhere.

In fact, the visitors showed a net of only nine yards for the contest. They gained 60, but were thrown back for 51 by Potter defenders. Martins Ferry did play a more respectable second half.

COACH Bob McNea's high-powered offense produced the season's second highest score. Only a 56-6 victory over Oak Glen surpassed last night's point total.

Halfback Darryl (Tweetie) Herring cashed in for three touchdowns to lead the scoring parade on runs of 40, 13 and 4 yards. His running mate at halfback, Denny Smith, registered twice.

The game was less than four minutes old when the Potters, in seven plays, marched to the one, from where Smith hurdled the line for the first of eight touchdowns.

About four minutes later Herring came on the scene to score his first of three consecutive touchdowns, going over from four yards out. Smith had gained 60 yards in two carries to set up the score.

HERRING thrilled the crowd with his second TD when he was apparently stopped near the line of scrimmage, but spun free and raced 40 yards for the third touchdown of the first period, pushing the score to 22-0.

Herring was off for his third and final touchdown with a 13-yard sprint early in the second quarter, the first of three quick TD's by the Potters in that period.

East Liverpool managed to score three touchdowns in slightly less than two minutes. After Herring registered, sophomore Jim Musuraca on a punt return took a handoff from Herring and raced 49 yards for six more points.

HERRING'S touchdown came with 9:30 left and Musuraca's with 8:27 to go in the half. Then Bruce Christian intercepted a Rider pass on the 12 and stepped into the end zone to score with 7:33 remaining.

With a 42-0 halftime lead, the scoring stopped through the third period as Martins Ferry drove from its own 39 to the Potter 16, controlling the ball a good share of the third quarter.

The Potters began a touchdown drive late in the quarter as two passes from Mike McVay to Jim Musuraca netted 43 yards, carrying to the four, from where Smith drove over for his second touchdown with 8:42 left in the game.

A LINEMAN got in for a share of the glory when guard Emanual Volino intercepted a pass near midfield and showed surprising speed to leg the ball 53 yards for the final tally with 1:53 remaining.

Although the Potter regulars played most of the second half, the majority of East Liverpool's scoring and yardage came in the first.

East Liverpool showed a net of 320 yards rushing, with 258 in the first half. Eighty - five more yards was gained through the air.

MARTINS FERRY gained nine yards on the ground and 21 in the air for a total of 30.

The Purple Riders showed one threat the entire game, the only time they were inside the Potter 40. That came in the third quarter when Martins Ferry kept the ball 12 plays and drove to the Potter 16, only to wind up on the 19 after four downs.

It was following this series of downs that the Potters punted for the only time of the game.

Outside of the one drive, Ferry did not show any ground attack and quarterback Jim Smith was only on target on three of eight passes.

Herring and Smith shared the rushing honors for the Potters. Herring, the fleet halfback, stepped off 118 yards in 12 carries, while Smith picked up 90 on seven attempts.

Salem Scores 24th Straight Win Over Wellsville, 38-18

Morehead Scores Two On Passes

SALEM — It has been almost a quarter of a century now since Wellsville last defeated Salem. The Quakers, no matter what type of season they're having seem to be a jinx to the Tigers and last night was no different as Salem scored a 38-18 win, their 24th in a row over the visitors.

Salem had lost five straight games before last night in picking up its second win of the season. The loss was Wellsville's fourth in seven starts. The Tigers haven't defeated Salem since 1942.

WELLSVILLE'S failure to muster a ground attack led to the Tigers latest defeat but Salem showed a surprisingly strong defense to limit the Orange and Black to only 32 yards on the ground.

Salem opened the score when Rick Metts plunged one yard in the first period and Ken Kenst put Salem in front 10-0 with a seven yard field goal in the second period.

—:—

WELLSVILLE bounced back when halfback Todd Weekley threw his first of two touchdown passes to Bob Morehead with the first covering 72 yards.

Salem matched this score before the half when Phil Shasteen took a 16 yard TD pass from Scott Cody as the Quakers held a 17-6 halftime bulge.

Wellsville got back into the contest when Weekley and Morehead combined again on a 56 yard scoring play bringing the score to 17-12 in the third period.

—:—

NOT LONG after the Tiger TD, Metts went in from the one again.

In the fourth period, Salem crossed into touchdown land on Jim Fattler's three yard run.

This was followed by Jack Young's 72 yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Salem's final touchdown came on an eight yard pass from Cody to Shasteen.

The Quakers rolled to 20 first downs and 263 yards on the ground while adding another 103 yards passing.

Top-Ranked AAA Teams Win In W. Va.

The top - ranked Class AAA high school football teams recorded victories Friday night while there were at least four mild upsets in the AA and A ranks.

At least six teams in all three divisions remained undefeated and untied. In the order of their ratings here's how they did:

St. Albans drubbed South Charleston 39-0, Buckhannon-Upshur whipped Fairmont East 24-2, Huntington ambled by Logan 20-7, and Big Creek of War had the closest call among the leaders beating Gary, the top-ranked AA team, 19-13.

The other two unbeaten-untied squads are Class A members Wirt County of Elizabeth, which crushed Calhoun County of Grantsville 48-7, a Class AA team; and Green Bank, which drubbed Cowen 45-6.

Wirt County was second in last week's standings and Green Bank 5th.

In games involving other AAA leaders, 5th-ranked Clarksburg Victory ended Summersville's five-game winning streak 34-13 and 7th place Charleston fashioned its sixth in a row, 40-14 over Parkersburg.

No. 8 Bluefield gave Jefferson Senior of Roanoke, Va., a 47-0 shellacking.

East Bank is scheduled at Charleston to battle No. 6 Stonewall Jackson tonight and No. 9 Belle DuPont was not scheduled this weekend.

The AA standings might be in for a shake-up after the top two teams dropped games to AAA teams. Besides No. 2 Gary's loss to Big Creek, top-ranked Ripley was handed its first defeat by Sissonville 27-6. Sissonville had lost five of its six games prior to meeting Ripley.

Third - ranked Ceredo-Kenova was not scheduled and No. 4 Berkeley Springs handcuffed Hedgesville 20-0. No. 5 Matewan Magnolia is scheduled against Belfry, Ky., at home tonight.

The Class A leader, Crum, is scheduled at Frazier's Bottom Hannan tonight.

Pushing Crum for that top spot is Wirt County, which boasts the state's No. 2 scorer. Going into Friday night's game, Richard Cain had 109 points and he added 26 more against Calhoun.

The mild upsets included unranked Fayetteville's 14-6 victory over No. 8 Lookout Nuttall in AA, and un-ranked Meadow Bridge's 13-13 loggerhead with No. 3 Lewisburg.

Unbeaten Stanton Blanks Rival, 20-0

Hale Scores Two On Long Dashes

Junior halfback Jack Hale broke away on touchdown runs of 78 and 75 yards to spark undefeated Stanton Local to its sixth straight victory, 20-0, Friday night at Springfield Local.

The victory boosted Stanton's stock and may advance the Red Raiders higher than their sixth position in last week's Class A poll.

THE LATEST victory for Coach Glenn Trout's eleven, opened with an exchange of fumbles with Stanton gaining control finally on its own 25.

On the second play from scrimmage, Stanton broke Hale loose for a 75 yard touchdown run. The run for the conversion failed but Stanton was on its way to victory No. 6.

IN THE second period, Stanton grounded out a 60 yard drive with Elmer Tice going the final two yards. Grimm then hit Tom Dunlap with a two-point conversion pass.

In the third period on the first play from scrimmage Hale lugged the football 78 yards for his second touchdown of the night. This climaxed a big night for Hale who gained 217 yards in 13 carries.

On two other occasions Stanton was on the Springfield two yard line when the first half ended and the three yard line when the game ended.

SPRINGFIELD didn't have a serious threat throughout the contest as Coach Glenn Sutherin's team failed to get inside the 30 yard line as Stanton's stout defense turned in another shutout.

Stanton had a 13-11 lead in first downs and the alert defensive backs intercepted four passes.

Louisville Rolls To 35th Straight

LOUISVILLE — Lisbon went to Louisville with a mediocre 1-6 record and came home 1-7 after being smothered by Louisville 72-0 Friday night as the Leopards rolled to their 35th straight win.

Dick Kuhn launched the massacre by blocking a Blue Devil punt and running 10 yards for a goal. Stan Vozar ran for extra points. This was followed by Mike Chlebeck's three yard run and a similar performance by Vozar. First quarter scoring ended on an intercepted pass by center Terry Smith who ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

Lisbon managed to hold the strong Stark County team to only one score in the second period — that coming by Hugh on a one yard plunge. Tom Gulling ran for the two - points.

As the second half commenced tailback Clebeck ran 70 yards for pay dirt, then end Terry Edwards blocked a punt and ran it 15 yards for another score. Chleback ran the conversion. It was Vozar again, on a one yard plunge with Gulling doing the post-td honors. Final third quarter scoring came on an 11 yard keeper by quarterback Dick Parker. The extra point run failed.

In the final period Lisbon didn't let Louisville complete their conversions after a pair of touchdowns. The two scores were on a 49 yard run by Mark Sigler and a 40 yard run by Terry Sanblanet.

Louisville gained 357 yards to 91 by Lisbon. Blue Devil fans admit they were outclassed but point to the fact that they handed the Leopards four td's on fumbles, blocked punts and interceptions.

Celts On Way Again; Bulls Lead In West

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics appear to be off and running as usual in the National Basketball Association. But how do you explain the Chicago Bulls?

The Celtics clobbered the Baltimore Bullets 111-91 Friday night for a first place tie in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia, while Chicago, the league's new franchise, remained on top in the West by defeating defending division champion Los Angeles 108-101 for its fourth victory in five games.

Keith Erickson, with 20 points, and Guy Rodgers, with 17, led the Bulls, who broke a 53-53 tie. The Lakers, playing without backcourt ace Jerry West, got 29 points from Elgin Baylor. Los Angeles is 1-3 and tied for last in the West with Detroit, which lost to San Francisco 136-91.

Boston had no trouble keeping pace with Philadelphia, which beat St. Louis 119-110, as John Havlicek came off the bench after the first period to score 28 points. Celtics player-coach Bill Russell cleared the bench in the fourth period. Don Ohl led Baltimore with 21 points.

Philadelphia came from behind on its home court to beat St. Louis. The Hawks led 38-25 in the first half before the 76ers rallied. The Hawks stayed in contention until Bill Cunningham broke loose in the second half to widen a 79-77 Philadelphia lead to 87-81. Cunningham got 23 points, 18 of them in the second half. Wilt Chamberlain also scored 23 for the 76ers although top scoring honors went to Hal Greer with 30. Richie Guerin paced the Hawks with 28.

San Francisco's Rick Barry scored 37 points and Nate Thurmond added 26 plus domination of the backboards in pacing the Warriors to their easy victory over Detroit. Rookie Dave Bing scored 25 and Tom Van Arsdale got 24 for the Pistons.

Ortiz Faces Ultiminio In Title Defense

MEXICO CITY (AP) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz of New York makes his second title defense of the year tonight when he meets Ultiminio (Sugar) Ramos in Mexico City's El Toreo bull ring.

The fight, Ramos' first shot at a title since he lost his world featherweight crown to Mexican Vicente Saldivar in 1964, is to start 8:15 p.m. EDT. A sellout crowd of about 25,000 is expected for the second title bout here since August.

Ramos, a Cuban who now lives in Mexico City, is known as a strong, aggressive fighter. He has 35 knockouts in his 47-2 record. He's only been stopped once — by Saldivar.

Ortiz, 30, has never been knocked out in his 11-year career as a professional. He has a 45-5-1 record which includes 16 knockouts.

The champion was expected to barely make the 135-pound limit when the fighters stepped on the scales.

Ramos, who had some trouble making the featherweight limit at times, is not expected to have any trouble with the lightweight limit.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Bonus rookie defensive halfback Nick Rassas and former San Francisco running back Rudy Johnson have been brought from the injured list to suit for the Atlanta Falcons in Sunday's game with Green Bay.

LBJ's Okay Of Pro Grid Merger Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation granting antitrust immunity to the proposed merger of the American and National football leagues has completed its tortuous journey through Congress.

President Johnson's signature is considered certain, since the provision was attached as a rider to the Administration's anti-inflation tax bill.

With only six members present, the Senate approved by voice vote Friday the amendment exempting the merger from antitrust laws. The measure had cleared the House a day earlier.

A key provision would permit the two leagues to hold a common draft, thus eliminating the bidding that brought huge bonuses and salaries to untried college players.

The bill also extends to high school football games on Friday nights the same protection colleges now have against televised professional football games on Saturdays.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Braves have filled out their 1967 coaching ranks with the acquisition of Bob Kennedy, head coach of the Chicago Cubs in 1963 and 1964.

The Braves announced Kennedy's hiring Friday but did not say what his duties will be. He managed Albuquerque of the Texas League last season.

Potters Rout Martins Ferry, 54-0, In Homecoming

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Herring Scores 3, Smith 2; Push Victory Streak To 5 Straight

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

The only contest at Patterson Field Friday night was for homecoming queen as the East Liverpool Potters turned their scheduled game with Martins Ferry into a 54-0 rout before a paid crowd of 3,372.

The Potters ranked 20th in the state, scored early and often in the first half as they rolled to their fifth straight victory and sixth win in seven starts.

THE END came early for the hapless Purple Riders, which dropped their seventh straight this season and 13th in a row over a two-year period.

While Martins Ferry still holds an edge in the overall series, last night's victory was the 11th for East Liverpool in the last 12 starts between the two schools.

It was only a few years ago that Ferry had one of the strongest teams in the Ohio Valley and ranked high in the state, but last night the Riders fielded a young team dotted with sophomore and juniors, with an offense that didn't go anywhere.

In fact, the visitors showed a net of only nine yards for the contest. They gained 60, but were thrown back for 51 by Potter defenders. Martins Ferry did play a more respectable second half.

COACH Bob McNea's high-powered offense produced the season's second highest score. Only a 56-6 victory over Oak Glen surpassed last night's point total.

Halfback Darryl (Tweetie) Herring cashed in for three touchdowns to lead the scoring parade on runs of 40, 13 and 4 yards. His running mate at halfback, Denny Smith, registered twice.

The game was less than four minutes old when the Potters, in seven plays, marched to the one, from where Smith hurdled the line for the first of eight touchdowns.

About four minutes later Herring came on the scene to score his first of three consecutive touchdowns, going over from four yards out. Smith had gained 60 yards in two carries to set up the score.

HERRING thrilled the crowd with his second TD when he was apparently stopped near the line of scrimmage, but spun free and raced 40 yards for the third touchdown of the first period, pushing the score to 22-0.

Herring was off for his third and final touchdown with a 13-yard sprint early in the second quarter, the first of three quick TD's by the Potters in that period.

East Liverpool managed to score three touchdowns in slightly less than two minutes. After Herring registered, sophomore Jim Musuraca on a punt return took a handoff from Herring and raced 49 yards for six more points.

HERRING'S touchdown came with 9:30 left and Musuraca's with 8:27 to go in the half. Then Bruce Christian intercepted a Rider pass on the 12 and stepped into the end zone to score with 7:33 remaining.

With a 42-0 halftime lead, the scoring stopped through the third period as Martins Ferry drove from its own 39 to the Potter 16, controlling the ball a good share of the third quarter.

The Potters began a touchdown drive late in the quarter as two passes from Mike McVay to Jim Musuraca netted 43 yards, carrying to the four, from where Smith drove over for his second touchdown with 8:42 left in the game.

A LINEMAN got in for a share of the glory when guard Emanual Volino intercepted a pass near midfield and showed surprising speed to leg the ball 53 yards for the final tally with 1:53 remaining.

Although the Potter regulars played most of the second half, the majority of East Liverpool's scoring and yardage came in the first.

East Liverpool showed a net of 320 yards rushing, with 258 in the first half. Eighty - five more yards was gained through the air.

MARTINS FERRY gained nine yards on the ground and 21 in the air for a total of 30.

The Purple Riders showed one threat the entire game, the only time they were inside the Potter 40. That came in the third quarter when Martins Ferry kept the ball 12 plays and drove to the Potter 16, only to wind up on the 19 after four downs.

It was following this series of downs that the Potters punted for the only time of the game.

Outside of the one drive, Ferry did not show any ground attack and quarterback Jim Smith was only on target on three of eight passes.

Herring and Smith shared the rushing honors for the Potters. Herring, the fleet halfback, stepped off 118 yards in 12 carries, while Smith picked up 90 on seven attempts.

Salem Scores 24th Straight Win Over Wellsville, 38-18

Morehead Scores Two On Passes

SALEM — It has been almost a quarter of a century now since Wellsville last defeated Salem. The Quakers, no matter what type of season they're having seem to be a jinx to the Tigers and last night was no different as Salem scored a 38-18 win, their 24th in a row over the visitors.

Salem had lost five straight games before last night in picking up its second win of the season. The loss was Wellsville's fourth in seven starts. The Tigers haven't defeated Salem since 1942.

WELLSVILLE'S failure to muster a ground attack led to the Tigers latest defeat but Salem showed a surprisingly strong defense to limit the Orange and Black to only 32 yards on the ground.

Salem opened the score when Rick Metts plunged one yard in the first period and Ken Kenst put Salem in front 10-0 with a seven yard field goal in the second period.

—:—

WELLSVILLE bounced back when halfback Todd Weekley threw his first of two touchdown passes to Bob Morehead with the first covering 72 yards.

Salem matched this score before the half when Phil Shasteen took a 16 yard TD pass from Scott Cody as the Quakers held a 17-6 halftime bulge.

Wellsville got back into the contest when Weekley and Morehead combined again on a 56 yard scoring play bringing the score to 17-12 in the third period.

—:—

NOT LONG after the Tiger TD, Metts went in from the one again.

In the fourth period, Salem crossed into touchdown land on Jim Fattler's three yard run.

This was followed by Jack Young's 72 yard kickoff return for a touchdown.

Salem's final touchdown came on an eight yard pass from Cody to Shasteen.

The Quakers rolled to 20 first downs and 263 yards on the ground while adding another 103 yards passing.

Top-Ranked AAA Teams Win In W. Va.

The top - ranked Class AAA high school football teams recorded victories Friday night while there were at least four mild upsets in the AA and A ranks.

At least six teams in all three divisions remained undefeated and untied. In the order of their ratings here's how they did:

St. Albans drubbed South Charleston 39-0. Buckhannon-Upshur whipped Fairmont East 24-2. Huntington ambled by Logan 20-7, and Big Creek of War had the closest call among the leaders beating Gary, the top-ranked AA team, 19-13.

The other two unbeaten-untied squads are Class A members Wirt County of Elizabeth, which crushed Calhoun County of Grantsville 48-7, a Class AA team; and Green Bank, which drubbed Cowen 45-6.

Wirt County was second in last week's standings and Green Bank 5th.

In games involving other AAA leaders, 5th-ranked Clarksburg Victory ended Summersville's five-game winning streak 34-13 and 7th place Charleston fashioned its sixth in a row, 40-14 over Parkersburg.

No. 8 Bluefield gave Jefferson Senior of Roanoke, Va., a 47-0 shallacking.

East Bank is scheduled at Charleston to battle No. 6 Stonewall Jackson tonight and No. 9 Belle DuPont was not scheduled this weekend.

The AA standings might be in for a shake-up after the top two teams dropped games to AAA teams. Besides No. 2 Gary's loss to Big Creek, top-ranked Ripley was handed its first defeat by Sissonville 27-6. Sissonville had lost five of its six games prior to meeting Ripley.

Third - ranked Ceredo-Kenova was not scheduled and No. 4 Berkeley Springs handcuffed Hedgesville 20-0. No. 5 Matewan Magnolia is scheduled against Belfry, Ky., at home tonight.

The Class A leader, Crum, is scheduled at Frazier's Bottom Hannan tonight.

Pushing Crum for that top spot is Wirt County, which boasts the state's No. 2 scorer. Going into Friday night's game, Richard Cain had 109 points and he added 26 more against Calhoun.

The mild upsets included unranked Fayetteville's 14-6 victory over No. 8 Lookout Nuttall in AA, and un-ranked Meadow Bridge's 13-13 loggerhead with No. 3 Lewisburg.

Unbeaten Stanton Blanks Rival, 20-0

Hale Scores Two On Long Dashes

Junior halfback Jack Hale broke away on touchdown runs of 78 and 75 yards to spark undefeated Stanton Local to its sixth straight victory, 20-0, Friday night at Springfield Local.

The victory boosted Stanton's stock and may advance the Red Raiders higher than their sixth position in last week's Class A poll.

THE LATEST victory for Coach Glenn Trout's eleven, opened with an exchange of fumbles with Stanton gaining control finally on its own 25.

On the second play from scrimmage, Stanton broke Hale loose for a 75 yard touchdown run. The run for the conversion failed but Stanton was on its way to victory No. 6.

IN THE second period, Stanton grounded out a 60 yard drive with Elmer Tice going the final two yards. Grimm then hit Tom Dunlap with a two-point conversion pass.

In the third period on the first play from scrimmage Hale lugged the football 78 yards for his second touchdown of the night. This climaxed a big night for Hale who gained 217 yards in 13 carries.

On two other occasions Stanton was on the Springfield two yard line when the first half ended and the three yard line when the game ended.

SPRINGFIELD didn't have a serious threat throughout the contest as Coach Glenn Sutherin's team failed to get inside the 30 yard line as Stanton's stout defense turned in another shutout.

Stanton had a 13-11 lead in first downs and the alert defensive backs intercepted four passes.

Celts On Way Again; Bulls Lead In West

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics appear to be off and running as usual in the National Basketball Association. But how do you explain the Chicago Bulls?

The Celtics clobbered the Baltimore Bullets 111-91 Friday night for a first place tie in the Eastern Division with Philadelphia, while Chicago, the league's new franchise, remained on top in the West by defeating defending division champion Los Angeles 108-101 for its fourth victory in five games.

Keith Erickson, with 20 points, and Guy Rodgers, with 17, led the Bulls, who broke a 53-53 tie. The Lakers, playing without backcourt ace Jerry West, got 29 points from Elgin Baylor. Los Angeles is 1-3 and tied for last in the West with Detroit, which lost to San Francisco 136-91.

Boston had no trouble keeping pace with Philadelphia, which beat St. Louis 119-110, as John Havlicek came off the bench after the first period to score 28 points. Celtics player-coach Bill Russell cleared the bench in the fourth period. Don Ohl led Baltimore with 21 points.

Philadelphia came from behind on its home court to beat St. Louis. The Hawks led 38-25 in the first half before the 76ers rallied. The Hawks stayed in contention until Bill Cunningham broke loose in the second half to widen a 79-77 Philadelphia lead to 87-81. Cunningham got 23 points, 18 of them in the second half. Wilt Chamberlain also scored 23 for the 76ers although top scoring honors went to Hal Greer with 30. Richie Guerin paced the Hawks with 28.

San Francisco's Rick Barry scored 37 points and Nate Thurmond added 26 plus domination of the backboards in pacing the Warriors to their easy victory over Detroit. Rookie Dave Bing scored 25 and Tom Van Arsdale got 24 for the Pistons.

Louisville Rolls To 35th Straight

LOUISVILLE — Lisbon went to Louisville with a mediocre 1-6 record and came home 1-7 after being smothered by Louisville 72-0 Friday night as the Leopards rolled to their 35th straight win.

Dick Kuhn launched the massacre by blocking a Blue Devil punt and running 10 yards for a goal. Stan Vozar ran for extra points. This was followed by Mike Chlebeck's three yard run and a similar performance by Vozar. First quarter scoring ended on an intercepted pass by center Terry Smith who ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

Lisbon managed to hold the strong Stark County team to only one score in the second period — that coming by Hugh on a one yard plunge. Tom Gulling ran for the two - points.

As the second half commenced tailback Clebeck ran 70 yards for pay dirt, then end Terry Edwards blocked a punt and ran it 15 yards for another score. Chleback ran the conversion. It was Vozar again, on a one yard plunge with Gulling doing the post-td honors. Final third quarter scoring came on an 11 yard keeper by quarterback Dick Parker. The extra point run failed.

In the final period Lisbon didn't let Louisville complete their conversions after a pair of touchdowns. The two scores were on a 49 yard run by Mark Sigler and a 40 yard run by Terry Sanblanet.

Louisville gained 357 yards to 91 by Lisbon. Blue Devil fans admit they were outclassed but point to the fact that they handed the Leopards four td's on fumbles, blocked punts and interceptions.

Midland Given Scare At Rochester Before 26-17 Win

Vanlier Tallies 3 As Leopards Post 7th

ROCHESTER—The undefeated Midland Leopards were hard pressed to gain their seventh consecutive victory here Friday night before scoring a 26-17 decision over a fired up Rochester eleven as Dave Vanlier hit paydirt three times.

The final score really doesn't indicate the closeness of the game since Midland scored its final touchdown on the last play of the contest giving the Leopards a nine point margin instead of a three point difference.

Coach Joe Hamilton's Leopards continue as one of two teams remaining in the WPIAL Class A race. Montour also remained unbeaten by tripping South Allegheny 27-6 last night.

Rochester drew first blood moving to a 3-0 lead on a field goal by Roland Berry from 11 yards out in the first period.

MIDLAND took the lead in the second period and scored 20 points in that quarter. Rich Mahurt banged over from the four yard line as the conversion was missed for a 6-3 lead.

The Rams bounced right back on Steve Vinceguerra's 32 yard touchdown sprint and Berry converted to a 10-6 Rochester lead.

Five plays after the Rams had hit paydirt, Jan Samuels launched a 39 yard pass to Dave Vanlier to put the ball on the Rochester. The next play, Vanlier scooted 14 yards for the touchdown and Granito's conversion made it 13-10 Midland.

WITH 20 seconds to go in the half Midland upped the score to 20-10 on Vanlier's second touchdown of the period when he raced 10 yards to paydirt.

The Leopards weren't out of the woods yet and after a scoreless third period, Rochester scored on a seven yard pass from Chuck Pinchotti to Dennis Clayton with 8:19 left in the contest. Berry's conversion brought the Rams within three points, 20-17.

ROCHESTER later drove to the Midland 21 but alert defensive work by Jimmy Smith and John Williams, who knocked down enemy passes, ended the threat.

Midland took over on its 21 and sticking to the ground moved 79 yards with the final seven yards a pass from Samuels to Vanlier who scored his third TD of the night.

The statistics were close right down the line. Midland had a 15-14 edge in first downs ran up 189 yards rushing and 94 passing. Rochester had 202 rushing and 59 in the air.

Rochester now shows a 4-3 record.

Midland's next contest will be at New Brighton Friday.

Southern Shocks JU With 8-8 Deadlock

JU, an undefeated powerhouse last season, brought a 5-1 record to Southern last night, with a loss to Wintersville the only blemish.

Coach Beau Bell's Southern Local team now hasn't been beaten for three weeks, with two victories and a tie, bringing its record to 3-3-1. Bell cast the highest praise on his players for their outstanding performance against heavy odds Friday.

In a crazy, one-way (statistically - speaking) battle, Jefferson Union opened the scoring on a pass play from quarterback Laurie Kelly to end Paul Grafton which covered 25 yards. Two more points were added as Kelly hit Van Taylor in the end zone. The score came late in the first period.

It was a 25-yard TD pass for Southern in the second quarter as signal - caller John McCord connected with Richard Rose for a score. McCord ran for the points to produce the 8-8 tie.

The defensive game was marked by the talented punting of Rose, a sophomore, who averaged some 47 yards. The second half produced no serious threats from either team. Rose continually kept JU backed deep in its own territory, while the entire Southern defense did its part.

Jefferson Union chalked up most of its yardage in its own territory. JU had a net yardage of 236, 145 on the ground and 91 in the air. Southern totaled only 56 yards.

Jefferson's statistical victory is illustrated further by passing records. JU hit 11 of 27 tries to Southern's four for seven. Southern Local had five first downs and the Yellow Jackets 14. Penalties cost Jefferson Union 95 yards and Southern 25.

Rams Must Take Bears, Cards Need Browns Aid

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League Sunday.

The Rams, 4-2, are at Chicago, 2-3, and figure it a must game to stay close. Western leader Green Bay, 5-1, is a lopsided favorite over winless Atlanta at Milwaukee.

To stay close, the Rams must stop Gale Sayers. And to do that — as the Packers did last week in a 17-0 victory, "It's a matter of not making any mistakes."

The advice to the Rams came from all-pro defensive end Willie Davis of Green Bay, one of the key figures in containing the Bears' flash.

"Last year, Sayers made the defense make mistakes," Davis said. "This year, we knew what he could do and knew we had to keep him contained. He forces you to play a game of no mistakes."

St. Louis, leading the East at 5-0-1, is at Washington, 3-3, but will have plenty of interest in the Dallas at Cleveland affair. The Cowboys are 4-0-1 after last week's tie with St. Louis, and Cleveland is 3-2 and still very much alive in the East.

In other games, Minnesota, 1-3-1, is at Baltimore, 3-2; Philadelphia, 3-3, at New York, 1-4-1; and Detroit 2-4, is at San Francisco 2-2-1.

If Cleveland is to keep alive its hopes for a repeat as the Eastern Conference champions, the Browns must stop Olympic champion Bob Hayes. St. Louis did it last week, limiting him to three catches for 24 yards and breaking a string of seven straight games in which he had scored a touchdown.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said St. Louis defensive back Abe Woodson, who did the next-to-impossible. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

The Browns will need the same sort of rush to stop Don Meredith, second in the league in passing, while Dallas' good defense will be tested in the running of Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly.

The St. Louis pass defense is in for another workout at Washington, with Sonny Jurgensen and Bobby Mitchell posing the problems. Mitchell leads the league with 28 receptions. The Cards had to rally for 17 points in the fourth quarter to beat Washington a month ago.

The Packers lead the league in total defense and passing defense and look for little trouble from the Falcons, still without a victory in their first season. Donnie Anderson and Jim Grabowski may expect to get some work as subs for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

The Minnesota-Baltimore game shapes up as a battle between Johnny Unitas and Fran Tarkenton. Unitas was 18 of 27 for 218 yards and four touchdowns, while Tarkenton was 21 for 37 and 327 yards and three touchdowns last week in the Vikings' first victory. He may find the Colt defense a little tougher.

Philadelphia and New York will be playing for the second time this year, the Eagles taking the first one 35-17. The Giants scored their first victory last week and the Eagles won after two straight losses.

San Francisco has won two straight while the Lions are having their troubles. The winner goes ahead in all-time series now tied at 16-16-1.

McCord, Rose Spark Indians In Surprise

Pittsburgh Pirate broadcaster Bob Prince frequently comments, "Almost doesn't count except in horseshoes and quoits."

But Southern Local fans learned that "almost" also counts in football as the Indians scored what probably was their greatest moral victory when they tied highly - rated Jefferson Union 8-8 at home Friday night.

Leetonia Shocks Poland By 20-0

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Bears upset the Poland Bulldogs here Friday night 20-0 in a Tri - County League contest.

No scoring took place in the first frame but with 10:50 showing on the scoreboard in the second period quarterback Ed Casey sneaked over from the one. Placekicker Fred Bruderly booted the extra point.

In the third quarter halfback Tom Coseno ran 36 yards downfield for the Bears' second tally. The extra point attempt failed on an unsuccessful run.

The final score came in the fourth period as Casey threw 17 yards to his brothr Paul. Bruderly again scored the extra point.

Leetonia logged a total of 366 yards in the surprise victory and tied Poland for first downs 12-12. They completed four passes out of eight tries and had one intercepted. Poland lost three passes and their aerial record was five for 13.

Coach Dick Hartzell sends his team against the Lisbon Blue Devils who will probably still be licking their wounds from Friday's 72-0 rout by Louisville.

LEETONIA	0	7	6	7	—20

Palestine Drops First Loop Game

EAST PALESTINE — The Bulldogs suffered their first Tri-county defeat Friday night as they fell in front of the Minerva Lions 12-6.

The ball alternated during the first half and scoring didn't begin until early in the third quarter when East Palestine took a kickoff and went 50 yards to the Minerva 20. After reaching the one, halfback Jim Parker plunged over for the Bulldog's only score. An extra point run failed.

Minerva came right back in the third and following a pass interception scored on a weird chain of events. Mike Simms plunged over from the three and dropped the ball in the end zone. The fumble was recovered and the score insured by teammate Tom Wiedlebacher, an end, who fell on it. The extra point attempt failed here too.

The Lions final scoring came midway in the fourth quarter as Simms took a pass from quarterback Andy Battista and went 41 yards to pay dirt. Final score 12-6.

Minerva had 17 first downs to East Palestine's 14. The losing squad threw 27 times but connected only seven occasions. They were obviously hampered by the absence of quarterback Walt Harriet and fullback Ray Bush.

Minerva's first half drives were continually cut short by penalties (they had 75 yards counted off against them) and East Palestine lost the Parent's Night game largely on fumbles and too-short passes.

MINERVA	0	0	6	6	—12
E. PALESTINE	0	0	6	0	— 6

East Palestine — Parker one yard run. (run failed)

Minerva — Simms one yard run. (run failed)

Minerva — Simms 41 yard pass to Battista. (pass failed)

Steve Spurrier New LSU Worry

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at five.

Just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawain DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia. LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1.

In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California, But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

Midland Given Scare At Rochester Before 26-17 Win

Vanlier Tallies 3 As Leopards Post 7th

ROCHESTER—The undefeated Midland Leopards were hard pressed to gain their seventh consecutive victory here Friday night before scoring a 26-17 decision over a fired up Rochester eleven as Dave Vanlier hit paydirt three times.

The final score really doesn't indicate the closeness of the game since Midland scored its final touchdown on the last play of the contest giving the Leopards a nine point margin instead of a three point difference.

Coach Joe Hamilton's Leopards continue as one of two teams remaining in the WPIAL Class A race. Montour also remained unbeaten by tripping South Allegheny 27-6 last night.

Rochester drew first blood moving to a 3-0 lead on a field goal by Roland Berry from 11 yards out in the first period.

MIDLAND took the lead in the second period and scored 20 points in that quarter. Rich Mahurt banged over from the four yard line as the conversion was missed for a 6-3 lead.

The Rams bounced right back on Steve Vinceguerra's 32 yard touchdown sprint and Berry converted to a 10-6 Rochester lead.

Five plays after the Rams had hit paydirt, Jan Samuels launched a 39 yard pass to Dave Vanlier to put the ball on the Rochester. The next play, Vanlier scooted 14 yards for the touchdown and Granito's conversion made it 13-10 Midland.

WITH 20 seconds to go in the half Midland upped the score to 20-10 on Vanlier's second touchdown of the period when he raced 10 yards to paydirt.

The Leopards weren't out of the woods yet and after a scoreless third period, Rochester scored on a seven yard pass from Chuck Pinchotti to Dennis Clayton with 8:19 left in the contest. Berry's conversion brought the Rams within three points, 20-17.

ROCHESTER later drove to the Midland 21 but alert defensive work by Jimmy Smith and John Williams, who knocked down enemy passes, ended the threat.

Midland took over on its 21 and sticking to the ground moved 79 yards with the final seven yards a pass from Samuels to Vanlier who scored his third TD of the night.

The statistics were close right down the line. Midland had a 15-14 edge in first downs ran up 189 yards rushing and 94 passing. Rochester had 202 rushing and 59 in the air.

Rochester now shows a 4-3 record.

Midland's next contest will be at New Brighton Friday.

Rams Must Take Bears, Cards Need Browns Aid

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles must make no mistakes to stay close in the Western Conference race, while St. Louis needs help from Cleveland to pull away in the East in the National Football League Sunday.

The Rams, 4-2, are at Chicago, 2-3, and figure it a must game to stay close. Western leader Green Bay, 5-1, is a lopsided favorite over winless Atlanta at Milwaukee.

To stay close, the Rams must stop Gale Sayers. And to do that — as the Packers did last week in a 17-0 victory, "It's a matter of not making any mistakes."

The advice to the Rams came from all-pro defensive end Willie Davis of Green Bay, one of the key figures in containing the Bears' flash.

"Last year, Sayers made the defense make mistakes," Davis said. "This year, we knew what he could do and knew we had to keep him contained. He forces you to play a game of no mistakes."

St. Louis, leading the East at 5-0-1, is at Washington, 3-3, but will have plenty of interest in the Dallas at Cleveland affair. The Cowboys are 4-0-1 after last week's tie with St. Louis, and Cleveland is 3-2 and still very much alive in the East.

In other games, Minnesota, 1-3-1, is at Baltimore, 3-2; Philadelphia, 3-3, at New York, 1-4-1; and Detroit 2-4, is at San Francisco 2-2-1.

If Cleveland is to keep alive its hopes for a repeat as the Eastern Conference champions, the Browns must stop Olympic champion Bob Hayes. St. Louis did it last week, limiting him to three catches for 24 yards and breaking a string of seven straight games in which he had scored a touchdown.

"He's next to impossible to cover," said St. Louis defensive back Abe Woodson, who did the next-to-impossible. "All I tried to do was destroy his patterns. Only the fact that our pass rush hurried the quarterback saved me a couple of times."

The Browns will need the same sort of rush to stop Don Meredith, second in the league in passing, while Dallas' good defense will be tested in the running of Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly.

The St. Louis pass defense is in for another workout at Washington, with Sonny Jurgensen and Bobby Mitchell posing the problems. Mitchell leads the league with 28 receptions. The Cards had to rally for 17 points in the fourth quarter to beat Washington a month ago.

The Packers lead the league in total defense and passing defense and look for little trouble from the Falcons, still without a victory in their first season. Donnie Anderson and Jim Grabowski may expect to get some work as subs for Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor.

The Minnesota-Baltimore game shapes up as a battle between Johnny Unitas and Fran Tarkenton. Unitas was 18 of 27 for 218 yards and four touchdowns, while Tarkenton was 21 for 37 and 327 yards and three touchdowns last week in the Vikings' first victory. He may find the Colt defense a little tougher.

Philadelphia and New York will be playing for the second time this year, the Eagles taking the first one 35-17. The Giants scored their first victory last week and the Eagles won after two straight losses.

San Francisco has won two straight while the Lions are having their troubles. The winner goes ahead in all-time series now tied at 16-16-1.

McCord, Rose Spark Indians In Surprise

Pittsburgh Pirate broadcaster Bob Prince frequently comments, "Almost doesn't count except in horseshoes and quoits."

But Southern Local fans learned that "almost" also counts in football as the Indians scored what probably was their greatest moral victory when they tied highly - rated Jefferson Union 8-8 at home Friday night.

JU, an undefeated powerhouse last season, brought a 5-1 record to Southern last night, with a loss to Wintersville the only blemish.

Coach Beau Bell's Southern Local team now hasn't been beaten for three weeks, with two victories and a tie, bringing its record to 3-3-1. Bell cast the highest praise on his players for their outstanding performance against heavy odds Friday.

In a crazy, one-way (statistically - speaking) battle, Jefferson Union opened the scoring on a pass play from quarterback Laurie Kelly to end Paul Grafton which covered 25 yards. Two more points were added as Kelly hit Van Taylor in the end zone. The score came late in the first period.

It was a 25-yard TD pass for Southern in the second quarter as signal - caller John McCord connected with Richard Rose for a score. McCord ran for the points to produce the 8-8 tie.

The defensive game was marked by the talented punting of Rose, a sophomore, who averaged some 47 yards. The second half produced no serious threats from either team. Rose continually kept JU backed deep in its own territory, while the entire Southern defense did its part.

Jefferson Union chalked up most of its yardage in its own territory. JU had a net yardage of 236, 145 on the ground and 91 in the air. Southern totaled only 56 yards.

Jefferson's statistical victory is illustrated further by passing records. JU hit 11 of 27 tries to Southern's four for seven. Southern Local had five first downs and the Yellow Jackets 14. Penalties cost Jefferson Union 95 yards and Southern 25.

Leetonia Shocks Poland By 20-0

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Bears upset the Poland Bulldogs here Friday night 20-0 in a Tri - County League contest.

No scoring took place in the first frame but with 10:50 showing on the scoreboard in the second period quarterback Ed Casey sneaked over from the one. Placekicker Fred Bruderly booted the extra point.

In the third quarter halfback Tom Coseno ran 36 yards downfield for the Bears' second tally. The extra point attempt failed on an unsuccessful run.

The final score came in the fourth period as Casey threw 17 yards to his brothr Paul. Bruderly again scored the extra point.

Leetonia logged a total of 366 yards in the surprise victory and tied Poland for first downs 12-12. They completed four passes out of eight tries and had one intercepted. Poland lost three passes and their aerial record was five for 13.

Coach Dick Hartzell sends his team against the Lisbon Blue Devils who will probably still be licking their wounds from Friday's 72-0 rout by Louisville.

Palestine Drops First Loop Game

EAST PALESTINE — The Bulldogs suffered their first Tri-county defeat Friday night as they fell in front of the Minerva Lions 12-6.

The ball alternated during the first half and scoring didn't begin until early in the third quarter when East Palestine took a kickoff and went 50 yards to the Minerva 20. After reaching the one, halfback Jim Parker plunged over for the Bulldog's only score. An extra point run failed.

Minerva came right back in the third and following a pass interception scored on a weird chain of events. Mike Simms plunged over from the three and dropped the ball in the end zone. The fumble was recovered and the score insured by teammate Tom Wiedlebacher, an end, who fell on it. The extra point attempt failed here too.

The Lions final scoring came midway in the fourth quarter as Simms took a pass from quarterback Andy Battista and went 41 yards to pay dirt. Final score 12-6.

Minerva had 17 first downs to East Palestine's 14. The losing squad threw 27 times but connected only seven occasions. They were obviously hampered by the absence of quarterback Walt Harriet and fullback Ray Bush.

Minerva's first half drives were continually cut short by penalties (they had 75 yards counted off against them) and East Palestine lost the Parent's Night game largely on fumbles and too-short passes.

East Palestine — Parker one yard run. (run failed)

Minerva — Simms one yard run. (run failed)

Steve Spurrier New LSU Worry

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State's football team caps a problem-filled week tonight with another problem — Steve Spurrier.

The Tigers, troubled by alleged bribery attempts that were brought out in the open earlier in the week, must stop Spurrier, one of the nation's top college passers if they hope to halt Florida's unbeaten string at five.

Just last Tuesday a Baton Rouge barber was arrested and charged with attempting to bribe three LSU first-string backs — halfbacks Jim Dousay and Billy Masters and fullback Gawain DiBetta. In disclosing the arrest, the FBI said it had the complete cooperation of the the three players.

Whether the Tigers will have Spurrier's complete cooperation is something else.

The 6-foot-2 senior is No. 4 in the country in passing, averaging 186 yards a game and completing a whopping 65 per cent of his passes. He also is eighth in total offense.

The Gators will be out to improve their national ranking — they are eighth — and their Southeastern Conference standings. They are tied for first with Alabama and Georgia. LSU, on the other hand, hopes to increase its SEC record to 2-0 and its season mark to 4-1-1.

In other night games Wichita State is at Arkansas, Texas at Rice, Utah at Arizona, Mississippi State at Florida State, Tulsa at Memphis State and San Jose State at Texas Western.

In a Friday night game, Miami, Fla., defeated Indiana 14-7 in the worst rainstorm to hit a game in the Orange Bowl in five years.

One of the game's 12 fumbles helped set up Miami's winning score. The Hurricanes recovered on the Indiana six and scored on David Olivo's four-yard pass to Jim Cox.

The rest of the members of the Top Ten were on the Saturday afternoon schedule, with four of the teams involved in two games.

Top-ranked Notre Dame sent its sophomore battery of quarterback Terry Hanratty and end Jim Seymour against surprisingly strong Oklahoma, ranked 10th, while Michigan State, No. 2, hosted ninth-ranked Purdue and its prize quarterback, Bob Griese.

Third-ranked UCLA began defense of its AAU title at California. But Southern California, No. 5, had a nonconference game against Clemson.

Alabama, No. 4, took on Vanderbilt at Birmingham, Ala., sixth-ranked Georgia Tech hosted Tulane and Nebraska, No. 7, was at Colorado.

Other major pairings had Pitt at Army, William and Mary at Navy, Penn State at West Virginia, Dartmouth at Harvard, Wisconsin at Ohio State, Minnesota at Michigan, Stanford at Illinois, Oregon at Washington

A Look At Two More Amendments

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON (AP) — More pay and more time in session for legislators and easier voting of tax increases and bond issues for schools are provided in the last two of five constitutional amendments that will be on the Nov. 8 West Virginia election ballot.

The Legislative Amendment, No. 4 on the ballot, would:

Raise the salaries of state senators and delegates from $1,500 to $2,500 a year.

Permit the legislature to pass a law providing payments to members, in addition to salaries, for their expenses "in connection with any session and party caucuses and the performances of authorized interim assignments." The amendment places no ceiling on expense payments.

Provide for regular legislative sessions lasting not more than 60 days every year, without restriction on the agenda.

PROPOSAL No. 5, carrying the ballot title Amendment to the Better Schools Amendment would:

Lower from 60 per cent to a simple majority the margin required for approval in county elections on excess property tax levies and bond issues for school financing.

Approving the legislative amendment for hopeful presentation to the voters, the legislature went on the theory that a proposal calling for more pay would fare better at the polls if it also called for more work. History lends some support to the theory.

The constitution now provides for 60-day sessions in the odd-numbered years and 30-day sessions in the even years. These are maximum, rather than required, durations. In practice the sessions always run the entire 60 or 30 days.

The 60-day sessions operate without constitutional restriction of their business.

However, the 30-day meetings in the even years are limited to action on the budget, business laid down by the governor, and other legislation approved for introduction by two-thirds votes of both houses.

In providing for a 60-day session every year, the pending amendment would do away with agenda restrictions. It would relieve the governor of the politically prickly duty of decreeing, every other year, what business and legislature should take up.

At present legislators get no reimbursement for their substantial lodging and meal expenses while attending sessions in Charleston.

The constitution's only present authorization for expense payments provides 10 cents a mile for one round trip between home and Charleston per legislative session and, every other year, for one additional round trip to attend pre-session party caucusses.

THE REVISED version in the pending amendment does not mention mileage payments. These could be continued, however, under the proposed authorization for expenses payments "as may be provided by general law."

Legislators have caught criticism over their failure to place a constitutional ceiling on expenses they could vote themselves if the amendment is ratified.

This is the only one of the five amendments on which the West Virginia Farm Bureau did not take a stand, for or against. The bureau said many of its voting delegates "favor an increase in pay for state legislators. They do not favor, however, providing for expenses without limitation."

Fearful the amendment was headed for defeat, the legislature's between - sessions Joint Committee on Government and Finance undertook last month to bolster its chances.

Although the action is not binding, the committee recommended expense ceilings for adoption by the incoming legislature if the amendment is ratified.

The main ceilings urged by the committee were "actual expenses for food and lodging not to exceed $15 per day" and 10 cents a mile for a maximum of three round trips between home and Charleston during each annual session.

Among states adjoining West Virginia, legislative salaries in the two largest — Pennsylvania and Ohio — do not provide a meaningful comparison, because of different situations, for purposes of weighing the merits of the pending amendment.

Pennsylvania pays legislators $12,000 a year, including $4,800 for expenses. But serving in the legislature there is nearly a full-time career. Sessions are annual without limit or duration. This year's session already has lasted nine months and is still in progress.

Ohio legislators get $8,000 a year. Sessions are held every two years and generally last at least six months.

IN VIRGINIA, sessions are bi-ennial, lasting 60 days. Legislators there got a raise this year. New rates are $35 a day in session, plus $600 a year for expenses. This means lawmakers get $2,100 in years when the legislature meets, $600 in the off-years.

Kentucky, another state with biennial 60-day sessions pays $25 a day salary and $25 a day expenses, which comes to $3,000 for a regular session.

The Maryland legislature meets annually for 70 days. Members are paid $1,800 a year plus $25 a day for expenses in session, a total of $3,550 a year.

Endorsements of the Legislative Amendment have come from the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO; the executive committee of the West Virginia Education Association, and United Mine Workers District 17.

The 17,000-member WVEA is leading the fight to put across the schools amendment. Parents attending recent PTA meetings have come away with handfuls of literature urging ratification.

At present, constitutional ceilings on property tax rates may be exceeded by a maximum of 100 per cent for up to five years at a time to provide added revenue for schools if at least 60 per cent of those voting in a special county election approve. The 60 per cent requirement also applies to school bond issue elections.

The amendment would lower the required approval margin for excess school levies and school bond issues to a simple majority—50 per cent plus one.

The WVEA calls the 60 per cent requirement undemocratic and says "it allows a minority to control the improvement of education in West Virginia, and it makes the majority a voiceless majority."

From July 1, 1959, through June 30 this year, there were 133 special levy or bond issue elections — all for school financing—in West Virginia counties.

Seventy-six of the proposals passed and 57 were defeated. But the WVEA notes that 31 of the defeated proposals received approval by a majority of those voting, although falling short of 60 per cent.

The Farm Bureau, opposing the amendment, observes that many of those voting to raise property taxes are not property owners. The bureau says "It is reasonable that a 10 per cent margin of safety should be provided for property owners."

Organizations endorsing the amendment include the State Chamber of Commerce the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, and UMW District 17.

Humphrey Campaigns In West

Get Out Vote Or Face Defeat, Democrats Told

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey campaigns from the mountains of Colorado to his home state of Minnesota today with a warning that Democrats had better get out the vote or face defeats in the November election.

"There has never been a Democratic victory with a small vote," Humphrey told a Democratic rally in Denver Friday night.

The vice president, who has a measure of personal prestige at stake in how the Minnesota elections go, said the polls in his home state show the Democrats are apt to suffer a defeat if only the "likely voters" go to the polls Nov. 8.

"But if the eligible voters turn out we will have a Democratic sweep in Minnesota," said Humphrey.

The same thing holds true in Colorado and many other states, he said.

To underscore his warning, Humphrey said the 80th Congress, the one former President Harry S. Truman labeled as the "do-nothing Congress," was elected in 1946 with less than 40 per cent of the eligible voters casting ballots.

Humphrey is in the midst of a four-day, seven-state swing to help Democratic candidates — particularly those who appear to be in tough fights.

In the big stock center of Kansas City, Kan., today Humphrey declared that in the long run "our food power — far more than military power — can be the critical factor in the achievement both of Democratic institutions and in the safety of the world."

The vice president described food as "our secret weapon" and added: "Let us use the tremendous resources at our command to bring health, education, food and the techniques of modern agriculture to struggling nations living in the shadow of famine and outside aggression."

At a series of news conferences during his sweep through Nebraska, Utah and Colorado Friday, Humphrey faced questions ranging from the war in Viet Nam to a housewives' boycott of some food store chains in Denver.

Humphrey said the Denver housewives were exercising their rights.

Consumers, Humphrey said, have four basic rights — the right to safety, the right to choose, the right to be informed and the right to beh eard.

Mrs. Johnson Saluted By Australian Premier

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson was saluted today by Australia's prime minister, the press and a crowd that roared "hip, hip, hooray" for the American first lady.

Anti-Viet Nam demonstrators, for the most part, left her out of their protests. An egg splattered against the back of her car but apparently she didn't know it.

The women of Sydney, engaged in beautification efforts, let loose a flock of pigeons as Mrs. Johnson passed Queen's Square in the motorcade.

Someone waved a newspaper headline reading: "Exclusive: Lyndon's Best Asset — Lady Bird."

Prime Minister Harold Holt who has referred to Mrs. Johnson as the president's "better half," told a big reception at The Art Gallery of New South Wales that she was not only "a helpmate" to the President, but "a scene stealer" as well.

A woman in the welcoming crowd of thousands stepped up to Mrs. Johnson's car and told her: "Bless you, you look like a queen." Mrs. Johnson said, "No, just a plain wife."

Mrs. Johnson, obviously tired from the strains of the four-day-old Asian trip, was up before 7 a.m. again today for the rigorous schedule.

With no separate program of her own, she rode in the motorcades behind the President who was in his bubble top car, windows mainly closed, for fear demonstrators might throw paint as they did at Melbourne.

Her Secret Service agent, Jerry Kivett, who took a dowsing of paint Friday, was cleaned up and back on duty.

But Mrs. Johnson said there were no demonstrations against her car as the presidential motorcade went through booing, jeering, Viet Nam war protestors.

Some of them pounded on cars in the motorcade, but Mrs. Johnson said none came near hers.

There were a few signs directed to Lady Bird. One of them read "Lady Bird, Lady Bird, Fly away home; Your house is on fire — and children are burning in Viet Nam."

But, where the women of Sydney had set up an attractive garden display and loosed the pigeons for Mrs. Johnson, a red white and blue banner stretched across the street with the greeting: "Happy Stay — Lady Bird."

200 Youths Go On Rampage At Pittsburgh Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nearly 200 teenagers rampaged in nearby Swissvale Friday night, breaking windows and creating terror following high school football game between Swissvale and Duquesne.

Police said four youths were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, but their names were not made public.

About 60 police from Pittsburgh, with K9 dogs, as well as police from Rankin, Wilkinsburg, Forest Hills, Braddock and North Braddock raced to the scene of the disturbance.

Police said at its height, the trouble reached near riot proportions.

Swissvale Police Chief Peter R. Begg said the trouble began when one man was arrested for creating a disturbance. The chief said crowds of youths then began shouting, screaming and yelling in a two-block area.

A windshield of a passing car was smashed during the brawl, police said, but the only injury reported was a cut head of one of the youths.

Yellowstone National Park comprises 2,221,000 acres.

Driver Fined For Speeding

LISBON — Charles E. Hutcheson, 21, of Grant St., Lisbon, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge Friday in Columbiana County Southwest Court and was fined $20 and costs.

Judge J. L. MacDonald also fined Edward E. In West Virginia Election

A Look At Two More Amendments

By HERB LITTLE

CHARLESTON (AP) — More pay and more time in session for legislators and easier voting of tax increases and bond issues for schools are provided in the last two of five constitutional amendments that will be on the Nov. 8 West Virginia election ballot.

The Legislative Amendment, No. 4 on the ballot, would:

Raise the salaries of state senators and delegates from $1,500 to $2,500 a year.

Permit the legislature to pass a law providing payments to members, in addition to salaries, for their expenses "in connection with any session and party caucuses and the performances of authorized interim assignments." The amendment places no ceiling on expense payments.

Provide for regular legislative sessions lasting not more than 60 days every year, without restriction on the agenda.

PROPOSAL No. 5, carrying the ballot title Amendment to the Better Schools Amendment would:

Lower from 60 per cent to a simple majority the margin required for approval in county elections on excess property tax levies and bond issues for school financing.

Approving the legislative amendment for hopeful presentation to the voters, the legislature went on the theory that a proposal calling for more pay would fare better at the polls if it also called for more work. History lends some support to the theory.

The constitution now provides for 60-day sessions in the odd-numbered years and 30-day sessions in the even years. These are maximum, rather than required, durations. In practice the sessions always run the entire 60 or 30 days.

The 60-day sessions operate without constitutional restriction of their business.

However, the 30-day meetings in the even years are limited to action on the budget, business laid down by the governor, and other legislation approved for introduction by two-thirds votes of both houses.

In providing for a 60-day session every year, the pending amendment would do away with agenda restrictions. It would relieve the governor of the politically prickly duty of decreeing, every other year, what business and legislature should take up.

At present legislators get no reimbursement for their substantial lodging and meal expenses while attending sessions in Charleston.

The constitution's only present authorization for expense payments provides 10 cents a mile for one round trip between home and Charleston per legislative session and, every other year, for one additional round trip to attend pre-session party caucuses.

THE REVISED version in the pending amendment does not mention mileage payments. These could be continued, however, under the proposed authorization for expenses payments "as may be provided by general law."

Legislators have caught criticism over their failure to place a constitutional ceiling on expenses they could vote themselves if the amendment is ratified.

This is the only one of the five amendments on which the West Virginia Farm Bureau did not take a stand, for or against. The bureau said many of its voting delegates "favor an increase in pay for state legislaiors. They do not favor, however, providing for expenses without limitation."

Fearful the amendment was headed for defeat, the legislature's between - sessions Joint Committee on Government and Finance undertook last month to bolster its chances.

Although the action is not binding, the committee recommended expense ceilings for adoption by the incoming legislature if the amendment is ratified.

The main ceilings urged by the committee were "actual expenses for food and lodging not to exceed $15 per day" and 10 cents a mile for a maximum of three round trips between home and Charleston during each annual session.

Among states adjoining West Virginia, legislative salaries in the two largest — Pennsylvania and Ohio — do not provide a meaningful comparison, because of different situations, for purposes of weighing the merits of the pending amendment.

Pennsylvania pays legislators $12,000 a year, including $4,800 for expenses. But serving in the legislature there is nearly a full-time career. Sessions are annual without limit or duration. This year's session already has lasted nine months and is still in progress.

Ohio legislators get $8,000 a year. Sessions are held every two years and generally last at least six months.

IN VIRGINIA, sessions are bi-ennial, lasting 60 days. Legislators there got a raise this year. New rates are $35 a day in session, plus $600 a year for expenses. This means lawmakers get $2,100 in years when the legislature meets, $600 in the off-years.

Kentucky, another state with biennial 60-day sessions pays $25 a day salary and $25 a day expenses, which comes to $3,000 for a regular session.

The Maryland legislature meets annually for 70 days. Members are paid $1,800 a year plus $25 a day for expenses in session, a total of $3,550 a year.

Endorsements of the Legislative Amendment have come from the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO; the executive committee of the West Virgina Education Association, and United Mine Workers District 17.

The 17,000-member WVEA is leading the fight to put across the schools amendment. Parents attending recent PTA meetings have come away with handfuls of literature urging ratification.

At present, constitutional ceilings on property tax rates may be exceeded by a maximum of 100 per cent for up to five years at a time to provide added revenue for schools if at least 60 per cent of those voting in a special county election approve. The 60 per cent requirement also applies to school bond issue elections.

The amendment would lower the required approval margin for excess school levies and school bond issues to a simple majority—50 per cent plus one.

The WVEA calls the 60 per cent requirement undemocratic and says "it allows a minority to control the improvement of education in West Virginia, and it makes the majority a voiceless majority."

From July 1, 1959, through June 30 this year, there were 133 special levy or bond issue elections — all for school financing—in West Virginia counties.

Seventy-six of the proposals passed and 57 were defeated. But the WVEA notes that 31 of the defeated proposals received approval by a majority of those voting, although falling short of 60 per cent.

The Farm Bureau, opposing the amendment, observes that many of those voting to raise property taxes are not property owners. The bureau says "It is reasonable that a 10 per cent margin of safety should be provided for property owners."

Organizations endorsing the amendment include the State Chamber of Commerce the West Virginia Labor Federation, AFL-CIO, and UMW District 17.

Humphrey Campaigns In West

Get Out Vote Or Face Defeat, Democrats Told

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey campaigns from the mountains of Colorado to his home state of Minnesota today with a warning that Democrats had better get out the vote or face defeats in the November election.

"There has never been a Democratic victory with a small vote," Humphrey told a Democratic rally in Denver Friday night.

The vice president, who has a measure of personal prestige at stake in how the Minnesota elections go, said the polls in his home state show the Democrats are apt to suffer a defeat if only the "likely voters" go to the polls Nov. 8.

"But if the eligible voters turn out we will have a Democratic sweep in Minnesota," said Humphrey.

The same thing holds true in Colorado and many other states, he said.

To underscore his warning, Humphrey said the 80th Congress, the one former President Harry S. Truman labeled as the "do-nothing Congress," was elected in 1946 with less than 40 per cent of the eligible voters casting ballots.

Humphrey is in the midst of a four-day, seven-state swing to help Democratic candidates — particularly those who appear to be in tough fights.

In the big stock center of Kansas City, Kan., today Humphrey declared that in the long run "our food power — far more than military power — can be the critical factor in the achievement both of Democratic institutions and in the safety of the world."

The vice president described food as "our secret weapon" and added: "Let us use the tremendous resources at our command to bring health, education, food and the techniques of modern agriculture to struggling nations living in the shadow of famine and outside aggression."

At a series of news conferences during his sweep through Nebraska, Utah and Colorado Friday, Humphrey faced questions ranging from the war in Viet Nam to a housewives' boycott of some food store chains in Denver.

Humphrey said the Denver housewives were exercising their rights.

Consumers, Humphrey said, have four basic rights — the right to safety, the right to choose, the right to be informed and the right to beh eard.

Mrs. Johnson Saluted By Australian Premier

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Lady Bird Johnson was saluted today by Australia's prime minister, the press and a crowd that roared "hip, hip, hooray" for the American first lady.

Anti-Viet Nam demonstrators, for the most part, left her out of their protests. An egg splattered against the back of her car but apparently she didn't know it.

The women of Sydney, engaged in beautification efforts, let loose a flock of pigeons as Mrs. Johnson passed Queen's Square in the motorcade.

Someone waved a newspaper headline reading: "Exclusive: Lyndon's Best Asset — Lady Bird."

Prime Minister Harold Holt who has referred to Mrs. Johnson as the president's "better half," told a big reception at The Art Gallery of New South Wales that she was not only "a helpmate" to the President, but "a scene stealer" as well.

A woman in the welcoming crowd of thousands stepped up to Mrs. Johnson's car and told her: "Bless you, you look like a queen." Mrs. Johnson said "No, just a plain wife."

Mrs. Johnson, obviously tired from the strains of the four-day-old Asian trip, was up before 7 a.m. again today for the rigorous schedule.

With no separate program of her own, she rode in the motorcades behind the President who was in his bubble top car, windows mainly closed, for fear demonstrators might throw paint as they did at Melbourne.

Her Secret Service agent, Jerry Kivett, who took a dowsing of paint Friday, was cleaned up and back on duty.

But Mrs. Johnson said there were no demonstrations against her car as the presidential motorcade went through booing, jeering, Viet Nam war protestors.

Some of them pounded on cars in the motorcade, but Mrs. Johnson said none came near hers.

There were a few signs directed to Lady Bird. One of them read "Lady Bird, Lady Bird, Fly away home; Your house is on fire — and children are burning in Viet Nam."

But, where the women of Sydney had set up an attractive garden display and loosed the pigeons for Mrs. Johnson, a red white and blue banner stretched across the street with the greeting: "Happy Stay — Lady Bird."

200 Youths Go On Rampage At Pittsburgh Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nearly 200 teenagers rampaged in nearby Swissvale Friday night, breaking windows and creating terror following high school football game between Swissvale and Duquesne.

Police said four youths were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct, but their names were not made public.

About 60 police from Pittsburgh, with K9 dogs, as well as police from Rankin, Wilkinsburg, Forest Hills, Braddock and North Braddock raced to the scene of the disturbance.

Police said at its height, the trouble reached near riot proportions.

Swissvale Police Chief Peter R. Begg said the trouble began when one man was arrested for creating a disturbance. The chief said crowds of youths then began shouting, screaming and yelling in a two-block area.

A windshield of a passing car was smashed during the brawl, police said, but the only injury reported was a cut head of one of the youths.

ORDINANCE NO. 43, 1966

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF $100,000 OF SERVICE BUILDING BONDS OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, FOR THE PURPOSE OF PURCHASING LAND AND BUILDINGS AT THE NORTHEAST CORNER OF DEWEY AVENUE AND PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE TO PROVIDE HOUSING FOR VEHICLE REPAIR FACILITIES AND ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICE AND ACQUIRING EQUIPMENT FOR SAID BUILDINGS AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance No. 31 passed July 25, 1966 notes in the principal amount of $95,000 were issued for the purpose of paying the cost of the improvement hereinafter described, and such notes are now about to mature; and

WHEREAS, this Council has determined that an additional $5,000 will be necessary to acquire equipment for the building hereinafter described; and

WHEREAS, this Council has determined to issue and sell bonds in the amount and bearing the terms hereinafter provided in order to discharge such notes; and

WHEREAS, the Fiscal Officer has certified to this Council that the estimated life of the property and improvement hereinafter mentioned is at least five years and that the maximum maturity of bonds to be issued to pay the cost of making such improvement is twelve years;

NOW, THEREFORE

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That it is necessary to issue the bonds of the City of East Liverpool in the principal sum of $100,000 for the purpose of purchasing land and buildings to provide housing for the vehicle repair facilities and administrative offices of the Department of Public Service and acquiring equipment for said buildings; that such bonds shall be issued in one lot; and that notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall be numbered from 1 to 100, both inclusive, shall be dated the first day of December, 1966, and bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of December and June of each year beginning June 1, 1967, until the principal sum is paid; provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate as may be provided for in the resolution of Council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows: $10,000 on the first day of December in each of the years from 1968 to 1977, inclusive, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments. The principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable at The First National Bank of East Liverpool, East Liverpool, Ohio, without deduction for its services as the issuer's paying agent.

SECTION 3. That said bonds shall express upon their faces the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance; shall be executed by the Mayor and Auditor, provided that one of such signatures may be a facsimile signature, and shall bear the corporate seal of said City. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the Auditor.

SECTION 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said City of East Liverpool, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Article XII, Section 11 of the Constitution of Ohio.

SECTION 5. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner, and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 6. That said bonds shall be first offered at par and accrued interest to the officer in charge of the Bond Retirement Fund for investment in said fund, and if said officer refuses to take any or all of said bonds, the bonds not so taken shall be advertised for public sale and sold in the manner provided by law. The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund to be applied to the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 7. It is hereby determined that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done precedent to and in the issuing of these bonds in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of said City have happened, been done and performed in regular and due form as required by law; that the faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged for the prompt payment of the principal and interest thereof at maturity; and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation, either statutory or constitutional, has been exceeded in issuing these bonds.

SECTION 8. The Clerk of Council is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 9. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety for the reason that the note of this City heretofore issued for this improvement is about to mature and must be retired with the proceeds of the bonds authorized herein in order to protect the credit of this City; wherefore, this Ordinance shall go into effect immediately upon its passage, and approval this 17th day of Oct., 1966.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance No. 31 passed July 25, 1966, notes in the principal amount of $95,000 were issued for the purpose of paying the cost of the improvement hereinafter described, and such notes are now about to mature; and

WHEREAS, this Council has determined that an additional $5,000 will be necessary to acquire equipment for the building hereinafter described; and

WHEREAS, this Council has determined to issue and sell bonds in the amount and bearing the terms hereinafter provided in order to discharge such notes; and

WHEREAS, the Fiscal Officer has certified to this Council that the estimated life of the property and improvement hereinafter mentioned is at least five years and that the maximum maturity of bonds to be issued to pay the cost of making such improvement is twelve years;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That it is necessary to issue the bonds of the City of East Liverpool in the principal sum of $100,000 for the purpose of purchasing land and buildings to provide housing for the vehicle repair facilities and administrative offices of the Department of Public Service and acquiring equipment for said buildings; that such bonds shall be issued in one lot; and that notes have been issued in anticipation of the issuance of such bonds.

SECTION 2. That said bonds shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, shall be numbered from 1 to 100, both inclusive, shall be dated the first day of December, 1966, and bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4½%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the first days of December and June of each year beginning June 1, 1967, until the principal sum is paid; provided, however, that if said bonds are sold bearing a different rate of interest than hereinbefore specified, such bonds shall bear such rate as may be provided for in the resolution of Council approving the award thereof. Said bonds shall mature as follows: $10,000 on the first day of December in each of the years from 1968 to 1977, inclusive, which maturities are hereby determined to be in substantially equal annual installments. The principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable at The First National Bank of East Liverpool, East Liverpool, Ohio, without deduction for its services as the issuer's paying agent.

SECTION 3. That said bonds shall express upon their faces the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued in pursuance of this ordinance; shall be executed by the Mayor and Auditor, provided that one of such signatures may be a facsimile signature, and shall bear the corporate seal of said City. The interest coupons attached to said bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the Auditor.

SECTION 4. That for the purpose of providing the necessary funds to pay the interest on the foregoing issue of bonds promptly when and as the same falls due, and also to provide a fund sufficient to discharge the said serial bonds at maturity, there shall be and is hereby levied on all the taxable property in said City of East Liverpool, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually during the period said bonds are to run in an amount sufficient to provide funds to pay interest upon said bonds as and when the same falls due and also to provide a fund for the discharge of the principal of said serial bonds at maturity, which tax shall not be less than the interest and sinking fund tax required by Article XII, Section 11 of the Constitution of Ohio.

SECTION 5. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner, and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which together with all interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the interest and principal of said bonds when and as the same fall due.

The proceeds from the sale of said bonds, except the premium and accrued interest thereon shall be used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose; the premium and accrued interest received from such sale shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund to be applied to the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 7. It is hereby determined that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done precedent to and in the issuing of these bonds in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of said City have happened, been done and performed in regular and due form as required by law; that the faith, credit and revenue of said City are hereby irrevocably pledged for the prompt payment of the principal and interest thereof at maturity; and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation, either statutory or constitutional, has been exceeded in issuing these bonds.

SECTION 8. The Clerk of Council is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this Ordinance to the County Auditor.

SECTION 9. That this Ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety for the reason that the note of this City heretofore issued for this improvement is about to mature and must be retired with the proceeds of the bonds authorized herein in order to protect the credit of this City; wherefore, this Ordinance shall go into effect immediately upon its passage, and approval this 17th day of Oct., 1966.

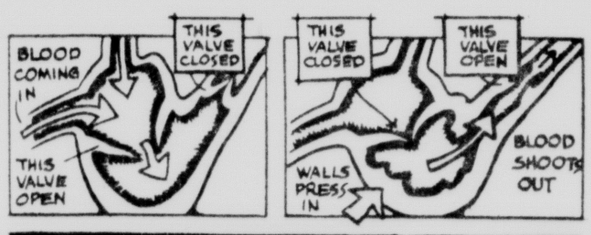
Junior Editors Quiz on YOUR HEART



QUESTION: Why does your heart beat?

ANSWER: The heart is a pump which keeps a human being alive by circulating the blood. This circulation picks up oxygen from the lungs, brings this as well as food materials to the body cells and carries away waste materials. After circulating around, the blood is pumped to the lungs for more oxygen, then back to the heart and around the body again. Two separate chambers of the heart are needed to do these jobs. We show how the right chamber works. Blood enters from the veins. Two doors of a valve in the chamber then close, preventing blood in the lower part, or ventricle, from flowing back. Now another valve leading to the lungs opens, and the powerful heart walls squeeze in, forcing the blood out toward the lung. Meanwhile, a similar pump is operating in the left heart chamber, this one sending blood throughout the body. As the two pumps work as the same time, the action can be felt as a pulse or hearbeat. A normal heart will give from 70 to 80 beats a minute. Between beats, the hard-working human heart gets some rest.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can feel someone's heart beat by placing your fingertips lightly against the inside top part of the wrist.

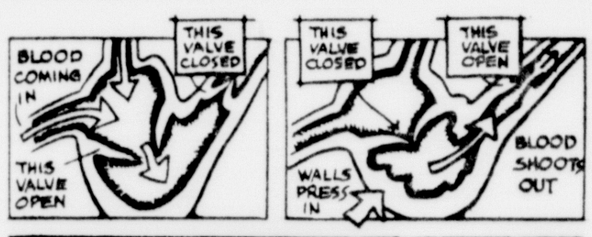
Junior Editors Quiz on YOUR HEART



QUESTION: Why does your heart beat?

ANSWER: The heart is a pump which keeps a human being alive by circulating the blood. This circulation picks up oxygen from the lungs, brings this as well as food materials to the body cells and carries away waste materials. After circulating around, the blood is pumped to the lungs for more oxygen, then back to the heart and around the body again. Two separate chambers of the heart are needed to do these jobs. We show how the right chamber works. Blood enters from the veins. Two doors of a valve in the chamber then close, preventing blood in the lower part, or ventricle, from flowing back. Now another valve leading to the lungs opens, and the powerful heart walls squeeze in, forcing the blood out toward the lung. Meanwhile, a similar pump is operating in the left heart chamber, this one sending blood throughout the body. As the two pumps work as the same time, the action can be felt as a pulse or hearbeat. A normal heart will give from 70 to 80 beats a minute. Between beats, the hard-working human heart gets some rest.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can feel someone's heart beat by placing your fingertips lightly against the inside top part of the wrist.

Question Raised In Levy Notice On Television Cable

Does the Ohio law on "unsigned political communications" apply to a plea in support of the East Liverpool school levy seen intermittently on one channel of the local cable television system?

That question was raised today by Robert Conkle of Grandview Ave., who identified himself Friday as the person distributing unsigned auto bumper stickers urging a vote against the levy.

Conkle said a notice urging a vote in favor of the 3½-mill levy at the Nov. 8 general election has been placed on Channel 5 of the service of the system of CATV of the Ohio Valley, Inc., but the notice does not show the name and address of the person or organization responsible for it.

Conkle said he called the notice to the attention of John Hales, manager of the system. Hales said use of the notice probably will be discontinued pending a clarification of the law. There apparently is no clearcut ruling whether the law applies specifically to cable TV systems, although it covers political messages used on radio and TV broadcast facilities.
